TEX RICKARD ACQUITTED BY JURY

TO EXPLORE "ROOF OF WORLD" IN AIRPLANE, PLANS OF AMUNDSEN

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, March 28.—As fascinating as a tale by Jules Verne was the plan for "aerial exploration of the roof of the world" sketched today in full for the first time by Capt. Roald Amundsen, discoverer of the South Pole.

Arriving from Norway on the Stavangerfjord, the explorer plunged at once into the work of organizing the expedition which sails June 1 from Seattle to drift across the North Pole—an expedition which Amundsen expects will revolutionize polar exploration and provide a short cut to valuable scientific knowledge.

NOT LIKE OTHERS.

The expedition which sails this time for the North Pole, will not be like those which have preceded it, according to its leader.

Its vision will not be confined to a few miles on either side of the ship, but from the air it will be able to take in at a glance objects 200 miles away.

It will not be cut off for years from touch with the outside world, leaving friends and relatives to wonder if the Northland has smashed in its icy fist the hardy adventurers who have encroached on its fastness. Instead it will talk by radio four times a day with Washington, and when it returns in three to five years, it will know what the civilized world has been doing in its absence.

CHART AIR CURRENTS.

It will not have spent years charting merely a narrow strip, but with the aid of aviation will be able to chart 1,000,000 square miles, sketching the currents of the air as well as those of the sea. For centuries scientists have believed that currents of the North Pole have been responsible for climatic phenomena in the part of the world in which civilized man lives and Amundsen hopes to accomplish with his airplanes in a five-year voyage what would take forty years, millions of dollars and many lives if only a ship and dog sleds were employed.

It is on his airplanes—two in number—that Amundsen pins his chief hopes and it was upon one of them he focused his attention as soon as he stepped ashore today. Hardly had he landed when he hastened to a conference with John M. Larsen, a governor of the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce of America. After luncheon came the announcement that the larger of the two planes selected by the explorer would be the all-metal Larsen monoplane, which on December 29, flying over Mineola, L. I., in zero weather, established the world's record for continuous flying, of twenty-six hours, nineteen minutes and thirty-five seconds.

PRESENTED BY AMERICAN.

The plane, Capt. Amundsen explained, was being supplied by Larsen at his own expense, and the contribution which the airplane manufacturer would make to the expedition would represent about $40,000. The plane has been thoroughly renovated and test flights will be made from Long Island beginning next Thursday.

Amundsen is confident that the monoplane—the eyes of his vessel Maude—will be able to do its work well, permitting great sallies to either side of the vessel and sending warnings of ice fields and dangerous currents that should be avoided.

The plane already has tried its wings in a temperature 48 deg. below zero. Last year Mr. Larsen made a 6000-mile round trip in the ship from New York to the Arctic circle by way of Edmonton, Alberta and the Peace River and reported that the plane handled as well as if she was being flown in the balmy airs of Florida.

TWINS FACE DEATH NOW

One "Siamese" is Unconscious.

Other, Realizing That End May Come Soon, Keeps Spirit Cheerful.

Physicians Will Operate if Josefa Passes and Take Chance in Million.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, March 28.—The doom of death sits lightly upon Rosa Blazek. Lying beside her "Siamese twin" sister on a cot in the West End Hospital, she smiles as she counts off the minutes till eternity.

With emotions of regret at leaving her 12-year-old son mingling with the certainty that she could not live without her sister, she waits patiently for that hour which is to release them from Josefa's suffering.

Josefa lapsed into unconsciousness. Her condition continued to grow worse. If she dies, doctors declare, the other twin must die also. She is suffering from an acute attack of jaundice. The medical profession the world over is watching the case.

GIVE UP HOPE.

Virtually all hope for Josefa's recovery was given up by physicians shortly after noon. She had been unconscious for more than two hours and the doctors said she probably never would awaken. Her heart action, too, is growing weaker.

As she failed, so did Rosa. The son, two women cousins and the brother of the twins gathered at the bedside. Also, a lawyer was present to take the will of the sisters should Josefa regain consciousness.

When the attending physicians are certain that Josefa cannot recover, they plan to perform a heroic operation to separate the twins in a desperate effort to save Rosa's life.

THINKS OF HER BOY.

"I can't go away from Frank and yet I can't exist without Josefa," Rosa told a reporter as she and her sister lay back to back upon the hospital bed. "Josie's part of Rosia, and Rosie's part of Josie. And together, it is good. But separated—ach—"

But Rosa faces death blithely. She makes no complaints; only a series of wry faces when Dr. B. H. Breakstone, in administering to her sister, orders her to take equal quantities of Josefa's medicine.

Rosa became ill two weeks ago. The attack was slight. She seemed to be well when Josefa came down with the same disease. Saturday they were taken to the hospital. There it was discovered that Josefa was suffering also from an attack of appendicitis. Dr. Breakstone, however, refused to operate, declaring the sick woman's condition too precarious.

MAY TAKE CHANCE.

At a recent consultation at the American Hospital, physicians decided it would be fatal to separate them. In the judgment of the examining body, in the case of one's death, an immediate operation might save the other. The women have individual systems, except for

WIRTH HITS AT ALLIES

Calls Demands Impossible.

Chancellor Denies Charge That German Government is Wasteful.

Financial and Economic Guardianship Declined, He Declares.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

BERLIN, March 28.—The Genoa conference will either be a shining star or a "will-o'-the-wisp," Chancellor Wirth told the Reichstag today at the conclusion of an hour's discussion of the decisions of the Reparations Commission.

If the Genoa conference proves a will-o'-the-wisp instead of a shining star that will brighten the path of reconstruction, he added, "then the problem of rehabilitating Europe in general, and Germany in particular, will continue to be treated in a spirit of arbitrary dictation."

Throughout his speech the Chancellor was unusually frank in his criticism of the Allies' treatment of the reparations problem, charging that the commission either was unamenable to everyday logic or had persistently neglected to acquaint itself with the actual status of Germany's economic situation.

POUNDS GERMAN MARK.

The reparations decision, accompanied by a letter, which the Chancellor said was couched in a needlessly severe tone, had not only aroused national indignation, but incidentally had added 28,000,000,000 marks to the German budget in consequence of the unprecedented slump of the mark, which set in automatically with the note's arrival.

He reminded the Allies of their previous assurances that the Reparations Commission was not entitled to such prerogatives.

Denying that the German government was wasteful in the conduct of its administrative organism, the speaker pointed out that two Entente generals are receiving more pay than President Ebert and the entire Cabinet. He estimated that two-thirds of the budget, as now computed, was reserved for the Entente's demands, leaving one-third for the nation's needs.

INTERNATIONAL LOAN.

With regard to the question of an international loan, Dr. Wirth hoped the government soon would be able to start active negotiations, but he feared the barriers reared by "world capital" in the Versailles treaty would effectively militate against Germany's ability to obtain financial relief abroad under tolerable conditions. A moratorium, he said, would have definitely stabilized German exchange.

In the course of his analysis of the various points in the reparations decisions, Dr. Wirth rejected the demand that the German government levy an additional tax of 60,000,000,000 marks on the ground it was both a financial and technical impossibility.

Liberal applause greeted the declaration that the German government must politely decline the suggestion of financial and economic guardianship.

"This," declared the Chancellor, "is incompatible with the dignity

GREEN BAY DRY MEETING IS INTERRUPTED BY BOMB

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

GREEN BAY (Wis.) March 28.—Panic reigned in the Union Congregational Church here tonight when a bomb was thrown into an audience of 500 persons gathered to hear William E. (Pussyfoot) Johnson, world-famed prohibitionist, delivered his address on "The New India."

One woman fainted and a general break was made for the nearest exits with those on the platform doing their utmost to quell what promised to be a dangerous stampede.

P. C. Walker ran down the aisle and smoking tubular bomb and started out when it exploded. Investigation proved that it was an amateurish model, a small tin can filled with black powder.

It was evident from the action of the bomb that the handling had shaken its contents, causing it to explode in much the same manner as defective fire crackers fizzle.

Mr. Walker was burned slightly.

Mr. Johnson was at the time speaking at another church and Lewis L. Holton, Spokane, prohibition worker, had the floor.

Although the church was filled with smoke and fumes from the exploded powder not more than ten people left the building.

Mr. Holton, after a brief respite, during which he called attention to the damage to the wet interests by such occurrences, concluded his talk.

Police were called and the remains of the bomb turned over to them for evidence. A sweeping investigation is promised.

LATE MORNING NEWS

Ivan Seimens, Wrestler, Blinded by Fall

SPOKANE, March 28.—Ivan Seimens, 175-pound wrestler, suffered a temporary dislocation of the vertebrae, resulting in blindness, when he was hurled on his head in the fourth round of a wrestling match with Tom Grant, 186 pounds, here tonight. The referee awarded a decision to Grant. Earlier in the match Grant Grant hurled Seimens from the mat and again picked him up and dropped him on his side on the mat.

Three Arrested for Large Platinum Theft

NEW YORK, March 28.—Three men and a woman were arrested here today in connection with the theft from a powder plant in Nashville, Tenn., in 1920, of platinum valued at $250,000. They were charged with conspiracy.

Rif Tribesmen Bombard Morocco Towns

LONDON, March 28.—A Tangier dispatch to the London Times says that the Rif tribesmen still are bombarding Alhucemas, Penonde and Gomara on the coast of Spanish Morocco, although the Spanish authorities make the official report that the enemy guns are silent.

SURPRISE WITNESS HEARD.

State Closes Its Side in Arbuckle Case After Calling Woman Who Told of Miss Rappe's Statements.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, March 28.—The first direct testimony linking Roscoe Arbuckle with the death of Virginia Rappe was given late this afternoon in his trial for manslaughter by Miss Virginia Briggs, secretary to Dr. Francis Wakefield, at whose sanatorium the actress died.

She said that Miss Rape told her: "Arbuckle took me by the arm and threw me on the bed and put his weight on me, and after that I do not know what happened."

STATE CLOSES CASE.

With the testimony of Miss Briggs, a surprise witness, the State rested its case. The defense immediatly began the presentation of its evidence by calling Adolph Juel, head of the police identification bureau, to the stand.

This is the first time Miss Briggs has appeared as a witness, and at the conclusion of her testimony the defense made a motion that her statements be stricken from the record as hearsay. This motion the court denied.

Miss Briggs explained that she had gone into Miss Rappe's room on the day of her death. "She asked me about the amount of the hospital bill that would be due," said the witness. "She said she did not see why she should pay the bill as Arbuckle was responsible for her being there. I told her that if Arbuckle or any one else should pay the account after she left, the money paid by her would be returned.

SHE SENSED DEATH.

"She replied that she was not going to leave, that she was going to die.

"Then I asked her why she thought she was going to die. It was then that she told me the details of the party."

Cross-examined by Attorney McNab, defense counsel, as to whether it was not true that she had telephoned asking that Miss Rappe's bill be paid, and threatening that if it was not she would tell her story to the District Attorney, Miss Briggs made an absolute denial.

She also denied that McNab had told her to give any evidence she might have to the District Attorney, although admitting that he had told her to see that official, she presumed, about the bill.

"I had some one on the line while I was talking to you," said the witness.

"So did I," volunteered McNab.

Miss Briggs declared that she had not told her story before nor volunteered any information, because she shrank from the notoriety. She added that she, had been summoned to testify only last Saturday.

ATTACK STAGED.

A portion of the alleged attack by Arbuckle on Miss Rappe was enacted by the defense in an effort to show that had force been used the fingerprints on the hotel room door would have been blurred and smudged beyond identification.

Nat Schmulewitz, defense attorney, impersonated Miss Rappe and E. O. Heinrich, who had testified as a fingerprint expert, impersonated

WOMEN OF NEW YORK MAY SMOKE

Ordinance Prohibiting Cigarettes in Public Places All a Mistake.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, March 28.—It's all a mistake. Manhattan hasn't any ordinance prohibiting the fair sex from smoking in public, and the police order which astounded the city last night was rescinded by Commissioner Enright today.

The original error was made by a veteran clerk in the office of City Clerk Michael J. Cruse, but there is apparently some degree of responsibility resting on the police department.

This division of blames comes from the communication prepared by the clerk in Cruse's office which did not carry the required certification of authenticity.

The antismoking order was inadvertently sent to the police department by the clerk along with copies of other ordinances recently adopted. He also sent copies to the law department and the chief magistrate, all of which were recalled today by City Clerk Cruse. The body of the communication sent to the police did not contain the aldermanic action on the antismoking measure—rejection by a vote of 55 to 3—but merely gave the purport of the resolution.

Gov. McMaster is Leading in South Dakota.

SIOUX FALLS (S. D.) March 28. Gov. McMaster tonight held a lead of more than 14,000 for Republican nominee for Governor over George W. Egan of Sioux Falls, according to returns from approximately one-third of the precincts of the State, as compiled by the Sioux Falls Argus Leader.

Scattered reports from all sections of the State indicate that Mr. Egan has carried only three counties, Moody, Minnehaha and Minor, and two cities, Sioux Falls and Rapid City. With 504 precincts out of 1711 in, the Governor's majority was 14,786 votes. The totals stood: McMaster, 36,336; Egan, 21,598.

Finds Noted Sport Promoter Innocent of Assault Charge

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, March 29.—Tex Rickard was acquitted at 12:19 o'clock this morning of charges of assault and abduction based on the accusation of Sarah Schoenfeld, 15 years old.

The fight promoter faced trial on three other indictments growing out of allegations of other girls, but Max Steuer, his attorney, stated immediately after the verdict that the District Attorney's office would quash those indictments.

Mr. Steuer said Asst. Dist.-Atty. Pecora had regarded the case concluded tonight as a test and had promised him that he would not try to convict in the other cases if this failed.

WILL SEEK ENEMY.

Before the case went to the jury, Steuer, in his summing up for the defense, declared with dramatic emphasis that Rickard was out of the sporting world for good. The lawyer said his client would spend the rest of his life in running down the enemy who had crucified and ruined him.

Rickard, overjoyed at the verdict, which was reached in one hour and thirty-one minutes, had nothing to say on that phase of his future after the jury had adjudged him not guilty.

The defendant, who had gripped the rail and almost sunk to his knees in his emotions as the foreman's words lifted the charge from his head, said a moment later:

"I am too gratified to say anything. I've shot craps for $30,000 a throw, but, I never went through anything like this last hour.

"I didn't know how it was coming out. You couldn't tell. I want to tell you that jury had the greatest lot of poker faces I ever looked into."

PRAISED AND SCORED.

Rickard was described today as an honest man, who had been the victim of a blackmail plot, the instruments of which had been two "unmoral" little girls and was denounced as "a moral leper," who should be sent to prison for the protection of childhood.

Max Steuer, his lawyer, declared that Rickard had finished with sports and had but one object in life, to find the man or men responsible for the charges on which he was brought to trial. The lawyer declared that when he had furnished an alibi for Rickard for one of the times when Nellie Gasko and Sarah Schoenfeld said he was with them, he either had been telling the truth with the whole of his professional reputation at stake, or he hoped to be indicted for perjury.

Rickard, said the lawyer, was paying the "penalty of prominence." He asked if it was possible if people like Kermit Roosevelt and Maj. Anthony J. Drexel-Biddle would testify to the good character of a man who would outrage little girls. He declared that it was not.

BUSINESS LIFE HONORABLE.

The business life of Tex Rickard as gambler and dance hall owner, had been honest, he said, and just as reputable as that of a stock broker. He depicted Rickard as a square gambler who had "been robbed and crucified." He said Rickard had been approached by blackmailers and had refused to yield because he knew there then would be no end to their demands.

Asst. Dist.-Atty. Pecora drew another picture. He declared that on the night of November 12, when Dr. John M. Richards had supplied an alibi for Rickard on the claim that he had been called to attend

NO POGROMS, SAYS CRAIG

Ulster's Premier Denies Charge.

Would Have Remained Silent but for Collins's Talk, He Tells Parliament.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

BELFAST, March 28.—Sir James Craig, Premier of Ulster, speaking in the northern Parliament this afternoon in answer to the statement issued yesterday by Michael Collins head of the provisional government, said:

"I would have made no statement at this stage but for the serious charge made by Mr. Collins, which may convey the impression that I have not honorably kept my word. I will not deviate one inch from the policy I have pursued from the beginning."

NO BARS ARE UP.

The Premier denied that he had done nothing for the expelled workers of Belfast. He said loyalist workers had admitted the principle of reinstating Catholics when trade had revived, but there were 67,000 men unemployed.

"The whole aspect has changed," he said, "since the revelation of predatory attacks being attempted upon the Ulster area. I cannot go on with the agreement when such an interpretation is placed upon it. Mr. Collins is not big enough to stick to his signature."

Sir James vigorously repudiated the charges that the Belfast Protestants were conducting a pogrom against the Catholics as Catholics.

"The Orange institution is particularly charged with being at the bottom of the pogrom," said the Premier. "I am an Orangeman myself, and I can say that the whole organization is built upon one simple statement—'civil and religious freedom for all.'"

FIREBUGS ACTIVE.

Firemen from all the fire stations in Belfast were busy throughout the night combating the new terror of nocturnal incendiarism, and although fires were continually breaking out, they were able to save a considerable amount of property.

Among the buildings burned were a store in Ann street, a flour mill in York street, and a shop in Kent street, all of which were in the central area. A jam factory situated in Unity street, which is inhabited by large numbers of each faction, was burned. Each faction accused the other of

AGAINST BONE-DRY CANADA

Premier Tells Prohibitionists No Such Measure Will Be Introduced at This Session.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

OTTAWA (Ont.) March 28.—Prohibition advocates today called Premier King to make all of Canada bone dry. The Premier promised the suggestion for a dominion-wide measure to supplant provincial liquor laws would receive careful consideration by the Cabinet, but no such measure would be introduced at the present session of the House of Commons.

Declaring that his ministers had hardly enough time to familiarize themselves with their portfolios, the Premier added that for his own part he did not favor legislation in anything, although favored temperance in everything. He assured the delegation that waited upon him that the government would do everything possible to foster the temperance movement and in assisting the provinces to enforce the laws as they stand, considering any measure to prohibit the manufacture, importation and exportation of intoxicating liquor in Canada, the Premier stated that a careful study would be made of how the existing law was working out in the United States.

The delegation was headed by Dr. Carson of Montreal, president of the Dominion Alliance of Canada, who referred to the liquor traffic as an "immense evil which must be dealt with in the most drastic way." He then introduced Secretary Ben Spence, who told the Premier that the manufacture of liquor in Canada was on the increase. Importation also had increased since the wartime restrictions were removed, he said.

Mrs. Asa Gordon, president of the W.C.T.U., said that the women of Canada had been asking for the measure for forty-seven years.

LAND GIFT VOTED DOWN.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

MODESTO, March 28.—Modesto voters by a vote of two-to-one today defeated an initiative ordinance to present fifty-two acres of land here known as the fairgrounds and aviation field, to the junior college. The vote was 815 for and 1641 against.

TRY TO KILL RED LEADER.

Milukoff Escapes Assassins' Bullets, but Man Who Frustrates Attempt Dies; Plot Discovered.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

BERLIN, March 28.—An attempt was made to assassinate Prof. Paul N. Milukoff, former Minister of Foreign Affairs in the Russian provisional government, while he was addressing a gathering of Russians tonight. The attempt was frustrated by Vladimir Naboukoff, who himself was killed by a bullet aimed at Milukoff.

Prof. Milukoff was not injured. He was immediately surrounded by friends and hurried from the hall.

REVENGE DEMANDED.

His assailants were two Russian officers, who shouted: "We will have revenge for the death of the Czar," as they fired from seats in the auditorium. Prof. Milukoff was speaking on his recent visit to the United States and regarding the European situation. His address was moderate in tone and nonpolitical.

M. Naboukoff was secretary of state in the first Russian parliamentary cabinet under Prince Lvoff. He was a noted authority on criminology and editor of the Russian newspaper Rul in Berlin.

Naboukoff was sitting on the stage behind Prof. Milukoff. He leaped in front of Milukoff as the assassins fired, and fell dead with two bullets through his body. Several persons in the audience were slightly wounded. About twelve shots were fired.

The shooting created a panic among the audience, which numbered about 1500, and many persons were injured in the rush for the exits.

PLOT DISCOVERED.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

RIGA, March 28.—Discovery of what the secret police describe as a well-organized plot to assassinate the Russain soviet delegates to the Genoa conference, while passing through Latvia, resulted in a large number of arrests today.

Among the principals of the alleged plot were several Russians who were said to belong to a monarchist movement making its headquarters in Germany.

AMBASSADOR GUESTS HEAR CRY OF "FIRE!"

"Fire!" cried somebody from a room at the Ambassador about 11:30 o'clock last night, and the fire department arrived soon after.

A cigarette had been left in an inappropriate place.

TRIBUTE TO GEN. MEADE.

Memorial to Gettysburg Victor Started; Need of Trained Officers Shown by His Career.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, March 28.—President Harding stood bareheaded in the rain today in the national botanic gardens just west of the Capitol and turned the first spadeful of earth when ground was broken for the memorial to Maj.-Gen. George Gordon Meade, commander of the victorious Union army at the decisive Battle of Gettysburg.

Secretary Weeks, Gov. Sproul of Pennsylvania, Senator Brandegee of Connecticut, a member of the Memorial Commission; George Gordon Meade, grandson of the Union leader, and George Gordon Meade, Jr., a great-grandson, as well as Lieut.-Gen. Nelson A. Miles, participated in the ceremonies. The President was accompanied by Mrs. Harding, Chief Justice Taft and Mrs. Taft.

USES HISTORIC SPADE.

The spade used by the President in breaking the ground was used in beginning the work on the Lincoln and Arlington memorials. A detachment of the Third Battalion Sixty-fourth Infantry, from Fort Washington, served as a guard of honor.

Secretary Weeks as chairman of the commission, which was directed by Congress to supervise the planning and construction of the memorial, declared in a brief address that it was "not out of place to use Gen. Meade as an illustration of the value of having in the Regular Army trained officers, even if they are not engaged in strictly military activities during much of their service."

NEEDS OF ARMY.

The Secretary added that the Regular Army furnishes a storehouse of material which always has, and always will, provide for the necessities of the government in time of need and without which the early days of any war would necessarily result in untold uncertainties and perhaps disaster.

"This is the lesson we should not forget today," he declared, "and it has direct application to any material reduction in the number of Regular Army officers." Gen. Miles reviewed the military life of Gen. Meade and asserted that he "never received just recognition for his great achievements."

PLAN ANOTHER FEDERAL JAIL.

Bill to be Drawn to Give Congress.

Camp Grant Site Has Been Suggested.

Present Prisons Are Sadly Overcrowded.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, March 28.—As a result of a conference today between President Harding, Atty.-Gen. Daugherty and Rev. Herbert Votaw, Superintendent of Federal Prisons, a bill will be drawn for introduction in Congress providing for the establishment of a Federal industrial penal institution. The Federal prisons are already overcrowded and vigorous enforcement of the Volstead act is expected to add to the congestion.

SITE AT CAMP GRANT.

Mr. Daugherty and Dr. Votaw suggested to the President that the site of Camp Grant, Ills., be chosen for the proposed penal institution. The President has been urged to assign Camp Grant as a training camp for the National Guard and on that account no decision was reached. It is probable, however, that Camp Grant will be chosen for the Department of Justice experiment in penology.

The prospective selection of Camp Grant for either National Guard or penal purposes calls attention to a recent act of Congress approved by President Harding on March 8, which provides for government acquisition of sites used as military camps during our participation in the World War. That act was the outcome of a conclusion by the War Department that it would be cheaper to buy the sites than to carry out a provision of its clause with camp site owners to return their property to them in the same condition as it was when the sites were taken over by the government under leases. The act made a special exception in the case of about 588 acres embraced in the Camp Grant site which contained valuable government works such as pumping station, power plants and other improvements estimated to be worth $2,000,000.

ACREAGE RETURNED.

Under the act these 588 acres are returned to the original owners. Claims have been made that the government could have acquired this property through condemnation proceedings for between $150,000 and $200,000. The valuable government structures on the land to be returned are the key to the control of the rest of Camp Grant if used for a townsite or for government purposes.

No satisfactory explanation for the special exemption of these 588

No satisfactory explanation for acres with their valuable public utilities and their return to private owners has been made. The secretary of War informed the Senate Committee on Military Affairs that the exemption seriously affected the future usefulness of the rest of Camp Grant to the government.

STATE CLOSES ARBUCKLE CASE.

ated Arbuckle. The door of the hotel room was used in the staging of the supposed scene. Heinrich had testified that the door bore the prints of Miss Rappe's hand, with Arbuckle's superimposed.

Adolph Juel, fingerprint expert for the San Francisco police department, was the opening witness for the defense. He testified that the fingerprints on the door of the hotel room in which the struggle was alleged to have taken place were not those of Miss Rappe and Arbuckle, thus directly contradicting the testimony of Heinrich, who developed the photographs of the marks.

Juel was under cross-examination when the session closed.

Criticism of Treaty Stand Worries Senator.

Tries to Explain Attitude to Near Associates.

Blames Press of Coast for Daring to Peep.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, March 28. — Overtaken by the revolt of his former constituents at his attitude of opposition to the four-power treaty, Hiram Johnson has become almost garrulous in trying to explain the greatest mistake of his public life.

Until the mails began to roll in from California, Hiram did not realize how far out on the limb he had got in following Hearst, France, La Follette and Borah in opposition to the treaty wanted by the civilized world.

Johnson has confided to his friends that the criticism he is receiving from home is growing in volume and vehemence, but justifies himself in various ways. Asked to make statements on this phase of his breach with the people of California, he has declined.

ANTAGONISM OF PRESS.

From friends of Johnson's, who have talked to him in the last forty-eight hours, it is learned that Johnson raves about antagonism of the press and has told his friends that no man in public life can make a "100 per cent American decision" because he cannot get support. He told one of his friends that he realized that all the California papers excepting one at Sacramento and the Hearst papers were against him and his position, and commenting on that fact intimated that no public man can be indorsed by the Hearst papers without bringing on himself the antagonism of all the other papers in the State.

In his tirade against his constituents who have broken away on the treaty issue he seemed to be bitter over the speeches made in California favorable to the four-power treaty by Secretary of Commerce Hoover and by the British Ambassador, Sir Auckland Geddes.

BLAMES HOOVER.

In his informal confidences Hiram has sought to give the impression that the visit of Secretary Hoover and the British Ambassador to California at this particular time were inspired and timed to aid in the revolt of California against the position assumed by Johnson.

He denounced Chester Rowell for his remarks at the San Francisco mass meeting in favor of the treaty and intimated that the attitude of the Secretary of Commerce was inspired by close British associations. Every person and every organization who opposed him came in for a scathing denunciation in his unburdening chats with friends. Never in the time that he has been in the Senate has Johnson taken so to heart the defection of the people of California from him.

GREATEST REBUKE.

Of all the episodes through which he has passed this uprising of popular sentiment at home is the greatest rebuke he has received and that he feels it keenly is shown in his delirium of babbling excuses for the reverses he has sustained. Never before has such a tendency been manifest and some of Johnson's closest friends agree that he is very nervous as to the permanent outcome of his treaty opposition on his campaign for renomination and re-election. It would not be surprising to some of his adherents here if he left soon for California to remain until the primaries to bolster up his force and mend his shattered fences.

ATTEMPTS ALIBI.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, March 28.—Senator Johnson explained his opposition to ratification of the four-power treaty in a statement received here tonight for immediate release. He stated:

"In my opinion there never was either connection or relation between the quadruple alliance and disarmament. The Washington Conference, it will be recalled, was primarily for limitation of armaments. This was what the resolution of Congress, the basis of the call, requested. Subsequently other matters were included in the agenda, but the four-power treaty was never suggested by our government either in the agenda or otherwise.

"Everybody desired, as I have repeatedly stated, a just limitation of armaments and this both from principles humanitarian and economic. The Hughes plan was received with universal acclaim and met with enthusiastic approval from all of us and will receive with substantial unanimity the indorsement of the Senate.

"The wide difference between a treaty to maintain British and Japanese possessions and limitation of armaments is so obvious that the mere statement of the two demonstrates how far apart they are. I could not and I would not tie this country up with Great Britain and Japan in maintaining territorial possessions; but having voted for the original resolution calling the conference and having always favored limitation of armaments I am glad to approve the results attained in the legitimate objects of the Washington gathering."

the lower stomach, which they have in common.

"It would be dangerous to attempt an operation, dividing the twins now," said Dr. Breakstone. "The only successful way of dividing them is building each of them new lower stomachs. If Josefa should die such an operation might save the other's life. I have performed similar operations which have proved successful."

The twins were born of humble parentage of Czecho-Slovakia forty-two years ago. Their parents were perfectly normal. Twenty-five years ago a theatrical manager discovered them and since has exhibited them in Europe. Rosa was married fifteen years ago and has a perfectly normal, healthy 12-year-old son. Her husband was killed on the Polish front during the war with the Bolshevists.

CHINESE APPROVE YANKEE FILMS.

Sensational Stories With Plenty of Blood and Thunder Popular.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, March 28.—Sensational American movie films, especially those filled with blood and thunder, are rapidly finding a new following in China, said Lynn W. Meekins, American trade commissioner, before the exporters' division of the National Association of the Motion-picture Industry today. The Chinese, said Mr. Meekins, are becoming dyed-in-the-wool fans. "There is no censorship," he continued. "The sky is the limit. The film kiss, however, has not met with public favor, except among the Chinese youthful element which may have visited the United States at some time."

ORDER ORANGEMEN OUT.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

BUNCRANA (County Donegal, Ireland) March 28.—Notices have been posted about town ordering all Orangemen to leave by this evening—a measure of reprisal for the recent MacMahon murders in Belfast.

Irish provisional government troops have taken over the police barracks here which were evacuated by the Royal Irish Constabulary.

An unsuccessful attempt was made last night to burn Masonic Hall. The windows were smashed and petrol was sprinkled about the premises.

OUTRAGES DENIED.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

DUNDALK (Ireland) March 28. In response to the notice posted near the Town Hall yesterday threatening reprisals for Catholics killed in North Ireland, a group of Protestants met today and reaffirmed their abhorrence of all outrages on Catholics.

The Protestants also expressed regret that any section of their fellow-townsmen, with whom they always had lived on good terms, should have had any doubt concerning their views of the outrages.

(A statement contained in the notice posted read: "On and after March 29, for every Catholic man, woman, boy, girl or child murdered or maltreated, so also shall the same quantity of helpers of the systematic murder of our fellow-Catholics meet the same fate.")

ARRIVE IN LONDON.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

LONDON, March 28.—Arthur Griffith, president of the Dail Eireann, and Eamon J. Duggan, Dail Minister of Home Affairs, arrived in London from Dublin this afternoon to attend tomorrow's conference of Irish leaders. They declined to see representatives of the press.

Michael Collins, head of the provisional government, who was detained in Dublin by urgent business, was expected to cross to England tonight, as would Sir James Craig, the Ulster Premier, and his colleagues of the northern cabinet.

CHANCELLOR SCORES ALLIES.

of the nation, and is opposed to the spirit of democracy, which we founded at the Entente's behest. Such an invasion of a sovereign state is also in violation of the principal of self-determination. We already have had our fill of unsatisfactory experience with control commissions of all sorts and must summarily reject the proposal that the Reparations Commission be given a still wider latitude than already has been conceded it in connection with its supervisory functions."

NEED BREATHING SPELL.

"We are badly in need of a breathing spell," he continued, "in order to co-ordinate our efforts and put the financial and economic measures adopted into active practice."

The only comfort afforded the Reparations Commission by the government's statement was conveyed in the promise that Germany would proceed to inaugurate the most stringent economy in all governmental departments. She would endeavor to extract the maximum revenue from the various tax sources to be opened through the laws about to be put into execution. The government would also subject the commission's recommendations to a further scrutiny in an endeavor to arrive at a mutual working basis.

Alluding early in his speech to taxation compromise, which had been reached by the good will of the opposing parties in the Reichstag, Dr. Wirth said it would form an integral part of Germany's foreign policy, which, however, would become involved and disturbed by the Reparations Commission's demands. Germany's direct taxation, he declared, was developing on a scale unparalleled in the world.

The Chancellor then emphasized the exhaustion following the war, to which must be added the unseen burdens falling on the nation through the exchange conditions. As striking proof that "a policy of violence cannot further reparations, he pointed out that the effect of the Reparations Commission's demands had been "to upset the whole plan of our budget and, through depreciation of the mark, to augment the budget deficit."

PROBST WINS SKIRMISH.

Butler Who Said He Was Being "Railroaded" Back to Old Country Gets Temporary Reprieve.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, March 28.—August Probst, youthful Swiss, formerly butler at the exclusive Rolling Rock Club, Ligonier, near Pittsburg, will remain in this country for a while longer. This was made clear today when Federal Judge Knox rendered his decision in Probst's habeas corpus proceedings to prevent his deportation for unlawful entry into this country.

Probst, who deserted his post as steward on the White Star liner Olympic on June 1, 1921, made sensational allegations in his effort to dodge the deportation order of the Secretary of Labor. He charged that members of the Pennsylvania Club had "kidnaped" him and were "railroading" him back to Switzerland because he and a prominent Pittsburg girl were in love with each other.

ORDERS QUICK ACTION.

Judge Knox held that only one immigration inspector had decided the case of Probst, whereas the law stipulates that in deportation proceedings against an alien seaman three inspectors should sit in judgment. The court remanded Probst back to Ellis Island for the inspectors to pass on his case, intimating that unless the Ellis Island board convened promptly he might entertain a motion by Bernard Sandler, the butler's attorney, for release.

The court did not consider, in arriving at a decision, the butler's charges of kidnaping and the like. Nor did Judge Knox take up the two affidavits, made by public health surgeons, that Probst was insane.

Judge Knox, in his opinion, took notice of Probst's allegations that a love affair with a prominent Pittsburg girl was the motive for the effort to deport him.

CASE IS REVIEWED.

The court said: "The motive for this alleged conduct, while not appearing in the papers, was asserted by counsel to be that certain named persons of reputed wealth and social position wished to frustrate the possibilities of a love affair said to exist between Probst and the daughter of one of their number. Whether or not such assertion be true is a matter concerning which the court upon this proceeding can make no inquiry.

"In passing, however, it may be said that this record is devoid of such motive, and the statement in reference thereto, even if now relevant and material, can be given neither weight nor credence.

"As to the charge of kidnaping, the only suggestion thereof, aside from the allegations relating thereto in the petition, is that it appears by a government document attached to the return that Probst was under surveillance of a private detective agency in Trenton, N. J."

VIEW ON COLORADO RIVER SUMMED UP.

UTAH'S POSITION SET FORTH BEFORE COMMISSION GATHERING.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SALT LAKE CITY, March 28.—Utah's position on the question of distribution of the waters of the Colorado River, in which seven Western States are interested, was summed up today before the Colorado River Commission by Dr. John A. Widtsoe, recognized by those present as an authority on various phases of reclamation, in the following language:

"The proposed treaty should recognize as fundamental considerations:

"1. That for the purpose of best development the Colorado basin is an economic unit.

"2. That no other use should precede the use of water for irrigation, including flood control and domestic needs.

"3. That there is ample water in the Colorado River for all economically irrigable lands.

"4. That beneficial use merging into economical use alone should contribute water rights on the river.

"The compact might then include:

"1. The free and unrestricted development of the river under the laws of the States interested for a period, say, of fifty years, after which another commission may consider the future.

"2. The precedence of irrigation, including its concomitants, the control of flood waters and domestic use, over power development.

"3. The united attempt of the seven States interested to secure immediate and continuous development of the river, beginning with a dam to serve flood control and storage purposes, and, if possible, to place the major structure affecting several States under Federal control.

"4. The erection of a continuing Colorado River commission, without judicial or administrative power, to act as a bureau to encourage the continuous study of the Colorado; to assemble in an easily accessible form all available facts concerning the river, and to make reports and recommendations to the respective States and to the government."

Maryland Rail Yard Strikers Start Rioting.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

HAGERSTOWN (Md.) March 28.—Rioting started in the yards of the Western Maryland railroad late tonight when an attempt was said to have been made by non-union employees to turn an engine. Members of the Federated Shops Crafts and of the Maintenance of Way Employees' unions, who went out on strike last Saturday because of wage reductions, were said to have interferred with the nonunion workers, and railway guards were declared to have discharged revolvers in an effort to quell the disturbance. One man was reported to have been wounded.

The rioting, however, continued with no sign of immediately abating. Railroad officials were understood to have communicated with their general office at Baltimore with the possibility that State troops might be called for.

AMUNDSEN TO USE AIRPLANES.

Amundsen said today he expected seldom to encounter a temperature lower than that in which the plane already has been tested.

SMALL BRITISH PLANE.

Besides the monoplane, Amundsen will take an Avro scout plane, a smaller British ship, which will be used only within the vicinity of the Maude. The monoplane, with a cabin in which eleven persons have been carried, will be self-supporting. She is so equipped that she can carry large stocks of fuel and provisions and to her can be adjusted skis, wheels or pontoons so that she can land on any surface. With her aid, Amundsen believes he can chart a course 200 miles wide across the top of the earth.

After his conference with Larsen, Capt. Amundsen and Lieut.-Commander Omdel of the Norwegian naval air force, who arrived today with the explorer, took up the question of testing the monoplane at Central Park. Omdel, who will pilot the ship, is an expert mechanic, and as he will have to look after the plane himself, he plans to begin immediately familiarizing himself with it.

GOING TO WASHINGTON.

Amundsen has not decided tonight whether he would carry out his plan of flying from New York to Seattle in the plane. Aeronautical experts have tried to convince him that such a trip would put an unnecessary strain on a ship that has so much flying before her in the next few years. The explorer plans to leave for Washington in about a week for conferences there with government officials and scientific authorities, and then will proceed to Seattle, where the Maude is to be dry-docked.

One of the objects of Capt. Amundsen's visit to Washington is to complete arrangements for wireless relays.

His radio plan at present consists of flashing reports from airplane to the mother ship, which is equipped with transmitting apparatus of 2000 miles radius. The ship then will communicate with Alaska, and Nome will relay to the powerful station at St. Paul on the Bering Sea. St. Paul will send the messages direct to Washington.

Amundsen said he would take ten men with him when he sets out for Nome to drift to Spitzbergen, with food sufficient for seven years. Because of ice and dangerous currents in the North Pole regions, the explorer believes the only investigation possible there will be from the air.

Besides Omdel, Amundsen will take with him another pilot, Odd Dahl, also a Norwegian, who will have charge of the Avro and who is proceeding to Seattle by way of the Panama Canal.

Capt. Oscar Whisting will command the Maude and G. Olonkin will be chief engineer. Dr. H. U. Svredrup will be the scientist attached to the expedition. The other of the personnel will be seamen.

Indiana Woman Dies as Koreans Shoot at Tanaka

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

SHANGHAI, March 28.—Mrs. W. J. Snyder of Brazil, Ind., was killed today, and four other persons were wounded, when two Koreans made an abortive attempt to assassinate Gen. Giichi Tanaka, former Japanese Minister of War, upon their arrival here from Manila.

Mrs. Snyder was just stepping off the ship and was not more than twenty feet from the Japanese general when the Koreans opened fire. She was accompanied by her husband on a trip around the world.

The Koreans, who were arrested immediately, made a full confession that their purpose was to kill Gen. Tanaka.

MARK VON ESCHEN IS SENT TO PRISON.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, March 28.—Convicted of having attempted to dispose of part of the loot of the $1,500,000 mail robbery here last July, Mark von Eschen today was sentenced to serve five years in the Federal prison and to pay a fine of $2000.

He was found guilty on the testimony of Henry Morris and Frank Hart, who previously had pleaded guilty in the Federal District Court to being implicated with von Eschen in the disposal of the stolen securities, which were offered to a brokerage house at 20 per cent of their face value.

SEES TAX REDUCTION.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PHOENIX (Ariz.) March 28. — That the special session of the Legislature really will accomplish something in the way of tax reduction is indicated by a statement made by Chairman Charles Howe, State tax commissioner. He estimates a decrease for the coming year of $1,500,000 in the cost of the State government. There also will be added benefit from the new inheritance tax law.

Hawaiian Governor Asks Press Extension Bi... House Members Announce Opposition

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

HONOLULU, March 28.—Gov. Farrington has sent to the... tive Greene, chairman of the House Committee on Merchant... and Fisheries, a plea for a five-year extension of the naval ra... ties in the Pacific for press messages at a low rate.

"This is a measure fraught with the greatest possible power for promoting peace and good will as well as the development of the American merchant marine and commerce in the Pacific," declared the Governor. "The rates for news given by private cable and wireless companies are prohibitive, owing to the limited financial resources of Pacific newspapers. If such use of the naval radio is eliminated the present satisfactory news service will end and the service, through privately-owned companies, will be reduced in quantity owing to its cost.

AGAINST EXTENSION.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, March 28.—Chairman Greene of the House conferees announced today that the five House conferees were unanimous in supporting his contention that it will be practicable to operate radio stations to handle commercial business for a period of five years.

Outlining his position to the newspapers in Massachusetts district, Greene said: "It is commonly known who have followed the activities that extensive commercial operations are practically under way on the Pacific and that it is a question of time only before how radio companies will be satisfactorily handling business going to and from the Orient."

AMERICAN FLAG USED TO STOP REBELLION.

YANK IN ALBANIA HOISTS OLD GLORY OVER RED CROSS BUILDING.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

PARIS, March 28. — Bitter fighting and much bloodshed characterized the recent insurrection of tribal groups against the Albanian government, according to a dispatch received in Paris today from Tirana describing the rebellion. The whole population of Tirana fled from the city in terror, said the dispatch.

The junior Red Cross elementary school, which is supported by American children, was seized by the insurgents and used as their main position. The upper floor and walls suffered severely from bombs and rifle fire.

Only prompt action by Ambrose Kelly, director of the school, who hoisted the Stars and Stripes over the building while the battle was in progress, saved it from destruction.

Mr. Kelly sent an ultimatum to the chiefs of both sides saying they would have to answer to the United States government for any damage they did. Parleys then ensued between the combatants, a truce was signed and peace was restored.

The recent action of the Allied Council of Ambassadors in withdrawing Allied troops from Albania is causing much apprehension on the part of the Albanian government and the people, says the dispatch. If the stabilizing influence of these forces is removed renewed disorders and uprisings are feared. The city is quiet at present, but clashes between government forces and mountain tribes are imminent.

Announcing the Installation of the Birkel Company's RADIO Broadcasting Station

Installed and operated by the Beacon Light Co.

—the largest and most powerful in the West, with a broadcasting range of 2000 miles. The Birkel Company's station is the only one on the Pacific Coast that is able to function over this great distance. Because of its educational qualities, the Birkel Company's Radio Station is at present the only one having Government sanction to operate over such an immense territory. It is completely controlled by the Birkel Company and dedicated to the musical education of the American people. Daily concerts will be given—the best of music will be "radioed" throughout the land! Imagine the wonder of sitting quietly at home in Portland, Oregon; Chicago, Illinois, or Dallas, Texas—listening to famous artists themselves playing and singing directly to you! Arrangements are being made to have some of the world's greatest pianists, violinists, organists, singers, bands and orchestras, perform in person, in the great "sending-room" of the Birkel Company. "Listeners in" will also have the privilege of hearing such great masters of the piano as Paderewski, Hofmann, Bauer, Cortot, Ganz, etc., play on the Duo-Art Reproducing Piano exactly as if they were playing themselves—it will be impossible to tell whether the pianist himself or the Duo-Art Reproducing Piano is playing!

Famous organists like Bonnett and Clarence Eddy will play for them in person on the Birkel Company's great Aeolian pipe organ. The newest Victor Records will be broadcasted the day they arrive from the Victor factory—radio owners will be the first to hear them!

Through the courtesy of the Birkel Company, the local newspapers will be allowed the privilege of broadcasting the latest news, market reports, baseball scores, etc., throughout the West! This marvelous radio broadcasting station will be in operation in about two weeks—watch the papers for further announcements. Get ready to "tune in" on the strongest and most powerful music broadcasting station in the West—prepare to "listen in" on the concerts of the finest talent available—to receive the latest news of the world!

GERMAN-AMERICAN CLAIMS PACT NEAR.

NEGOTIATIONS TO ESTABLISH TRIBUNAL FOR SETTLEMENT PROGRESSING.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, March 28.—Distinct progress is being made in the negotiations between the United States and Germany looking to the establishment of a mixed claims tribunal for handling German and American claims growing out of the war, it was announced at the State Department today. When the negotiations have been completed they will be covered in a separate treaty and when that document has been ratified the commission will be appointed.

The function of the commission, when established, will be to determine the amounts of the various claims to be paid. For example, of the numerous claims growing out of the Lusitania case, the amounts will be fixed by the commission after full investigation and the same procedure will be followed in the case of Americans whose property was seized in Germany, or of Germans whose property was seized in America.

The matter of payment of the claims will not be handled by the commission, but will be treated separately. It is difficult, State Department officials said, to estimate the amount of American claims against Germany inasmuch as many of the claims presented will be considerably reduced by the commission. In the same manner it is almost impossible to estimate German claims against the United States.

WORKER'S LIVING COST IS SHOWN.

Takes $2,636.97 Yearly for Family, Says Jewell.

Budget Based on the Average Daily Needs.

Shop Crafts' Union Official Fights Pay Cuts.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, March 28.—Industries should use the same principle in supplying energy to their employees as in supplying coal under their boilers, B. M. Jewell, head of the shop crafts' unions, told the Railroad Labor Board today in presenting a budget requiring $2,636.97 a year for sustaining a workingman's family.

MOST EARN MORE.

"America, with such productive power and such natural resources, should afford all her workers more than a shabby existence," Mr. Jewell declared, in continuing his fight against wage reductions sought by 604 railroads before the board.

To secure what Mr. Jewell's budget provides for however, the labor leader said, railroad mechanics would have to earn 40 per cent more than they now receive.

His budget, Mr. Jewell said, was based on the needs of an average railroad mechanic's family. It provided, he asserted, no more than a sane supply of food and only the barest minimum in other respects. The food menus, samples of which he presented to the board, would furnish the wage earner 4140 calories a day. The $2636.97 family budget, Mr. Jewell said, was about $300 more than the Department of Labor's budget.

REFUTES ABSURDITY.

"Some people will undoubtedly comment upon the absurdity of a mere worker expecting an income of this size," said Mr. Jewell. "If they are honest they will recognize that they are remarking on the absurdity of the workers receiving as much goods as are enumerated in the budget. If such people are really honest they will enumerate the articles which it is absurd that a worker's family should have, and will state what, in their opinion, a worker may expect as the minimum allowance in return for his service to society."

PROHIBITION PACT WITH CUBA LIKELY

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, March 28.—Negotiations of a prohibition agreement between the United States and Cuba may follow the visit of L. G. Nutt, who has been directing rum raids in Florida, to Havana, it was indicated today at prohibition headquarters.

Commissioner Haynes, according to officials, favors some arrangement with the Cuban government to supervise liquor exports with a view to preventing illegal shipments to the United States.

Cracked Glass Vats Cause Fire.

POLICE COURT JUDGES STRIKE.

Mexicans Refuse to Work Until Their Salaries Are Paid.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

MEXICO CITY, March 28. The Police Court judges of Belem prison went on strike yesterday because their salaries had not been paid by the Federal district. Consequently the score of cases usually tried on Monday morning did not come up.

The thirty men, who are known as "professional judges," left their desks, and in a body, marched to the office of Celestino Gasca, Governor of the Federal district. The Governor gave them assurances that their salaries would be paid, and the judges resumed their duties this afternoon.

PSYCHOLOGY TEACHER CLEARED OF CHARGES

MAN WHO ENTERED BROKERAGE BUSINESS AND FAILED, QUICKLY FREED.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, March 28.—J. Frank Lilly, former professor of psychology at the University of Chicago, later a broker here, whose firm, J. F. Lilly & Co., failed in July, 1918, with liabilities of $1,500,000, was acquitted today. Lilly was on trial before Judge Mancuso and a jury in general sessions on the specific charge that he had taken $1000 from Herman N. Diamond and had failed to buy Famous Players-Lasky stock, as directed, in June, 1919.

It took the jury only five minutes to reach its verdict, and several of the jurors shook hands with Lilly and urged him to go back in the brokerage business, one of them saying to him: "You can make good yet."

Lilly disappeared in July, 1919, and was indicted the following November. He was not arrested until December, 1921.

A student whom Lilly had flunked when professor of psychology in Chicago saw him in Dallas, Tex., last December and informed the Sheriff, who placed Lilly under arrest.

GOTHAM CHARACTER FOUND DEAD IN PULITZER BUILDING HAD $250,000.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, March 28.—Notes and securities worth at par nearly $250,000 were found today in a little valise left in the office of the editor and publisher on the eleventh floor of the Pulitzer Building, the home of the New York World, by John George Reiners, a messenger, process server and former saloonkeeper, who was found dead at the foot of the stairs on the main floor of the building Sunday. It is believed he jumped or fell eleven stories. Reiners, who is believed to have been in the seventies, had been grieving over the death last week of his friend, C. A. Wick, a lawyer, with whom he shared an office on the same floor as the newspaper weekly.

Saturday Reiners came into the office of the editor and publisher and handing the valise to an employee, said, "If anything happens open this bag."

Two beneficiaries were named in the will. One was his sister, Maude M. Reiners, Jersey City, and the other was Helen Ludwig, of New York. The will declared his intention to adopt the Ludwig girl as his daughter when she became 18 years old.

Railroad, mining and coal stocks made up the bulk of the property found. In the early 80's Reiners and a partner, sold, it is said, a submarine called the Whale, to the United States government for $75,000. The vessel was lost on its first trip.

BRITISH RUM RUNNER SAILS FOR CANADA

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

BOSTON, March 28.—The British schooner Grace and Ruby, detained at this port for more than a month as a rum-runner, sailed with 10,000 quarts of her half million dollar liquor cargo today. The vessel, released to her owner, Walter D. Sweeney of Yarmouth, N. B., under bond, left behind 12,000 quarts, the ownership of which has not been determined.

According to the schooner's manifest, she was bound from Settlement Point, Bahamas, to St. John, N. B., and it was stipulated that she proceed to her destination.

MEXICANS BAN LIQUOR.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

MEXICALI, March 28.—General Pablo Macias, military commander of the northern district of Lower California, today placed Mexican soldiers under his jurisdiction on an order of strict prohibition with a penalty of courtmartial and imprisonment for violation of the edict. Precaution against "sporadic trouble in the army" was given as the reason. Liquor dealers were told that sale of liquor to soldiers would result in revocation of their licenses.

DAUGHERTY WON'T QUIT DRY CASES.

Promises Quick Action in Crime Wave Prevailing in Chicago.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, March 28. — Atty.-Gen. Daugherty has no intention of abandoning prosecution of liquor cases in the Federal courts and the transfer of some cases to the State courts here was a temporary measure pending filling of vacancies on the Federal bench, according to a letter from Mabel Walker Willebrandt, Assistant Attorney-General in charge of liquor cases, made public here tonight.

Writing on behalf of Daugherty, Miss Willebrandt said:

"There is no intention or effort on the part of the Department of Justice to abandon the firm stand taken by the Attorney-General in his announcement at the Cincinnati convention fo the Bar Association last fall as follows:

"'My duty is clear. As long as I am the responsible head of the Department of Justice the law will be enforced with all the power possessed by the government which I am at liberty to call to my command.'

"Requests reached us from a Federal judge to make some temporary disposition of the great mass of cases constantly flowing into the Federal courts by prohibition agents. The suggestion of sending the cases to the State courts was for a short period only, and merely as a result of the congested calendars of work in the Federal courts due to the resignation of Judge Landis and pending the filling of vacancies in the Federal courts.

"The prohibition department appreciated the dilemma and requested officials of that department, wherever possible, to handle their cases in the State courts, until such time as the Federal courts would have all places filled.

"To construe this action as a permanent abandonment of the intent to prosecute liquor cases in the Federal court is an entirely erroneous light to cast on the matter. It merely is an attempt to meet a temporary congested situation by dividing the cases between State and Federal courts."

TWO SONS LOST IN WAR, MAN KILLS SELF.

OLD-TIME BUTLER IN RICH FAMILY TAKES POISON IN LONELY TENEMENT.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, March 28.—Thomas Fullerton, 60 years old, ex-pugilist, and old-time butler of Mrs. Thomas Hitchcock, prominent society woman, committed suicide today in his small West Fifty-seventh-street room, by taking poison.

Fullerton's body was found by a janitress. On the dresser was found a glass containing some of the poison and a small flask half-filled with whisky. Near by was a note addressed to Tom O'Connell, which read:

"Excuse me, dear old pal, but it has been too much for me. I am a broken-hearted father who has lost two boys in the war. I never said nothing about it until after the war was over. Good-by and God bless you and every one."

None of his latter-day acquaintances knew Fullerton was a father.

A letter from Mrs. Hitchcock, dated Feb. 23, 1922, Aiken, S. C., also was found. It read:

"Dear Thomas: I am sorry to hear of your troubles. I inclose $20 to pay for your rent. I hope you'll be feeling better soon."

Fullerton married Mrs. Hitchcock's maid years ago. His wife is dead. He was known as "Boston Joe" in ring circles forty years ago.

TWENTY PER CENT MELON FOR AMERICAN SHIPBUILDING STOCKHOLDERS.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

JERSEY CITY, March 28.—The American Shipbuilding Company at its annual meeting today declared an extra dividend of 20 per cent. The extra dividend was declared payable April 24, to stockholders of record at the close of business April 10.

It was also voted to readjust the capital stock and a plan was approved whereby the preferred stock will be converted into common.

A quarterly dividend of 1 3-4 per cent in cash on the outstanding preferred stock, payable Aug. 1, 1922, to stockholders of record at the close of business June 30, and a regular quarterly dividend of 1 3-4 per cent on the common, also was declared.

FRESNO PUBLISHER'S YOUNG SON KILLED

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

FRESNO, March 28.—George A. Osborn, Jr., 5-year-old son of George A. Osborn, one of the publishers of the Fresno Morning Republican, was instantly killed this afternoon when he fell beneath the wheels of a concrete mixer moving along a street near his home.

He was a grandson of Charles S. Osborn, former Governor of Michigan.

BANDITS RAID FARM.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

CHICAGO, March 28.—Nine armed and masked men last night invaded the farm of Arthur W. Cutton, wealthy Board of Trade operator, near Downer Grove, a suburb, held up Mr. Cutten, his family and servants, and escaped with $500 in currency, considerable jewelry and a truckload of liquor valued at approximately $9000. The loot was hauled away in a small truck brought by the robbers.

RAIL COMMISSION HAVING BUSY TIME.

TRANSPORTATION COMPANIES ASK PERMISSION TO LOWER RATES.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, March 28. — The Bay and River Transportation Companies, operating from San Francisco Bay to Sacramento and Stockton, applied today to the Railroad Commission for permission to put into effect on one day's notice reductions of from 25 to 40 per cent on lumber, declared to be necessary to bring about a satisfactory movement of tonnage.

The reduction sought from bay points to all points on the San Joaquin River between Antioch and Stockton, and on the Sacramento River between Rio Vista and Sacramento, is from $4 a thousand board feet to $3. To Stockton itself the carriers ask that the rate be cut from $4 to $2.50, while the rate to Sacramento is to be left at $4.

A petition that the rates on crude oil and fuel from the San Francisco bay district to Sacramento be reduced to 13 cents a hundred pounds was filed with the commission today by the railroad lines operating between those points. The present rates average 15 cents.

The California Transit Company, which has been operating a series of local automobile stage routes between Oakland and Sacramento, applied for authority to establish through service between the two cities via Berkeley, Richmond, Rodeo or Crockett, Vallejo, Vacaville, Dixon and Davis.

The Southern California Edison Company asked authority to issue $170,000 6 per cent bonds, to be exchanged for a like amount of bonds of the San Gabriel Electric Company, a subsidiary.

Approval of a telephone merger affecting Long Beach and San Bernardino was asked of the commission today by the Associated Telephone Company. This concern has the San Bernardino Home Telephone and Telegraph Company, the Long Beach Home Telephone and Telegraph Company, and the Union Home Telephone and Telegraph Corporation under lease, but asked permission to buy these companies, saying the present arrangement was unsatisfactory and prevented the marketing of bonds.

REGAINS SENSES IN SAN DIEGO THEATER.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

SAN DIEGO, March 28.—Awakening as from a dream in a moving-picture theater last night, W. J. Adams, deputy county Recorder of Oakland, Cal., made his way to the street and inquired his whereabouts from a pedestrian. He was astonished to learn that he was in San Diego. He was turned over to Patrolman Griffith who took him to the detective bureau at police headquarters. Adams was unable to tell the police where he had come from or how he had got to this city.

Search of his pockets by the police revealed a key to a room in a local hotel. Detectives accompanied him to the hotel where they found he had registered about 5 p.m. In front of the hotel was a touring car which Adams recognized as his own. In the room were found clothing belonging to him and in the pockets were papers that completed identification.

WILL GET SECOND DIVIDEND.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

SEATTLE, March 28.—R. A. Langley, special deputy supervisor of banking, who has charge of the liquidation of the Scandinavian-American Bank, announced last night that depositors of the defunct bank are soon to receive an additional 10 per cent dividend. This will be the second dividend received, a 20 per cent dividend having been declared last December.

TILDEN LOSES DOUBLES EVENT.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, March 28.—William Tilden II, national and world's grass-court tennis champion, and his 14-year-old protege, A. L. Weiner of Philadelphia, were eliminated today in the second round of the national indoor doubles championship on the courts of the Seventh Regiment Armory. The pair was beaten in straight sets, 6-0, 11-9, by I. F. Hartmann and J. D. Ewing, Jr., of New York.

The match was the first championship test for Tilden's youthful partner and, though he displayed promising skill, he was unable to effectively support his famous companion. The boy's inexperience in tournament told, especially in the first set, but in the second he gained more confidence and, with brilliant work by Tilden, the pair gave Hartmann and Ewing a real battle.

STANFORD RINGMEN TRIUMPH.

U.S.C. Mitt Pushers Drop Three Out of Five Bouts in Boxing Carnival

Stanford University's boxing squad took the measure of the U.S.C. glove slingers alst night by winning three out of the five fights held in the new U.S.C. pavilion. Hayden Phythian, a Trojan scrapper, won the feature event by knocking out Mark Evans, the Cardinal boxer.

The first round of their battle went to Phythian after a rather lively exchange of blows. Evans had a corkscrew style of coming in that Phythian had a hard time solving. Phythian also won the second round, but just before the round closed, Evans hit the Trojan man low, unintentionally. After a minute rest, Phythian came back strong. The men sparred for about ten seconds then Phythian caught Evans on the chin with the right that turned the Stanford man clear over. Evans got up groggy and Phythian put over a right that ended the fight.

In the semi-wind-up, Wassum of Stanford, won a technical knockout over Covillo, of U.S.C., after outclassing his man for almost three rounds. The fight was stopped in the third.

William Burkhard of Stanford won the 145-pound affair from Fairbanks by a decision, in a good fight.

Mattis, U.S.C., won from Lane, Stanford, after four rounds of battling by a decision. They fought at 135 pounds. Shipp, a Card 135-pound scrapper, won the opener from Gillette of U.S.C. by a decision.

TIGER FOREMAN HAS TOUGH JOB.

Essick Must Step Some, to Uphold Reputation.

Natives Probably Expect Too Much from Him.

Vernonites Shape Up Better This Season.

BY HARRY A. WILLIAMS.

Bill Essick is welcome to his job as far as one guy is concerned. Said guy is yours truly.

Not that Bill isn't getting liberal remuneration, or hasn't a team which may be up in the race, but the home folks probably are expecting too much of him. Three pennants out of four starts in the P.C.L. gave Mr. Essick a pile of prestige, and he must live fast in order to live up to that reputation.

How do present Vernon prospects compare with those of a year ago? This is a question which has been asked repeatedly. Not only would a correct answer be a matter of chance, but of little value. Prospects were rather good last spring, and the club finished sixth. That much for prospects, viewed in the rear.

SHAPE UP WELL.

In some ways the Tigers, as a whole, shape up better than they did a year ago. At that time, the club had Charley Gorman, a rookie at short, and Sawyer, a comparative stranger, at second. Almost before they became acquainted, Sawyer broke an ankle, and it was necessary to substitute Zeider, a fading veteran, still a good utility man, but by no means a regular by a whole lot. Subsequently, French was secured for short, and Gorman shifted to the other side of the bag. The youngster was later benched for Zeider. So [illegible] of the season Vernon had [illegible] co-ordination around the [illegible] and that is where pennants are won and lost to a considerable extent.

Today the Tigers, at least, have a definite infield with Hyatt and Locker at first, Sawyer at second, Smith at third and French at short. Probably hardly equal to the Borton-Fisher-Smith-Mitchell combination with which Vernon won its last flag, but at least definite and workable, and a thing of real possibilities.

LEGS DEBATABLE.

Still the inner quartet does not strike one as quite as sound as a new tire. There is the debatable question of C. Hercules Hyatt's legs. They have been much debated. We are not taking the affirmative or negative. Just hanging Ham's legs up to public view, and allowing time and events to shape their course. Any weakening and Dal Locker steps in. Wouldn't surprise us if this proved to be Dal's big season, although he hardly can duplicate Hyatt's hitting.

Sawyer's ankle is causing much discussion. His rather slow time in circling the bases recently indicates that he may be favoring it. Those who have been watching the Tigers, or at least some of them, claim his fielding has lost some of its floss. Hardly understand that. Certainly it was classy enough when he got back in toward the close of last season, and his ankle should be stronger now than then. Left half of infield contains no question marks.

With Bodie to alternate in right field with Schneider, the outfield should be stronger than last year, although Ping's late start will partially nullify this added weight.

Catching staff with Hannah and Murphy looks as robust as a young Gibraltar.

PITCHING STAFF PROBLEM.

Pitching, always an uncertain element in the spring, is a department on the Vernon team which would have the orginal trio of wise men guessing. Plainly speaking, things do not look bright enough there to dazzle you. Wheeler Dell, heretofore the anchor man, last season turned in twenty-eight wins. But 108 victories were required to sew up the pennant. Dell is a veteran. He should repeat, possibly will, but may not.

Frank Schellenback was expected to crowd Dell for the honor of leading Tiger twirler. But a double operation on his arm, at first thought to have been successful, appears to have left it weak and with some of the fingers on his right hand almost nerveless. He may eventually regain his effectiveness, but if not, this will be the worst wallop yet handed the team's prospects. Tony Faeth, another thoroughly tried right-hander, should pitch better than .600 per cent ball. Should Bill James enact the miracle of mastering control it would make a big [illegible]. At that, he will turn in quite [illegible] wins. Roy Gilder, the fifth [illegible] hander, has shown well this [illegible]. We have confidence in him [illegible] no other reason that he [illegible] from Grand Rapids. These [illegible] always seem to turn out well on the Coast.

Jake May from the Texas League, and with some major league experience, appears to be a southpaw fixture. Slim Love has added a curve to his heretofore rather limited assortment, but the soundness of his recovery can only be proven by putting his arm to the test. With Doyle and some of the rookies coming along, Essick may be able to show the fans six or seven dependable pitchers, which would be plenty.

Incidentally, there does not appear to be a particularly strong array of pitching staffs in the league, and the Tigers probably rank above some of their rivals in this department.

Southland Pins Hopes on Pasadena Golfer.

Here's Miss Margaret Cameron, present holder of the Northern California women's championship, who is now playing in the 1922 titular event at Lakeside. Yesterday the fair Pasadena golfer tied with Mrs. C. W. Antwerp for second honors in the qualifying round. Each turned in a card of 98.

MISS PARKS WINS MEDAL.

Margaret Cameron Ties for Second Honors in Qualifying Round at Lakeside.

BY HAY CHAPMAN.
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN FRANCISCO, March 28.—Threescore ladies braved the very stiff Lakeside links today in the qualifying round of the Northern California women's golf championship and acquitted themselves bravely, not only the players of quality, but those who piled up tremendous and otherwise terrible totals and nobly reported them to the scorer.

Lakeside certainly never looked more picturesque, especially the canon of the sixth hole, which throughout the hours of play was dotted with brilliant hued costumes of those who had failed to carry the long drive. Lakeside is 6400 yards long and many of the competitors, if one may judge by their score cards, must have traveled almost twice that distance—about seven miles.

"PEG" HAS TROUBLE.

Miss Gwen Parks, who has a real punch to her tee shots, led the qualifying round by five strokes. The California Club's champion was out in 49 and home in 43. Miss Margaret Cameron, the title-holder, had a lot of trouble on the greens and had to be satisfied with a 98. Mrs. J. Van Antwerp, who has won this championship in five previous years, made a very poor start, her first nine holes costing her 54, but she got back to her normally steady game and came home with a capital 44. Mrs. Jessie Yount was the fourth lady to break the coveted three figures. Miss Parks and Mrs. A. B. Swinerton each had four holes in the men's par figures, but nobody got a par at the second, the eighth or the sixteenth.

The elements were fairly kind for the rain held off all day and if the sky is similarly gallant today a good day's sport is promised in four flights as well as in the championship division. The annual approaching and putting contest will be held tomorrow afternoon.

DR. McDONALD WINS BALL SWEEPSTAKES.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

REDLANDS, March 28.—The ball sweepstakes at the country club this week were stubbornly contested, and the scores were the best that have been turned in at any time this year. No less than four made scores low enough to have won them in competition almost any other time than this.

Dr. E. A. McDonald came up from behind with some wonderful golf during the afternoon and won with a 73, his handicap being 18. H. T. Joy, who has a handicap of 14, turned in a 74, while W. E. Rabbeth, who also carries a handicap of 14, turned in 75. P. Finlay was next with 76, his handicap being 12. Dr. W. B. Power had the lowest gross score, an 87, but his handicap is 8.

Other scores turned in were: S. R. Hotchkiss, 80; D. C. Lefferts, 82; F. L. Pierce, 82; R. Herold, 84; W. S. Lincoln 84.

TRACY NOW READY TO DEFI DEMPSEY.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, March 28. — Jim Tracy, credited with being heavyweight pugilist champion of Australia, has arrived here with the announced intention of eventually meeting Jack Dempsey in a bout for the world title. Tracy is a native of South Africa, but went to Australia when young. He is big enough to aspire to any heroic role, standing 6 feet 3 inches in his fighting shoes and weighing 210 pounds.

HIGH JINKS FOR YACHTSMEN.

House parties, individuals and theater guests are being entertained by radio almost daily, so it behooved the Los Angeles Yacht Club to get in line and hold one. Next Saturday night at the Wilmington clubhouse, a stag get-together party of the officers and members of the yacht club and the motor boat club recently consolidated under the name of the Los Angeles Yacht Club, is to be held.

The party is to get going at about 8 o'clock, declares O' Faithful E. R. Abbott, the club's secretary of many years' standing. Motion pictures and other events are on the program. The radio end of the program will be listening in on a concert from the Kinema Theater.

Secretary Abbott was wondering whether any of the fans down at the harbor Sunday to witness last Sunday's speed-boat race noticed the trim-looking craft with the name Rex on its bow, that dashed in and out among the pleasure craft lining the course.

The craft is about the latest thing in the more luxurious boats built, and is called a limousine. The Rex was built by the Seacraft Corporation, at Wilmington, for I. W. Heliman, who is a baby member of the Los Angeles Yacht Club. The ship is powered with a twelve-cylinder Fiat motor, and will do thirty miles an hour, with the passengers in great comfort.

A sister ship of the Rex is still on the ways at Wilmington. It is being built for Jim Talbott.

JAKE SCHAEFER STILL IN LEAD.

Champ Wins Second Block 500 to 486.

Hoppe Makes Spectacular Showing With Cue.

Billiard Match Stands 1000 to 952.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, March 28.—Willie Hoppe tonight gave one of the gamest exhibitions of billiards in his long career, but was unable to overcome the spectacular playing of the champion, Jake Schaefer, in their 1500-point 18.2 balkline match for the world's title, and the second block of play ended with Young Jake still in the lead, 1000 to 952. Schaefer won tonight's block 500 to 486, but at one time lead his challenger, 300 to 97.

The champion started with rapid scoring runs of 157 and 143, which took the heart out of Hoppe's followers, but only stiffened the backbone of the veteran, who as a boy in his teens nearly two decades ago, beat the world's greatest players.

SCHAEFER WEAKENS.

Hoppe's lips tightened perceptibly as he sat in his corner watching Schaefer's perfect work in the first two frames, and when the challenger failed to score in his third inning, the match appeared to be over.

Schaefer, however, weakened in the final frames and Hoppe came back with 134 in his sixth frame, passing Schaefer in the next inning with a run of 167.

At the start of tonight's play, Schaefer was the Hoppe of last night. He played with precision that was perfect, while Hoppe was very unsteady and the breaks were all against him. As the game progressed the luck shifted and the champion at one time seemed certain of defeat.

Back of Hoppe's corner sat his 5-year-old daughter, Alice, and, as the night's play ended, she rushed to her father and whispered in his ear:

"You'll win sure tomorrow, papa."

"Perhaps she is right," commented Hoppe. "I hope so, and I think so, but it's evident now that the breaks will decide this match."

PREPARES FOR TONIGHT.

Schaefer left the balls in good position for his first shot tomorrow night when the final 500 points of the match will be played.

Score by innings:

Schaefer, 157, 143, 35, 16, 53, 27, 11, 58—500—500—1000.
Average tonight, 62 4-8; grand average, 58 14-17.
Hoppe, 43, 54, 0, 71, 17, 134, 167—486—486—952.
Average tonight, 60 3-7; grand average, 59 8-16.

Before the start of tonight's play, the balls and the table again were carefully tested to see if the weather or the movement of that part of the audience on the stage had affected them.

SCORES PRETTY BANK.

Schaefer started his seventh frame with the ivories lined up, but scored on a pretty bank. He barely made his third point and the balls were still separated after two more clever plays.

His eighth point was a beautiful three-cushion drive and on his next three he was forced to use all his skill. He missed after scoring eleven points, all of them difficult. The score then stood: Schaefer, 942; Hoppe, 785.

After a few open plays Hoppe got the balls together in his seventh inning and proceeded to roll up points through nursing. He reached the fifty mark without a difficult chance and generally the three balls were within an area which might be covered with a dollar bill. After making sixty, he had to resort to drives, but the balls were together again at sixty-five. They were separated at seventy, but he again grouped them at seventy-five.

He still had the balls in position at 100.

SPECTACULAR PLAY.

Hoppe's work bordered on the spectacular in his next shots. He played almost every shot in billiards, never seeming to lose control and always getting the balls back together. He reached 150 with the balls still grouped and did not miss until he had scored 167 points.

Schaefer then won the block, 500 to 486, with an unfinished run of fifty-eight, making the total score: Schaefer, 1000; Hoppe, 952.

FINALS REACHED IN PINEHURST TOURNEY.

YANKEES BOX IN GAY PAREE.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

PARIS, March 28.—A gala boxing night, in which American Army boxers from Coblens participated, prior to their departure for the United States, was held this evening. Men from the Cologne, Mayence and Coblens armies of occupation, representing Great Britain and France, and the French veteran soldiers, Georges Carpentier and Eugene Criqui, took part.

The exhibitions were witnessed by a large crowd, including Marshal Foch, Mr. Herrick, the American Ambassador; Baron Harding, the British Ambassador; Maj.-Gen. Allen, commander of the American Army of Occupation; Prince and Princess George of Greece and other notable persons.

Two Americans won their bouts, but one American was defeated. Private Johnny Myers of Pittsburg received the decision over Tommy Evans of the British army, and Kid Murray of Philadelphia defeated a French soldier.

Young George Winner Over Sailor Larry.

If Sailor Larry of San Diego defeated Young George on two different occasions he wasn't working at it last night at Jack Doyle's boxing arena, for George was awarded a decision over him after four uninteresting rounds. Larry discovered a good right cross and a stabbing left in the first round which was his by a shade. George moved up in the second and evened matters with rights to the stomach. The third went to Larry on a number of hard lefts to the nose that drew the juice. Both lads slowed up in the final session, which was about upsticks. The decision to George was well received.

Chick Roach won over Gene Cline. A great rally in the first round carried it for Roach. The second was Cline's all the way. The third was about even and Roach had the fourth. The fans took exception to the verdict, but the judge's decision was about the right caper.

Mike O'Leary was awarded the verdict over Barney Sullivan and here is where the judges got the raspberry, the crowd booing lustily. Sullivan made a great rally in the last round and gave O'Leary a trimming but it looked as if O'Leary had the first three sessions. The other bouts resulted as follows: Johnny McManus won over Frankie Smith; Young Sumner licked Joe Herman; Jimmy Dime beat Joe Bonds and Joe Layman hung it on Packy Flynn.

AQUATIC STARS CLASH TONIGHT.

Stanford Paddlers to Face L.A.A.C. Mermen.

Seven Events on Program for Card Team.

Mermaids Will Perform in Mercury Tank.

BY IDA R. KOVERMAN.

The Stanford paddlers who are to clash with the Los Angeles Athletic Club team tonight in the club tank, arrived in town Monday and worked out at the club yesterday. Coach Cady declares that his team will have opponents worthy of their best efforts but he is still of the opinion that the Mercuryites will carry off the honors.

Great interest centers in the diving event. Al White, Coach Brandstein's new star, is said to be in the best of form and Krisel and Swendson of the Athletic Club team, are on their mettle. Walter Krisel, Cady's young high school lad, defeated Pinkston at Coronado last summer and recently came out winner in the Los Angeles city championship, beating Swendson, Haig Prieste, and Ralph Summeril, his teammates. e is said to be in splendid condition, and has his standing and two and one-half dive under perfect control. He is picked to defeat White, claimed to be Pinkston's successor.

MERMAIDS COMPETE.

Three events for Cady's famous mermaids will bring all the girl stars into competition. The special event will be the two four-girl teams, the Seals and the Dolphind, in the 400-feet relay race.

The full program and entries follows:

50-yard dash—Stanley Moss, Walter Query, L.A.A.C.; S. Dicker, F. Klebhan, Stanford.
100-yard free style—Tom Blake, Collins Smith, L.A.A.C.; A. Jacobs, S. Miller, Stanford.
220-yard free style—Collin Smith, Tom Blake, L.A.A.C.; H. Wenger, Stanford.
100-yard breast stroke—Paul Nelson, The Messenger, L.A.A.C.; C. Fletcher, P. Cramer, Stanford.
100-yard back stroke—Ray Kegels, Holmes Bowers, L.A.A.C.; B. DeGroot, C. Fletcher, Stanford.
Diving—Walter Kriesel, Clyde Swendson, L.A.A.C.; Al White, Stanford.
400-feet relay—Walter Query, Tom Blake, Stanley Moss, Jack Kilborn, L.A.A.C.; A. Jacobs, S. Dicker, F. Klebhan, S. Miller, Stanford.

WOMEN'S EVENTS.

50-yard back stroke—Marion Himmelstein, Helen Vernon, Marie Curtis, Viola Hartman, Dorothy Blume, Mary Wheeler, Dorothy Waters.
400-feet relay—Thelma Hall, Dot Waters, Katherine Van Buren, Helen Vernon, Dolphins; Charlie Hansburger, Ruth Kimball, Mary Wheeler, Marie Curtis.

Pasadena and L. A. High Will Clash Friday on Diamond.

FAVOR ROMANS TO WIN FRACAS.

Superior Pitching Ability Gives Locals Edge.

Jefferson Meets Poly High at Prager Park.

Hollywood Journeys Over for Game at Lincoln.

No local track meets of any importance being carded, prep baseball will enjoy the undivided attention of the fans Friday afternoon when three City League games will be played in the second round of the schedule. L. A. High meets Pasadena on the latter's diamond, Jefferson journeys over to Poly, and Hollywood crosses bats with Lincoln on the Railsplitters' field. Manual Arts and Long Beach are still making faces at each other over a violent disagreement which occurred when our oldest inhabitant was a mere child, and hence will not meet during the season.

As both the Pioneers and the Bulldogs won their initial league games of the year, their fracas is considered the big event on Friday's program. L. A. High upset Manual in the closing stages of a palpitating contest on Housh Field last week after bets had already been paid in the Toilers' favor, while Pasadena started with a victory by letting Poly down on the weak end of a 6 to 3 count.

FAVOR PIONEERS.

Judging from the showings made by the respective teams in their first games, L. A. seems to have it on Pasadena. Osthaus is undoubtedly superior to Wagner of the Bulldog nine at the hurling end of the business. Against Manual he allowed only eight hits, fanned eight batters, and allowed two walks. Wagner was also found for eight bingles, but walked five men and struck out only seven.

Barnett, lead-off man on the Pioneer nine, is a hitter of exceptional ability, and with his team mates Levinson and Thompson, should keep the tallies rolling in for L. A. High.

Heartt rates as the best batter on Pasadena's squad. He rapped out three hits out of four times at bat against Poly, and traveled two bags on one of them. The fact that the Bulldogs played errorless ball in their first appearance is in their favor, and with tighter pitching will make things interesting for their visitors.

SURPRISING.

Jefferson showed surprising strength by bowling over Hollywood 15 to 3 last week, and will undoubtedly take Poly's measure Friday. The Democrats went wild with the bat, knocking out seventeen hits, but the weak pitching staff of the Foothiller outfit was in part responsible for this. Lemelle of Jefferson proved to be an erratic heaver, granting eight passes, but fanning thirteen men.

Hollywood will probably be downed by the Railsplitters, last season's champs. Lincoln appeared strong against Long Beach, and is out to hang on to the City League title.

TRAINING SYSTEM EMPLOYED BY LOCAL FOUR-ROUNDERS FARCE, SAYS RING EXPERT.

BY DE WITT VAN COURT.

Why do so many boxers practice tricks and illegal punches in their training that are helping every day to kill the game that brings them in their bread and butter? Tricks and blows that their trainers and managers insist on being practiced every day of their training. All such instructions are sure to be followed during a contest and puts them in badly with the crowd and referees. A few referees, sometimes disqualify boxers for using these foul methods, but are always booed by the crowd for not allowing them to continue their dirty work.

It is most amusing to visit any gymnasium and take in the work of many in fact, most all, of our four-rounders in their methods of training and listen to the advice offered by their trainers and so-called managers. These managers in particular will give you a kick that is worth while. Few, if any, ever did any boxing, but their wise advice is something wonderful to listen to.

PUTS ON THE RITZ.

First of all they walk into the gymnasium with a most important air, followed by their boxer carrying his little grip containing his gymnasium outfit.

The manager looks over the gang for a few moments, then orders his fighter to strip and get to work, this the fighter never does until he is ordered to do so. The fighter then proceeds to get into his fighting togs, then consumes from ten to fifteen minutes wrapping his hands in green pool-table cloth to protect his precious mitts from injuries during his training. Next, out come his private punching bag gloves and his punching bag and he takes another ten or fifteen minutes blowing up that most useless thing any boxer can use.

Then the manager wonders why his fighter's wind is so bad during a contest. He never figures that all of this time might far better be used in developing some new blow or practicing on his weak points. But those are the orders of his manager, and like Army and Navy orders, they must be obeyed without a word.

A LIGHT WORK-OUT.

A half hour gone. The manager then borrows a watch from someone in the crowd and orders his fighter to get busy with the skipping rope, or "grab those pullies and limber up." The pullies usually consist of two long, rubber ropes that a 10-year-old child could easily handle. He then starts to jig from side to side while he is hauling and pulling on these strings. It usually takes from ten to fifteen minutes more of this work to get him warmed up for the more strenuous work that is to follow.

Forty-five minutes wasted and the coming great fighter has not even started. During all this work the manager has his eyes on that watch to get the exact time for this hard graft, or stands admiringly watching his champion, or hands out a spiel about his fighter that would make Benny Leonard or Jack Dempsey tremble with fear.

Usually telling them that his boy is great at covering up and can take them, no matter how hard they come. But both the skipping rope and those pullies must be used above all else. After these things are finished, then comes the belly exercises to harden the stomach muscles. This work almost seems a waste of more valuable time. Few of those coming champions ever have any other thought in their heads but knocking the other fellow's can off and forget he has any stomach at all.

IMPORTANT PART.

Now comes the most important part of the work, the gloves. The manager never allows anyone but himself to tie those gloves; he takes particular pains to see that no one is allowed to slip his fighter any advice but himself. A sparring partner is selected and the wrestling, hugging, pulling and hauling begins. They stand off, make a few passes at each other, then clinch and back-hand each other with the gloves and pull and haul around until the manager calls time for the end of the round. During the minute's rest, the manager always climbs up into the ring and whispers some very important advice to his man, then gives an illustration with his hands just how such and such a blow should be delivered, or how to cover himself up.

Then several more rounds exactly like the first, with a few dance steps thrown in. This so-called foot work consists of all sorts of steps, from Irish jigs to buck and wing, with a few ballet steps thrown in, and believe me, Ted Shawn has nothing on some of these fighters.

If the shadow boxing is not indulged in before the boxing, it is always after, and this is a most wonderful sight. The fierce expressions are a study, and the pipe dreams that pass through these fighters' minds during this part of the work is plainly expressed on their faces.

After this hard workout, then, always comes the rubdown by the trainer. This is also very important, and each and every fighter and trainer has his particular kind of a rubdown that must be used to get his man fit. These concoctions consist of everything from horse liniment to cologne.

BOSS OPENS GAB.

The days' work is wound up by another spiel by the manager, or a confidential talk with the matchmaker to get his man on, if he is not already matched with some other aspiring champion.

ARMY MEN TO ATTEND BIG SHOW.

Flintridge Horse Show to be Mecca of Sportsmen from All Sections of Coast.

Sportsmen from every section of the Pacific Coast are making arrangements to come here next week to attend the big Pasadena horse show to be held at Flintridge Country Club April 6, 7 and 8. Among the throng of visitors expected to be in attendance daily at the show are many officers of the United States Army, who are coming to witness the performances of cavalrymen from the Presidio.

Following the announcement yesterday that all entries for the show must be made on or before April 1, Frank G. Hogan, president of the Pasadena Horse Show Association, received numerous inquiries about exhibits for the various classes.

It is the plan of officials of the association to make the show this year the largest in the history of the association. The proceeds will be given to two charitable organizations, the Pasadena Children's Training Society and the endowment and building fund of the Pasadena Home for the Aged.

POLY VANQUISHES FRANKLIN OUTFIT.

The Poly High baseball team went out yesterday afternoon and trimmed Francis Dougherty's strong Franklin High diamond artists by a score of 9 to 6, in a six-inning practice affair held on the Kite Flyers' field.

Sousa and Bannring of the Washington Street School and McNeil of Franklin were the featured hitters of the day. Each accumulated two hits apiece.

GRAPPLERS READY FOR GO TONIGHT

Romanoff and Dittmar to Tangle in Title Mat Bout at Union League Club.

What looks to be one of the hardest fought wrestling matches of the season will take place tonight at 8:30 in the Union League Club gymnasium, when Constantine Romanoff, Pacific Coast heavyweight champion, will defend his title against Demon Dittmar of San Francisco, one of the foremost grapplers of the Northwest and who is said by wrestling critics to be the best contender for the Pacific Coast crown in the West. He has been winning heavily the past eighteen months throughout the Northwestern States and Western Canada.

Dittmar says he feels confident that he can win the Coast heavyweight title on account of his age and excellent condition, which he will strive to do tonight. Both men are in the pink of condition as they have just finished three weeks hard training, Dittmar in San Francisco and Romanoff at a local gymnasium.

The match will be preceded by two excellent preliminaries—Young George vs. Benny Leftner, 135, and Cy Cody vs. Jack McDonald, the big Canadian champion, 210 pounds. The official referee of the evening will be P. C. Bragg, wrestling instructor of the Y.M.C.A., a former 158-pound wrestling champion and now considered one of the best athletic referees on the Pacific Coast.

WAMMOCK TIES WITH TAYLOR FOR HIGH GUN

A large number of members and guests of the Van Nuys Gun Club participated in a shoot at the new club grounds at Van Nuys Sunday.

R. E. Wammock of Lankershim and Leslie Taylor of Van Nuys tied in the fifty-bird prize event for first place, with an average of 92 per cent. In the shoot-off, Wammock won out. Ernest Lusher of Van Nuys won second place with a score of 88 per cent. William Jeffrey of Owensmouth and Theo Nelk and Roy Ramey of Van Nuys tied for third place with scores of 84 per cent, Jeffrey winning third prize in the shoot-off. Bob Biggart of Van Nuys won the fourth prize with a score of 80 per cent.

WORKMANSHIP THAT IS A FINE ART

LONG BEFORE the painter, sculptor, body designer and metal worker begin to exercise their crafts on the Pierce-Arrow, machining and tooling and finishing parts; shaping pinions, shafts and cogs; with a precision and an accuracy as beautiful in their way as the arts that make body beautiful. These parts, machined to some infinitesimal fraction of an inch, in their clean and shining fineness are like jewels cut with exquisite care. It is a comfort to feel that they are inside the car working together with ease in silence, the natural result of carefulness and skill.

TIJUANA RESULTS.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN DIEGO, March 28.—For the sixth time this meeting Billy Lane came hom to victory when he won the fifth and feature race of today's card at Tijuana at a mile and one-sixteenth. The Alexandra route-goer was forced to a terrific drive in order to defeat Bobby Allen and Glenwell, but succeeded in finishing a nose ahead of the former in the very last leap. His time was 1.47 1-5. Billy Lane raced under restraint close-up until turning for home, and there met with close quarters, but was straightened out, and in the concluding drive proved the gamest. Jockey Bower was up.

The fourth race went to Rafferty from the Walker stable at odds, the highly favored Bardora finishing second. Backed to odds on Laura Cochran shook off Billy Joe in the third event at six furlongs, and won by herself by four lengths to the good. Croupier wriggled out of many entanglements and broke through the leaders in the stretch to win the second, going away.

Results:

First race, six furlongs: Nick Klein, won; Lady Iona, second; Good Enough, third. Time, 1:15 2-5.

Second race, six furlongs; Croupier, won; Mary Jay, second; Red Williams, third. Time, 1:14 3-5.

Third race, six furlongs; L. Cochran, won; Billy Joe, second; Al Wick, third. Time, 1:16.

Fourth race, one mile; Rafferty, won; Bardora, second; Nebraska Lad, third. Time, 1:42 3-5.

Fifth race, one mile and one sixteenth; Billy Lane won; Bobby Allen, second; Glenwell, third. Time, 1:47 1-5.

Sixth race, one mile; Don Dodra, won; Eugenia K, second; Saintly Lady, third. Time, 1:42 1-5.

Seventh race, one mile and three-sixteenths; Montana, won; Judge David, second; Tom Brown, third. Time, 1:01 3-5.

Eighth race, five furlongs; Fireplace, won; Hazel Dale, second; Tabloid, third. Time, 1:01.

Exide BATTERIES

Reading in a berth

Did you do much traveling a generation ago? If you did, you recall that there were no lights in the berths of the sleeping cars. Next time you turn the switch and settle down to read in your berth, vote a little thanks to storage batteries, which made electric light possible on railway trains. The current generated from the axle of the moving car is stored for use by Exide Batteries on many of the country's leading railroads.

Every time your foot touches the starting-pedal of an automobile you are paying unconscious tribute to Exide Batteries. The first automobile with standard starting and lighting equipment had an Exide Battery. That same fine car has used the Exide ever since. More automobiles leave the manufacturers' hands equipped with Exides than with any other battery.

If ever there was a product where experience counts, it is a storage battery. Built into the Exide is the experience of the oldest and largest manufacturers of storage batteries in the world.

The Exide, made for your car, is a real battery for real service. It is rugged and long-lasting. You will find it a comfort and an economy.

Trojan Babes Overwhelm Manual Arts Athletes on Cinderpath.

ARTISANS EASY FOR FRESHMEN.

Toilers Take Only One First Place in Meet.

Otto Anderson Shows Real Class in Hurdles.

Preps Lose Out by Score of 87 to 26.

Coach Dan Cromwell herded together his band of Trojan freshmen Saturday and transported them to Occidental Field, where they met and defeated the Manual Arts High school trackmen by an overwhelming score of 87 to 26. The University of Southern California peanuters outclassed Sid Foster's proteges in almost every event. Lugo, the demon Artisan distance runner, was the only athlete who was able to keep off a first place. He negotiated the mile in 5:01 1-5 and was closely followed by two of his team-mates.

Otto Anderson of the frosh squad proved his prowess in the 120-yard high hurdles by winning the event in 15 3-5 seconds. He also tied with Oliver Cory, also a Trojan babe, for first place in the broad jump by hopping 20 feet 11 inches.

Cory didn't have to live up to advance press notices when he cleared 5 feet 11 inches in the high jump. He clears the bar at 6 feet 4 inches when necessary.

Ray Huston, another U. S. C. freshman, won the low hurdles with ease in the speedy time of 27 3-5 seconds.

The summary follows:

[Illegible] dash: Saltonstall (F.) won; Sumner (M.) second; Clough (M.) third. Time 2:06 3-5.

[Illegible] dash: Torkelson (F.) won; Hughes (F.) second; Schulz (M.) third. Time 10 1-5s.

[Illegible] yard: N. Anderson (F.) won; Nason (F.) second; Leach (M.) third. Distance 40ft. 10in.

[Illegible] dash: Torkelson (F.) won; O. Anderson (F.) second; Schulz (M.) third. Time 25s.

[Illegible] low hurdles: Huston (F.) won; Hite (M.) second; Cory (M.) third. Time 5:01 1-5.

[Illegible] Run by Frosh. Time 2:48 3-5.

[Illegible] Sherrod (F.) won; Pemberthy and Walker (M.) tied for second. Height 11ft. 3in.

Discus: N. Anderson (F.) won; Chaney (F.) second; Adams (F.) third. Distance 116ft. 7in.

Broad jump: O. Anderson (F.) and Cory (F.) tied for first; Turner (M.) third. Distance 20ft. 11in.

RAISES ANTE TO DEMPSEY.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

PONCA CITY (Okla.) March 28.—Ed "Strangler" Lewis, wrestling champion, offers to meet Jack Dempsey, boxing champion, at 101 ranch here in the proposed wrestling-boxing match for a side bet of $50,000 and the winner take gate receipts.

The offer was contained in a letter from Lewis today replying to Col. Joe C. Miller, who said he had offered a $200,000 guarantee and a split in receipts. Dempsey has not been heard from, Miller said.

THIS SPORTING LIFE

BY W. A. PHELAN.

SLAMLET'S SOLILOQUY.

To hit, or not to hit, that is the quetsion—
Whether 'tis better for a guy to linger,
Trying to wait 'em out upon a steady pitcher,
Or to swing fiercely on the first one over,
Smashing the same, perhaps, for four large bases—
Perhaps—aye, there's the rub!
What if your wallop
Whizzes right in the hands of
some fast fielder,
Causing a triple play, and wrecking all the chances?
But—to lay down a bunt, a feeble tapping,
Just to advance the two birds now upon the cushions—
That is the order, yea, the managerial order—
"Bunt it, yah big stiff, or it costs yuh ten—"
Ah, such humiliation and such degradation!
To bunt, amid the laughter of the mocking thousands—
To wait 'em out, and maybe miss the last, the "big one"—
Or to take one terrific smash, and bust that leather?
Truly, the situation weighs like lead upon me!

Lots and lots of sportsmen ought to be in gymnasiums; some as instructors, and the rest as dumbbells.

Many people in the world of sport continue to live because the general public fears the law, or because the foolkiller has overlooked his duties.

Even the greatest of us slip once in awhile. As, for example, when Babe fans with the bases full.

Jazz music has taken Europe by storm. We have heard many jazz orchestras, which we would like to storm, with the bayonet.

Problem of relative dimensions: How on earth do George Kelly and Eppa Rixey ever manage to park themselves in the berths of a Pullman, or inside a taxicab?

LOYOLA NINE WINS OVER RAILSPLITTERS.

The baseball nine from Loyola College packed up their baseball shoes and uniforms yesterday afternoon and journeyed over to the Downey Playground to hand the Lincoln High club swingers a trimming of 6 to 1, in seven innings.

Coach Nalette of Lincoln used three substitute pitchers and one first-string pitcher, before he could stop the tallying that the college men had started.

The game was featured by the smooth and even playing of both squads.

REGULARS SET GOOD EXAMPLE.

Smith and High Work After Others Vamoose.

Vernon's New Shortstop Cuts in on Practice.

Zeider at Last Hangs One on Kerry Patch.

BY ED O'MALLEY.

Genius is work and practice makes perfect. The golden example was set by Hughie High and Red Smith at Washington Park yesterday afternoon. After the Zeiders and Highs had finished their daily baseball feud, all the players, save Smith and High, scurried to the clubhouse, with the rookies in the van. Now here were two players with their positions assured, and yet elected to remain on the field to continue their practice.

High stood far out in left receiving fungo hits from Wood and Red Smith remained back of the plate picking up grounders batted by Hannah. With a team made up of Smiths and Highs, a manager could feel easy in almost any league. Many players in the present condition of these men would think they were ready for their best efforts, yet Smith and High, though appearently fit to the layman, are not up to the spring standard they have set for themselves.

GIVE REST.

They are giving Bill Essick their best, and it is begging the question that both will be at their alloted positions next Tuesday afternoon at Salt Lake showing the good effects of their self-imposed grind.

Neal Finn, the Tigers new shortstop, arrived in Los Angeles yesterday morning and reported early at Washington Park. He immediately doned a playing suit and got into the thick of action. The newcomer says he has not handled a ball in some time, yet he showed high class work around the short field. He handles himself like a big leaguer. He is a right hand hitter and takes a good cut at the pill. His peg is sharp and true. Unless all signs fail it looks as if Essick has garnered a pretty nifty infielder. Finn last year played with the Emeralds, a semi-pro team around New York City. He batted 280 for the season.

Bill Essick will drop his axe the end of this week just before going to Salt Lake. He may not wield it heavily at present as he has until May 15 to cut to the twenty player limit. He has a number of promising youngsters, two of whom are pretty near ripe for Coast League fleshing.

Lefty May, whom Essick garnered from the Texas League, discovered some rare projecting work yesterday afternoon while on the mound for Rollie Zeider. The little apple dumpling was there with a tantalizing fast drop that had the heavy hitters for High begging for mercy. On his showing yesterday, May bids fair to be a dependable portsider for the Bengals this season.

ROLLIE THERE.

Zeider turned on High yesterday and beat him unmercifully, 8 to 1. Rollie showed no quarter at any stage of the proceedings. With Rollie it was the last stand of the Old Guard and he sure made good. Pete Schneider busted three of his boils during the fracas and every time he did, he also busted the left-field fence.

O'Brien was also their with the willow, grabbing off three riffing singles in suction. Watch this bird, boys, for he is coming along fast and has all the hall marks of a cracking good player.

Gene Doyle and Larry McGrath, scouts for the Imperial Valley League, marred the game by indulging in a quarrel as to whether Lindimore bats right or left-handed and were removed from the grounds by Cuckoo Eddie. Eddie put the bee on each of them for 10 cents and they were reinstated.

NAVY NOTES.

The near approach of the date for decomissioning the sixty-six destroyers of the Pacific Fleet recently ordered out of service by the Navy Department in the interests of economy, was indicated yesterday in the receipt of official orders transferring a number of officers attached to the unlucky destroyers to other vessels of the destroyer fleet. Prominent among those to be transferred at once are Lieut. George K. Weber, from the Lamberton to the Howard; Lieut. Leslie E. Gehres, from the Gillis to the Aulick; Lieut. John F. Gray, from Camble to Swasey; Lieut. Marcus L. Kurtz, from MacDonough to Ward; Lieut. Robert J. Lockhardt, Ramsey to Tattnall; Lieut. Robert F. McNally, Kidder to Hazelwood; Lieut. Samuel B. Ogden, Aaron Ward to Sinclair; Lieut. S. B. Stadtler, O'Bannon to Mackenzie; Ensigns Harold J. Bellingham, Breese to Wickes; Arthur W. Bates, Mackenzie to O'Bannon; Lawrence K. Beaver, Kennedy to Henshaw; Merrit A. Bittinger, Kennedy to Claxton; Albert E. Conlon, Hazlewood to Chew; Richard R. Dennett, Montgomery to Williams; George L. Bright, Kennedy to Zeilin; Charles C. Ferrera, Mackenzie to Greene; Irvin M. Hansen, Mackenzie to Meade; Drayton Harrison, Mackenzie to Morris; Therar S. Hare, Kennedy to Welles; Howard E. Haynes, Kennedy to Aulick; Charles F. Hudson, Kennedy to Twiggs; Sidney L. Huff, Kennedy to Babbitt.

Commander Wilhelm E. Friedell, executive commander of the Connecticut, flagship of the Pacific Fleet train, has been detached and ordered to duty in command of the U.S.S. Rainbow, Navy supply ship.

Lieut. Irving R. Chambers, who was in command of the ill-fated submarine R-6 when that vessel sank in Los Angeles Harbor on September 26, last, with the loss of two men, has been detached from that vessel and ordered to take command of the submarine S-31, one of Uncle Sam's newest and biggest undersea boats. Lieut. Chambers is succeeded in command of the R-6 by Lieut. James M. Steele, of the Submarine Base at the harbor.

Another promotion in responsibility, if not in rank, has come to Lieut. Edward E. Hazlett, Jr., in command of submarine R-8, who has been directed to take command of submarine S-32 at San Francisco. He will be relieved of his old command by Lieut. Bertram J. Rodgers, now commanding the H-8, attached to the reserve division at the Submarine Base.

The new commander of the H-8 will be Lieut. Gustave H. Bowman, attached to the Submarine Base.

The entire ten units of the Pacific battle force, headed by the commander-in-chief's flagship, the California, put out to sea again early yesterday morning for long-range battle practice rehearsals.

WALTER TO FACE M'HUGH.

Veteran to Wage Battle Against Youth in Finals of Northern Golf Tourney at Lakeside.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 28.—Veteran and youngster will contest the finals of the Northern California golf championship at Lakeside tomorrow—Dr. Charles H. Walter, aged 57, against John J. McHugh, just 18 years old. One veteran and one youth were defeated in today's semifinals, Jack Neville succumbing to McHugh after a splendid match which went to the thirty-ninth hole, and Dr. Walter beating his high school opponent, Loreen Upson, at three-quarters of the distance.

"It's aye the putting," as one wise Scot long ago remarked about golf and Neville once more, with the 200 spectators who witnessed the finish, realized this truth. Neville had the match cinched at the first extra hole when he was comfortably on the green from a splendid drive and a well placed second, while McHugh had to play two more. Neville left himself a four-foot putt and missed. Then the former champion recovered well from a missed second at the thirty-eighth and got a half, only to lose the next hole by missing a three-foot putt.

A CAPITAL MATCH.

But it was a capital match in which Neville staged a strong come back, after being 3 down on the morning's round and still with that deficit at the twenty-seventh McHugh had a 75 for the morning, but both played mediocre golf for the first nine holes after lunch. Then Neville played with steady brilliance, making the last nine in exactly par and winding up with a birdie to square the match on the home green. Neville's recovery from a bush on the thirteenth hole was the best bit of golf of the day. Both almost holed birdies at the thirty-fourth and both were within an inch of a win at the thirty-fifth.

Neville was outhitting the youngster from the tee all day, but the deadly accuracy of McHugh's short approaches, backed by very sound putting more than equalized the advantage.

Dr. Walter was still playing the soundest golf. He had a par score in the morning, which put young Upson five holes in arrears and was again out in par 37 in the afternoon, adding four more holes to his credit.

FIGHT FOR CUP.

Johnnie Levison and Charley Foley will fight out the final of the President's cup flight. The summary follows:

CHAMPIONSHIP, SEMIFINALS.

John J. McHugh defeated John F. Neville at the twenty-ninth.

Dr. C. H. Walter defeated Loreen Upson, 9 and 7.

PRESIDENT'S CUP, SEMIFINALS.

John G. Levison defeated F. H. Dalley, 5 and 4.

Charles F. Foley won from Robert L. Coleman, Jr., by default.

Now and then a young player goes direct from the sandlots of Los Angeles to win possibly more than fleeting fame in the majors without serving an apprenticeship in the majors. Art Shafer and Fred Snodgrass took the short cut.

Still others, not ripe for class AA company, seek schooling in lesser leagues, graduating thence to the big leagues. Pete Schneider was one of these. Pete in his boyhood was denied admission to Coast League clubs.

A still more recent example is Floyd Caves Herman of this city, who has been making quite a stir in the Detroit training camp at Augusta, Ga. Floyd went begging for a job in the P.C.L. last season. Being given the marble mitt, he trekked off to Edmonton, in the Western Canada League, where he found employment at first base under Glittering Gus Gleichman. At the end of the season he was sold to Detroit.

For one reason or another, or possibly several reasons, he seems to be the talk of the Tiger camp. An anonymous eastern writer devotes a column to Herman, treating him rather lightly in spots, it is true. But that is some space to be grabbed off by a busher. As it concerns one of our products, we will reprint it, in part:

"Eddie Herr, Detroit scout, dug up a young first baseman last season named Herman. Eddie didn't even know the rest of his name. All that he knew was that Herman looked big and strong, could field and hit. Also that he had come originally from the sandlots of Los Angeles. But already the youngster has made his mark in the training camp, and the scribes even have taken the trouble to learn his full name, which is some compliment to the rookie.

"He has gotten his name in the newspapers for two reasons—the size of the bat he brought along and his confident assurance that he can smack the ball with it.

"Herman brought with him a bat weighing fifty-six ounces wrapped in California newspapers. Previous to the arrival of Floyd Caves Herman at Augusta there was but one other man in the majors who carried a bat weighing fifty-six ounces, and that was George Herman Ruth. These two men now have something in common.

"Herman doesn't expect to get along with one bat weighing fifty-six ounces. He needs several. Before leaving Glendale, Cal., he ordered six of them, but found the package a trifle unhandy for long-distance travel, so he had them expressed. They will arrive in a few days.

"If anything should happen to Herman's fifty-six-ounce bats it would seriously interfere with his side of the case, and the case happens to be Herman vs. the Detroit Baseball Company.

"When Frank Navin sent Floyd Caves Herman a baseball contract Floyd did not care for the figures. He simply sent that contract back and told Mr. Navin that the salary did not satisfy. Herman looked in the mail box daily, but no letter from the Detroit club arrived. He thought he would jog up Mr. Navin's memory and sent him a telegram. Herman got a reply next day. It read: 'Letter on way.'

"Then came another telegram to California which read: 'Join Detroit club at Augusta.' Herman promptly wired back: 'Shall I wait for letter or start without it?' and he got this answer: 'Never mind letter, but start for Georgia. We will fix up another letter for you down there.'

"So Herman boarded the train with his bat and pipe.

"Herman admits being a holdout, but is quite certain the Detroit club will see things his way and that his demands will be graciously met. That is why he lugged his fifty-six-ounce bat all the way from Glendale, Cal., to Augusta, Ga. And that is why there are six more fifty-six-ounce bats on the way.

"'I'm not worried in the least,' said Herman. 'After I start poling them out, there won't be any trouble.'

"Herman is rather cute. When he broke in with Edmonton last season the owner told him that if he finished the race batting better than .300 he would pay his expenses back to Glendale. 'Fair enough,' quoth Herman.

"When Edmonton started its last road trip Herman was hitting .330. He got into a slump, and when the team arrived home his average had shrunk to .318. Edmonton is a long, long way from Glendale; there are thousands of railroad ties between Edmonton and Glendale, and Herman was broke. So Herman suddenly developed a bad ankle or something and couldn't get into the game during the club's final home stay. Thus he finished the season hitting .318. Not bad.

"Herman is 6 feet tall and weighs nearly 200 pounds. He does not look his weight. He has good shoulders, the kind a slugger must have, and huge hands. His hands look almost as big as Brick Muller's, whose mitts are the largest in all sportsdom. Everybody who has seen Herman bat say he should be among the greatest sluggers in baseball. With a few more years he will be a powerful giant. He plays first base when the weather is hot and will accept an outfield job in cool weather. He says the outfield is no place for a ball player in hot weather. If the Detroit club meets his terms Detroit is likely to view Herman in action. We have Herman's word for that."

Quite an introduction into the majors for our young hero.

DEMON PILOTS BURN UP TRACK.

Eight Drivers Practice for Sunday Sprints.

Pietro Bordino Does 117 on Beverly Speedway.

Several Defer Grind Until Later in Week.

There were a lot of thrills put on in the practice spurts at the Speedway yesterday. Eight of the fast drivers who are to compete in the five dashes that go to make up the program scheduled for the Beverly course next Sunday afternoon, were out with all the speed at their command; and the rehearsal guarantees a fast session throughout the five events.

There was Jimmy Murphy with his Duesenberg doing laps consistently at 39.1 seconds, which means a speed of just a small fraction under 115 miles an hour. Harry Hartz was on hand with his Duesenberg and turned the course in 39.2 which is 114.1 when figured in miles per hour. Murphy and Hartz are to be two of the castor burners who are figured to put up a thrilling show for the race fans Sunday, as they were headliners in the recent race and their speed duel was one of the big features of the day.

Pietro Bordino was out again yesterday with the red Fiat and he did his usual speedy work, making 117 miles an hour without any difficulty. Bordino's driving shows great improvement, and when he meets the American champions in the special sprint race program Sunday he will be both a favorite on account of his past performances here and on account of the speed his car is known to have.

Tommy Milton, the national champion, will not get out for practice until the last of the week; but he doesn't need the practice like some of the others do. He admits that the great Italian speed hero has about five miles an hour more speed than his Durant Special, but Milton depends on his driving ability to make up for the slight lack of speed.

Art Klein was out and did 39.2 seconds which puts him in the same class with the best of the boys. Klein is one of the most spectacular of all the drivers, and while he is not any more anxious to dare the dangers of the sprints than the rest of the pilots, he has had more experience than the most of them.

HARDING WON'T GO ON STUMP.

Recalls Famous Letter of President Wilson.

Congressional Candidates to Fight Own Battles.

Executive Feels Incumbents Have Been Small Help.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, March 28.—Recalling with vivid recollection what the letter of President Wilson issued in October, 1918, calling for the election of none but Democrats, did too his party, President Harding will decline to participate actively in the senatorial and congressional campaign this summer and fall.

It congress will adjourn early enough the President will spend much of the time of the campaign in a trip to Alaska and the Pacific coast studying the particular problems of this great undeveloped territory in the northwest and getting acquainted with the people in the three great coast States.

LITTLE SERVICE RENDERED.

Even if he had not President Wilson's melancholy experiment in mind there is little reason why President Harding should get excited about reelection of a congress which has rendered him as little service as has this one. Whatever credit the administration has achieved so far it has been in spite of the House of Representatives and to some degree in spite of a faction of the Senate.

President Harding is good natured and long-suffering and would not be the one to start a fight but no one who has watched the year or more since he took office blame him for his inability to wax enthusiastic over the congressional election.

To his friends President Harding has made it clear that he will not take part in the campaign now about to open and aside from believing that the chief executive should not take the stump in a partisan spirit he cannot make himself feel grateful to some of the men who have prevented him from fulfilling pre-campaign promises and enacting into law planks in the party platform.

STRONG PARTY MOVE.

President Harding has always been a party man and believes in party leadership and responsibility. His conception of the office of President does not include any attempt at domination by the chief executive as an active partisan influence in the campaign and every time he is urged to become active in this campaign he harks back to that boomerang letter sent out in October by Woodrow Wilson and shakes his head politely but firmly.

There are no candidates up for reelection in Alaska and the problems there are very great and pressing. A satisfactory inspection of that country and a visit to the Pacific coast will consume several weeks, starting in about July 15.

COMPLETE PLANS FOR GENOA CONFERENCE.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

LONDON, March 28.—The Allied experts who have been meeting in London for the past week to prepare plans for the Genoa conference, completed their work today and will submit reports to their respective governments.

Francisco Giannini, the principal Italian expert, started for Genoa tonight to superintend the final arrangements for the conference.

PACKAGE ON WAY FOR TEN YEARS.

Photographs Finally Are Delivered to Oregon Man by Mail.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SALEM (Or.) March 28. J. R. Luper of the State Engineer's office yesterday received a package of photographs which were mailed to him at a little town some 200 miles away in Eastern Oregon nearly ten years ago. There was nothing on the package to indicate where it had been since being placed in the mails.

SINGING HORSE NO DEFENSE IN MURDER.

PRISONER SAYS CAT DANCED JIG ON NIGHT HE KILLED HIS CELLMATE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SACRAMENTO, March 28.—Although the defendant claims he was suffering from delirium tremens severe enough to make him imagine he heard a horse singing "Casey Jones," and saw a cat "dancing the jig," the Third District Court of Appeal today held that Michael Crimmin was not justified in killing his cellmate in the Stockton City Jail on the night of March 18, 1921.

Crimmin appealed from the verdict of the Superior Court jury, as he alleged he was insane from intoxication on the night of the homicide.

In urging this as a ground for reversal, Crimmin's attorney set forth the following:

"That for ten days prior to the killing, Crimmin had been drinking poisonous alcohol, lemon extract, jamaica ginger and wintergreen," that on the night of the homicide he heard a horse singing "Casey Jones," saw a "cat dancing a jig," and "noticed rats and swarms of red ants."

MARY MILES MINTER'S DOG KICKED AROUND.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

HONOLULU, March 28.—Mary Miles Minter's Japanese sleeve dog, said to be worth $2000, which missed the boat when the moving-picture actress sailed for Hawaii, arrived here today on the liner Matsonia, but it will be some time before the oriental canine nestles in the film queen's sleeve.

Health officials announced that, following the usual practice, the dog will be held in quarantine for thirty-six days, which will make its date of release coincident with that on which Miss Minter plans to return to the mainland.

RADIUM STOLEN FROM HOSPITAL RECOVERED

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

TORONTO, March 28.—Radium valued at $20,000, stolen from the side of a patient in the Hamilton (Ont.) city hospital, while he was unconscious, has been located in Syracuse, N. Y., it was learned today.

It was at first thought that the radium has been lost in the hospital and an expert from Pittsburg made a vain search of the city's sewers.

NEW IDEA IS HARD ON FLAPPERS.

Mosquero, N. M., Men Have Organization That Bans All Latest Stunts.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

LAS VEGAS (N. M.) March 28. New in thought, as well as existence, is the county seat of Harding county, New Mexico, a town of several hundred population, and going under the name of Mosquero. What is believed to be the first organization of its kind in the United States has been launched there with the avowed purpose of eliminating the flapper from the matrimonial race. The organization starts with a membership of fifty—practically every young man in the town eligible to take unto himself a bride.

The rules of the organization taboo the following: Immodest dancing, bobbed hair, face painting, too short dresses and rolled hose.

Each member, and the membership list contains the names of all classes of young men from laborers to the wealthiest boys of the town, is pledged to boycott any girl transgressing any of the above rules.

Membership fee is $5. The money thus secured is to be used in buying presents for the first man lucky enough to marry under the restrictions of the club.

DAUGHERTY AGAINST THE CIVIL SERVICE.

SAYS ORGANIZATION IS A HINDRANCE TO GOVERNMENT.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, March 28.—Belief that the civil service is a hindrance to government efficiency and civil service employees are not as energetic as others was expressed by Atty.-Gen. Daugherty, testifying recently before the House Appropriations Committee.

"It is probably a gratuitous suggestion, but I believe the civil service is an interference to some extent in the discharge of public business," said the Attorney-General, as quoted in the printed record of the hearing.

"I believe that if it were not for the civil service we could get along with less than two-thirds of the number of employees under civil service and probably get twice as much work out of them."

Asked by a member to explain just how that might be done, Mr. Daugherty said: "I suppose the Department of Justice has as good employees and as faithful as any other department, but they are not as anxious generally to be in place to commence work on the dot as they are to quit work before the dot. I do not speak for the administration, but I am giving you the benefit of my observation.

"I discovered both before I came here as Attorney-General and since, that civil-service employees spend too much time in trying to work out plans to make themselves secure in their position. While this situation cannot be remedied at the present time, still it is worthy of careful study."

GOVERNOR WISHES HE WAS BACK IN ALASKA.

EASTERN WEATHER PROVES TOO COLD FOR NORTHERN EXECUTIVE.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, March 28.—Gov. Bone fo Alaska hugged the steam radiator at his hotel today and sighed for the balmy climate of his Alaskan home. He had just arrived from New York on his way West and says he encountered bad weather all the way.

"It's so penetrating—this dampness," said the Governor. "Now in Alaska we had a most pleasant winter. The lowest temperature at Juneau was zero. Of course, that's the southern part, but Alaska is much more pleasant than people think. All I've seen for days in this country is rain—cold drizzling rain, and the chill penetrates one's very bones."

HARDING MINIMIZES ROW IN TREASURY.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, March 28.—Reports of friction between Assistant Secretary Dover of the Treasury and Commissioner Blair of the Internal Revenue Department, relative to reorganization of the Revenue Bureau, are not regarded as serious by President Harding, it was said today at the White House.

The President was said to look on the disagreement between the two officials as the product of publicity rather than facts.

LILLIAN RUSSELL BACK FROM JUNKETING TRIP

WASHINGTON, March 28.—Mrs. A. P. Moore of Pittsburg, formerly Lillian Russell, arrived in Washington today to present her report as a special United States immigration inspector to Secretary Davis.

Mrs. Moore in an extended tour of Europe made a study of the influences which are causing the migration to the United States of large numbers of Europeans and of the character of the populations which have furnished the immigrants. It is understood that her conclusions are in support of a policy of increasing restrictions.

TO BUILD UP REDS' NAVY.

Trotzky Issues Orders to Recondition Warships and Makes Inducements for Sailors to Return.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, March 28.—The navy of soviet Russia is to be greatly strengthened, according to Leon Trotzky, the belligerent head of the soviet war council. Advices reaching here today from Moscow through official circles are to the effect that Trotzky has just issued orders for the rehabilitation of the Russian navy, and warships which for months have been rotting at their piers are to be reconditioned and put into commission.

Realizing the necessity of having trained personnel Trotzky is making a systematic effort to get back into naval service officers and men of the old Czarist regime. Many of these have gone into other professions or into the army, and a considerable number have left the country. Unusual inducements in the way of better food and better conditions of service are offered to get these experienced sailors back.

PURPOSE NOT CLEAR.

The purpose of Trotzky's determination to but the navy back on an efficient basis is not entirely clear. It is said that it may be merely a plan for strengthening offensive and defensive power of soviet Russia along the lines recently laid down by Trotzky in his speeches to the Red armies.

His ideas about the necessity of an efficient navy are very definite, however. Speaking on this subject, he said that soviet Russia "might have powerful fleets for offensive purposes." These fleets also must be ready for defensive work should "capitalism and the navies of capitalism make it necessary."

Coming on the heels of his tirade against Japan, and his declaration that war between soviet Russia and Japan is inevitable, it is assumed that Trotzky's naval preparations are directed mainly toward the island empire. As head of the "Ravvoen soviet," or military war council, Trotzky is commender-in-chief of the navy as well as the army, and therefore, is responsible for all plans of offense or defense. Directly under him is a soviet commissar for the navy.

SENATE IN FRANCE DISCUSSES BUDGET.

EXPENSES RECOVERABLE FROM GERMANY ARE BEFORE LAWMAKERS.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

PARIS, March 28.—When debate was resumed in the Senate today on the question of budget expenses recoverable from Germany, Senator Fourment presented the Socialist view of the general financial problem concerning reparations, asking whether it was really necessary to keep 800,000 men under the colors. Was there not, he asked, a danger of giving France the semblance of militarism in the eyes of the world?

Senator Fourment advocated the suppression of bonds as a preventative of fiscal evasion, and the creation of an international fund with an international loan for the payment of pensions.

Former Minister of Finance Francoe Marsal, said the German government could exact delivery of foreign securities from its creditors, and that the Allies had a right to seize funds deposited in German banks and the receipts of German insurance companies. He declared Germany could supply raw materials to the Allies as well as coal, metals and potassium, or sell them abroad for the benefit of the Allies without depreciating the value of the mark.

RESOLUTION URGES NAVAL AIR BUREAU.

COMMERCIAL FLIERS REQUEST LIBERAL APPROPRIATION ALSO.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SIOUX CITY (Iowa) March 28. Establishment of a naval bureau of aviation by action of Congress and a liberal appropriation to support it was urged in resolutions adopted by the commercial air conference of the Seventh Corps area here this afternoon.

The resolutions point with pride to the achievements of American flyers during the World War, and urge a liberal appropriation for extension of the service.

Further reduction of the present personnel of the Air Service is opposed, and States and cities will be asked to establish landing fields.

WARDEN IS SUING FOR HIGHER SALARY.

SAN QUENTIN EXECUTIVE SAYS BOARD OF CONTROL IS WRONG.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, March 28.—Warden James A. Johnston of San Quentin prison announced here today that he had instructed his attorney to file a petition for a writ of mandate in the State Supreme Court to compel the State Board of Control to approve the recent raising of his salary by the State board of prison directors from $5000 a year to $6000.

The control board recently refused to honor warrants drawn for the higher salary on the ground that since his board, house, servants and other expenses were furnished by the State, his $5000 salary was net and should not be increased.

Johnston said today that he believed the fixing of his salary was entirely within the power of the prison board, and could not be regulated by the Board of Control.

TARIFF AND BONUS PROVE HUGE JOB.

SENATORS HAVE WORK CUT OUT FOR THEM FOR NEXT FEW WEEKS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, March 28.—While the Senate is digesting the 300-odd page tariff bill before it is formally called up on the floor, the Senate Finance Committee majority, under present plans, will have its wrestle with the compromise soldiers' bonus bill.

Probably one of the first steps in the consideration of the bonus will be a conference between the committee majority and the President. Before going ahead with the bill, some members want to learn definitely just what kind of measure will be satisfactory to the executive.

Because of the pressure of work in preparation of the tariff, most majority members of the Finance Committee have had little opportunity to give thought to the bonus legislation and are unprepared to express views on the House bill. One or two, however, say they are inclined to regard the Fordney measure as a "happy solution" of the bonus question.

WOMEN MEET IN PHOENIX.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PHOENIX (Ariz.) March 28.—The annual convention of the Arizona Federation of Women's Clubs is to be held in Kingman, early in April, with representatives present from about forty subordinate organizations, including district federations in the northern, central and southern sections of the State. The last was organized in Tucson only a month ago. Last year's State convention was held at Miami.

Will Fight Volstead Law.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, March 28.—The first battle of the Association Against Prohibition to elect members of Congress favorable to a liberalization of the Volstead Act will be waged in November in ten States. This organization, formed a year ago with Capt. W. H. Stayton as president, has over 300,000 members, including leading citizens in no way associated with the beer or whisky industry.

EAT THIS FOOD IF CONSTIPATED NATURE NEEDS NO OTHER HELP

Cereal Meal, the Ideal Health Food, Brings on Natural Bowel Movements.

Without Drugs, Exercise or Diet You Simply Eat Your Way Back to Health.

Go to Bed at Night for Sound Sleep Without Pill or Laxative to Disturb You.

In the Morning Nature Will Act as She Did When You Were a Kid on the Farm.

A nation of pill-users, that is what we are. Three-fourths of us are constipated—men, women and children—a serious condition due to our many food refinements. It is the food that does it—civilization has extracted too many necessary elements that Nature intended to be a part of our daily diet. All the drugs and pills in the world cannot restore these vitally necessary elements to our food—and this is why we GROW WORSE, year by year—NOT BETTER. Cereal Meal is a scientific health food without drugs that supplies the necessary missing elements to the food you are eating and Nature does the rest. Cereal Meal does not deserve too much credit—it is just Nature's trustworthy agent. In 24 hours the bowels become normal—the movements NATURAL and poison-removing. It takes you back to the time of your life when you never gave a thought to pills, laxatives, oils. Try it.

Cereal Meal, the Ideal Health Food, not only relieves constipation, but KEEPS the bowels working in a normal, natural manner—movements of the kind Nature intended you should have for good health.

Cereal Meal is delicious, wholesome, nutritious—and is for the entire family from the eldest member to the baby old enough to take solid food.

Eat Cereal Meal and there will be no more constipation—then naturally follows relief from indigestion, headaches, fermentation, chronic appendicitis, dull eyes and sallow complexion, much nervousness, these symptoms and conditions, as a rule, being but secondary to constipation.

Instead of taking pills, laxatives and oils—drugs—that bring bowel movements by irritation, you merely substitute Cereal Meal for the cereal you may be accustomed to eating for breakfast. This is all YOU do—you need not worry—you need not look for a new kind of "physic"—you will not have any griping or distress—you can simply forget that you ever were constipated, for Cereal Meal will return your bowel machinery to perfect working order, and will not WEAR OUT.

If you reside in Los Angeles, purchase a package of Cereal Meal, TODAY, at any Owl Drug Store and you will not regret your purchase. In Pasadena and Venice of the Owl Drug Stores. Ventura, J. S. Blackstock.

Dealers supplied by the Brunswig Drug Co. or Western Wholesale Drug Co., Los Angeles.

Many dealers in the smaller towns have not yet stocked Cereal Meal. If your dealer has none, write direct to The Cereal Meal Corp., 125 Fifteenth St., Denver, Colo., for the address of your nearest dealer, a free booklet on constipation, prices and full particulars.—[Advertisement.

Are Your Days a Pleasure? Health Will Make Them So

East Bakersfield, Cal.—"For several years past, Dr. Pierce's medicines have been the means of keeping me in good health. I was suffering with feminine weakness, inflammation and a catarrhal condition, also my back ached. I became weak and so nervous I could not sleep; was feeling so miserable that I was scarcely able to get around. I saw Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription advertised and decided to take it and it so completely cured me of my weakness and built me up into such splendid health and strength that I have depended on it to keep me well ever since that time. Whenever I feel the least bit rundown I take a bottle of the 'Favorite Prescription,' and it builds me right up in health. It just seems to give me a new lease on life. I can also recommend Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery as a spring tonic and blood purifier and find it equally as good as the Favorite Prescription."—Mrs. Mary Wagner, 1007 Sumner Street.

"Diapepsin" for Bad Stomach, Indigestion

Take "Pape's Diapepsin" now: in five minutes your stomach feels fine. Don't bother what upset your stomach or which portion of the food did the damage. If your stomach is sour, gassy and upset, and what you just ate has fermented into stubborn lumps; head dizzy and aches; you belch gases and acids and eructuate undigested food—just take a little Pape's Diapepsin and in five minutes you wonder what became of the indigestion and distress. Millions of men and women today know that is needless to have a bad stomach. A little Diapepsin occasionally keeps this delicate organ regulated and they eat their favorite foods without fear. If your stomach doesn't take care of your liberal limit without rebellion; if your food is a damage instead of a help, remember the quickest, surest, most harmless antacid is Pape's Diapepsin, which costs only sixty cents for a large case at drug stores.—[Advertisement.

ILLINOIS WAGE MEETING TODAY.

Miners and Operators to Discuss Scale.

Little Hope for Amicable Agreement.

Lewis Predicts Nonunion Men to Strike.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, March 28.—Illinois miners and coal operators will meet here tomorrow in a wage scale conference in conformity with their expiring contract. Neither side, however, expects an agreement to result.

Frank Farrington, president of the miners of the State, called the meeting to carry out his expressed intention of abiding by the present contract, but in view of the decision of the international policy committee of the union not to sanction separate State wage agreements, operators today said they had no hope of averting the walkout set for Saturday morning.

LEWIS PREDICTS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SPRINGFIELD, March 28.—Nonunion coal miners in both anthracite and bituminous fields will join in large numbers with union miners in the coal strike April 1, John L. Lewis, international president of the United Mine Workers predicted today.

In a statement Mr. Lewis said: "There is no change in the mining situation. My reports from all sections of the country indicate that the organized mine workers and a great number of unorganized miners will cease work on April 1. This will include the anthracite and bituminous fields and is indicative of wonderful unity of thought and steadfast purpose among the mine workers of the country. The mine workers have no alternative but to take this action. The situation is forced upon them by the arbitrary action of the coal operators and the American public may well place the responsibility where it properly belongs."

OPEN SHOP NOT AN ISSUE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

COLUMBUS, March 28.—The open ship is not an issue in the present mine controversy, according to a statement issued here tonight by the Southern Ohio Coal Exchange, an organization of operators of the Hocking and adjacent fields.

In past scale meetings, the statement says, miners always have been represented by officers of the United Mine Workers, and no other method of making agreements is contemplated.

TROUBLE AHEAD.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

DENVER, March 28.—District attorneys in Colorado counties where coal mines are located have been asked to start criminal proceedings against all miners in their counties who quit work April 1, without giving thirty days notice of intention to do so, as required by a State law, according to William L. Reilly, a member of the State Industrial Commission. He said the commission had sent letters to all district attorneys requesting them to enforce the law requiring the giving of notice of intention to quit.

MINERS EJECTED.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, March 28.—Atty.-Gen. Daugherty asked Secretary Davis to send a representative of the Labor Department to Charlestown, W. Va., to investigate reports of the ejection of miners from their homes by operators.

Mr. Daugherty said he received a telegram from Charlestown, signed by ten miners' union officials declaring that miners were ejected from their homes and asking that the government provide them with tents for shelter.

WOMAN POLICEMAN MUST STAND TRIAL.

ONLY FEMALE LIEUTENANT IN CAPITAL REFUSED TO OBEY ORDRS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, March 28.—Mrs. C. Van Winkle, the only woman holding the rank of lieutenant in the Washington police department, must stand trial on charges of conduct "prejudicial to the good order, reputation and discipline of the department," as a result of delay recently in releasing two runaway girls from Brooklyn, N. Y., who were arrested here.

Mrs. Van Winkle was ordered by her superior officer to release the girls, but declined, pending an investigation of the conduct of the girls by the woman's bureau, of which she is the head.

Mrs. Van Winkle was appointed to the police force by the late Supt. Pullman, several years ago.

HOSPITALS WILL BE TRANSFERRED SOON.

VETERANS' BUREAU LIKELY TO GET SIXTY, ACCORDING TO ADVICES.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, March 28.—Transfer by Presidential order of sixty Public Health Service hospitals to the Veterans' Bureau, as requested by Director Forbes, will probably be made as soon as the disposition of the medical services for the treatment of disabled veterans is determined, it was indicated today at the White House.

President Harding was reported as favoring the transfer, as well as Director Forbes and Surgeon-General Cummings, of the Public Health Service.

Approximately 1000 reserve medical officers of the Public Health Service are expected to be transferred to the jurisdiction of the Veterans' Bureau with the hospitals.

Bay City Just Hearing About Volstead Law

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN FRANCISCO, March 28.—Ordinarily San Francisco is not so slow but it is just catching up with the knowledge that certain persons in the East passed a law known as the Volstead act, and the people hereabouts are asking what it is all about.

Up to a few days ago, San Francisco, which is considerable of a law unto itself, "went on drinking as usual." Prohibition officers now and then "knocked a place over," as the saying out here goes, but they never went out with a sponge or a glint in the eye. As much liquor came in as before, dumped off down the peninsula, transported in trucks across the bay and shipped in a thousand different ways.

But all this is changing now—slowly but surely changing. The change was felt immediately after the raids at Miami, Fla., which hooked a number of prominent people including a banker. Just what the connection is between the Miami raids and the awakening in San Francisco is not clear, but there is a connection.

Also there is a new prohibition officer on the job, a civil service man named Samuel F. Rutter. Abatement proceedings, the first known to California, have been started or prepared against ten well known cafes and bars that have been openly selling good liquor and hootch. When proceedings were started against the best known gin parlor along the Pacific Coast, a bar on Post street, famous since prohibition from Tijuana to Seattle, rum hounds congregated on the streets and wept bitterly.

LEAGUE TO BE PUT UNDER MICROSCOPE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, March 28.—Some sort of investigation of the Constitutional League of America will be undertaken by the Department of Justice, Atty.-Gen. Daugherty said today.

The Attorney-General, in making his announcement, said that the decision had in no way resulted from the charges and request for investigation recently made on behalf of the Anti-Saloon League of New York by Supt. Anderson.

QUIT MEAT WHEN KIDNEYS BOTHER

Take a glass of Salts if your Back hurts or Bladder troubles you.

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which excites the kidneys, they become overworked from the strain, get sluggish and fail to filter the waste and poisons from the Blood, then we get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, dizziness, sleeplessness and urinary disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, stop eating meat and get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast and in a few days your kidneys will act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate the kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications.—[Advertisement.

ARIZONA STATE OFFICE IS SAFE.

Immigration Commissioner to Stay on Job.

Senate Again Refuses to Abolish Post.

New Transportation Tax Bill Offered.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PHOENIX, March 28.—By a strict party vote and a Republican majority of one, the Senate this morning refused reconsideration of its action of yesterday, and thus continued the office of Commissioner of Immigration.

The Kimball paving bill was reenacted in the House by unanimous vote and in short order, but went to the regular course in the Senate.

PASSES BOTH HOUSES.

Both Houses have passed House Bill 63, extending the scope of reclamation districts and associations. It was stated that the bill is for the specific purpose of legalizing an extension of operations of the Salt River Valley Water Users' Association, under which the Roosevelt Dam is to be raised in height and power dams placed on the Salt River at Mormon Flat and Fish Creek. Mining corporations are reported ready to advance the necessary money, to be repaid in use of power to be generated.

The Senate amended Scott's corporation bill. It permits issuance of stock without any nominal or par value, with valuation to be made by the Corporation Commission in the event there shall be doubt when there is approached a two-thirds limit of indebtedness.

NEW TAX BILL.

Senators Wilkinson and Elliott sponsor a new bill, that calls for a 20 per cent tax on the gross income of all transportation companies operating on State highways, to be returned to the counties on the basis of the mileage traversed in each county.

The House refused to accept a Senate amendment that would divert the 1-cent gasoline tax to road maintenance and construction.

There was final agreement in the Senate to place in the finance code an appropriation of $25 from the State for each school pupil, while the University of Arizona was given an unspecified rate, to be determined by its necessities in the future.

GILBERT B. DANIELS TO WED MRS. CARR.

STATE BOARD OF CONTROL CHAIRMAN SPRINGS SURPRISE ON FRIENDS.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SACRAMENTO, March 28. — State officials today were surprised by the news that Gilbert B. Daniels, chairman of the State Board of Control, and veteran newspaper publisher of California, will marry Mrs. Alicia Scott Carr, widow of the late Dr. G. B. Carr of this city. Daniels said the wedding would take place next week, but declined to mention the exact date or place. The honeymoon will be spent in Southern California.

Daniels is one of the best known officials in the State service and formerly was owner of an Oakland newspaper. He became identified with the present administration when he was appointed superintendent of the Motor Vehicle Department by Gov. Stephens.

Later he was named State Market Director and a few days later was promoted to his present position as chairman of the State Board of Control. Daniels is a widower, his wife having died several months ago.

"PRESENTER" IS HELD ON FORGERY CHARGE

UTTERED WORTHLESS CHECK ON FRESNO BANK, STATES INDICTMENT.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, March 28.—Mil Franklin Kline, known as a "presenter" of theatrical attractions, was indicted yesterday by the grand jury on a charge of forgery. It is alleged that he forged a check for $485 on a bank of Fresno and uttered the same as genuine to Mrs. Mary D. Chahoon, a wealthy resident of Philadelphia, who was staying in Washington.

Kline was in difficulty with the Internal Revenue Bureau last fall, and on being indicted for selling tickets without paying the revenue tax thereon, was brought here from Beaumont, Tex. He gave bail and the case is set for trial tomorrow. The last heard from Kline, it is stated, was from Montreal.

According to the police, Kline borrowed $50 from Mrs. Chahoon, promising to repay her in thirty days. Two weeks later he returned the money by getting her to cash the alleged bogus check for $485 and give him the difference.

JAZZ DEFENDED BY PARISIAN COMPOSER.

SAYS EUROPE RECOGNIZES NEW FORM OF MUSICAD ART.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, March 28.—Out of all the babel of voices denouncing jazz music and demanding its abolition comes one of defense, from M. Lucien Boyer, who has translated 4000 American songs into French and who has composed many more.

With many gestures M. Boyer paid his respects to American jazz.

"The Parisian believes jazz is a new way of making noise to rhythm," he explained. "It was originally a return to barbarism—an African folly, but now it is toned down and is recognized in Europe as a new form of musical art.

"Will jazz endure?" he was asked.

"In America nothing is forever. That is because in America woman is queen and with women all things are unstable."

DOESN'T LIKE ICE WATER.

So German Envoy Will Bring His Own Selection of Good Wines.

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

BERLIN, March 28.—"There is no justification for the existence of ice water. During the three months I was in America in the spring of 1914, ice water was the only American institution I learned cordially to detest," said Otto Wiedfeldt, the new Ambassador to the United States, in discussing his preparations for traveling to Washington in April. "You can be certain a large selection of choice Rhine and Moselle vintages will accompany me."

GERMAN SEA TRADE NOW BREAKING EVEN.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

BERLIN, March 28. — German foreign shipping has arrived at a point where receipts just about cover expenditures, Karl Stimming, a director of the North German Lloyd Steamship Company, today told the delegates to a joint convention of the German Nautical Society and the Maritime League.

Herr Stimming saw slight prospects of putting German shipping on a paying basis "because of the fact that the United States, in order to retain her shipping trade acquired during the war, is able and willing to operate along lines which are at variance with economic principles."

HARDING HAS FAITH IN BUDGET SYSTEM.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, March 28. — President Harding will insist on a fair trial for the budget system, it was made known today at the White House.

Despite Congressional changes in estimates for appropriations prepared by the budget bureau, the President was reported as believing that the system would be productive of immeasurable good.

UNION NOW TRYING TO RUN PAPERS

West Virginia Branch Issues Notice That Owner of Mail Spikes Quickly.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHARLESTON (W. Va.) March 28.—Members of the Charleston branch of the Typographical Union employed by newspapers here have been instructed by the union to refuse to put into type anything reflecting upon any other member of the union unless assurance had been given that the member would receive ample newspaper space for his own defense. The resolutions, recently adopted by the union, were made public today.

The Charleston Daily Mail, printing the resolution, added a note in which it said the paper would "continue to be edited as heretofore; a free press by and under the direction of its owner, without condition of censorship of any kind imposed by others."

The union resolution declared that the Charleston Mail and the Charleston Gazette "have loaned their news columns apparently into the conspiracy to inflame the public mind against Frank W. Snyder." Snyder, a union member, drew adverse comment recently from a number of Charleston fraternal organizations for remarks he was said to have made at a union labor mass meeting.

HOME BUYERS WANT COMMODIOUS CELLARS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, March 28. — House sellers are paying more attention to cellars this year than ever before, according to exhibitors at Chicago's second annual "own your home" exposition at the Coliseum. No 1922 house is considered complete without its workroom.

"Every man who looks over our plans evinces a lively interest in the layout of the cellar," one exhibitor says. "They all speak of needing room in the basement for a workroom, but when I ask them what kind of work they want to do they hedge."

DAILY TRADE TALK.

No More War Financing of Agriculture After July 1; History of Movement.

If banks or co-operative marketing associations hope to secure credit through the war finance corporation they must act before July 1. There may be an extension of time, but such consideration is in the hands of Congress and uncertain.

The purpose of Congress in passing the act by which credit is being extended to agriculturalists and livestock men through the War Finance Corporation, was to afford much needed financial assistance to these producers during the period of readjustment. Owing to the speed with which this aid had to be extended, the banks of the country were selected as the most suitable existing agencies through which the corporation might act. Accordingly, applications for loans must be made through a bank, banker, live stock loan company, trust company or associations of growers that hold produce for marketing.

Loans to individual growers are not made directly by the War Finance Corporation for the reason that such would require the building up of a large organization with a great expense and would delay just so much the distribution of the emergency credit that the corporation is now extending.

Remarkable good has been accomplished by the War Finance Corporation since it commenced to loan money in October of 1921 for agricultural purposes. The research department of the First National Bank of Los Angeles and the Los Angeles Trust & Savings Bank, reports that information which they have obtained shows that in the United States $187,500,000 has been loaned for agricultural purposes by the corporation.

The number of farmers who have been helped by these advances is very great. There have been 5200 advances made already but this does not indicate the number of persons who have been assisted, since a number of farmers may be included in one advance. In the corn belt, for instance, one advance involved some 174 farmers.

The total amount of money loaned through the Agricultural Loan Agency in Los Angeles, the agency of the War Finance Corporation, is in the neighborhood of $5,000,000. There are thirty-three such agencies in the United States. The Los Angeles agency covers only the territory south of Fresno county in California and the State of Arizona with the exception of two counties, Apache and Navajo.

The Los Angeles Agricultural Loan agency is not limited in the amount of money it may recommend to be loaned upon the proper security, and will accept additional applications, but no advances of money can be made after July 1, 1922.

The procedure in making an application for a loan has been made conveniently simple. If a bank, banker or trust company has made or contemplates making loans for agricultural or live stock purposes—that is for any purpose connected with the growing, harvesting, preparation for market, and marketing—it may receive from the War Finance Corporation an advance of money upon the putting up of such paper, or any other paper that they wish to submit which shall prove acceptable. Associations of growers holding produce in their possession for marketing may receive advances from the corporation upon a basis similar to that applied to banks.

The money loaned is for various periods of time, none longer than one year. The banking or loan concern making the application is allowed for its expenses and guaranty of the paper a margin of 2 per cent in excess of the rate of interest charged by the corporation at the time the loan is made.

Application forms may be obtained by banks and loan concerns from any Federal Reserve bank or branch bank, from the War Finance Corporation, Washington, D. C., or from the Los Angeles Agricultural Loan Agency of the War Finance Corporation, the headquarters of which are in the Pacific Electric Building, in charge of DeWitt Knox, room 390, while applications to be made by co-operative marketing associations are to be obtained from War Finance Corporation direct.

It is frequently reported that the improvement in the last few months in general conditions has been because of the loaning of money to agriculturalists and live stock men, who were thus able to hold their crops—and were saved from sacrificing their produce upon a market that was glutted because of the pressure that creditors were bringing upon the farmers. The prices of agricultural products have been steadied and more reasonable returns secured for those products which would have otherwise sold below cost of production.

Eugene Meyer, Jr., managing director of the War Finance Corporatibn, who has been making a tour of the country, looking into the work of the various local agencies, will arrive in Los Angeles about the first of April to go over the work of the Los Angeles agency.

BUSINESS NEWS.

Many New Issues Gladden Bond Men; Bank Debits React to City's Advantage.

The appearance of several new issues brightened the horizon of local bond men yesterday. Investment bankers have been bewailing the fact recently that the new financing coming to hand was insufficient to satisfy the public's insistent demand for bonds. Many bond men have said that it is harder to buy bonds nowadays than it is to sell them. Consequently, yesterday's heavy volume of new offerings was particularly welcome, and will serve to partly appease the appetites of the bond-hungry dealers.

The largest of the new issues was one of $7,500,000 Delaware and Hudson, fifteen-year, 5½ per cent bonds, which was offered by a Kuhn, Loeb, National City Company syndicate, at 98, to yield 5.70 per cent. The issue is redeemable as a whole after 1932, at 105, with the premium declining ½ of 1 per cent each six months thereafter. The bonds are a general obligation of the road, which has a long-standing reputation as a heavy dividend payer.

A Halsey, Stuart syndicate offered $5,000,000 Mengel Company first mortgage 7 per cent serial gold bonds, due from 1924 to 1932 at prices ranging from par to 99 1-4. Net earnings of this company have averaged approximately three times interest charges during the past six years. The bonds are a first mortgage lien on fixed assets appraised at over $7,000,000.

Los Angeles furnished the only municipal financing of the day when an offering of $3,715,000 of this city's 5 per cent bonds was offered by the National City Company to yield from 4.60 to 4.50 per cent, according to the various maturities ranging from 1926 to 1961. This offering was part of an old issue of electric lighting plant bonds. Its legality has been approved by John C. Thompson of New York.

An issue of $4,500,000 Whitaker-Glessner Company first mortgage 6 per cent sinking fund gold bonds, due 1941 at 99 3-4, to yield more than 6 per cent, was offered by the National City Company and Lee, Higginson & Co. The issue is callable at 105 on any interest date. The Whitaker-Glessner Company owns five steel manufacturing plants in Virginia and Ohio, with total net assets of $20,576,837, or more than 4 1-4 times the $7,188,000 total funded debt, including this issue. Net earnings have averaged more than eight times interest charges.

Another National City and Lee, Higginson issue was that of $4,000,000 La Belle Iron Works first and refunding mortgage, 6 per cent gold bonds, due 1940, which was priced at 99 3-4 to yield over 6 per cent. This issue is callable at 105. The main plant of the company is located at Steubenville, O. Total net assets of the company are equivalent to 5.4 times the total funded debt, while average net earnings have been seven times interest charges.

BANK DEBITS.

The Los Angeles Clearinghouse announced the totals of debits to individual accounts on local banks for the first time yesterday. Due to the complicated book-keeping system required for the compilation of these figures, the totals will be one day late in appearing. From the indication of the first day's figures, the new clearinghouse method will result in Los Angeles having larger totals than under the old system of compiling only clearances between banks.

Under the new method the local total on Monday was $18,376,375, compared to $14,595,927.47 under the old. This is due to the fact that Los Angeles is a city of large merged banking systems and a great number of checks are written on and cashed in the same bank, without appearing in the ordinary clearinghouse totals. The new system will, as a result, furnish a much more accurate barometer of business conditions and give Los Angeles a fairer showing with other cities. The local clearinghouse intends to make public from day to day both the interbank clearances and the bank debits.

NEW PAR VALUE.

The Standard Oil Company of Kentucky has decided to fall in line with most of the other Standard marketing companies and reduce the par value of its stock to $25 a share. The directors plan to issue a 3⅜ 1-3 per cent stock dividend and make an offer of stock at par to the existing stockholders equal to 33 1-3 per cent of their present holdings, as well as the reduction of the stock's par value. Blair & Company have acquired a block of 54,000 shares of $25 par value on a "when issued" basis. Subscriptions for this stock will open today at $76 per share.

CRARY TO MOVE.

A. H. Crary & Company will move on April 8 from their present address No. 110 West Fourth street to their new quarters No. 618 South Spring street. Larger space has been acquired at the new location which will permit the Crary firm to carry out their plans of expansion. Among the new features which will be added is a department for the handling of local listed and unlisted stocks in addition to the regular eastern wire services.

WESTERN MEAT ISSUE.

Bond & Goodwin & Tucker will offer today $500,000 Western Meat Company first mortgage ten-year 7 per cent sinking fund gold bonds at par. The bonds are redeemable at 105 after 1927, and thereafter at 1 per cent less for each succeeding year. The issue constitutes the only funded debt of the company, which is one of the leading meat packing concerns of the Pacific Coast, operating six branches at various California centers. Average net earnings of the company for the seventeen years prior to 1919 were four ad one-half times interest charges. Assets total $5,742,676.21.

German Marks Recover Slightly; Russian Crop Estimate for Year Is Low.

BY ALEXANDER DANA NOYES.
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, March 28.—On the stock exchange, today was marked by irregular recovery from the declines of the day before. A number of stocks advanced a point or more, but most of the day's changes were fractional. This merely showed, as the stock market has shown on several recent occasions, that under present conditions speculative "attacks" do not call forth the promiscuous selling by actual holders, which such demonstrations used to cause a year ago.

Whether we may not before very long be confronted with some distinctly unpleasant turn of events in the general news is another question; things have been moving favorably for a pretty long consecutive period. German marks recovered; slightly, if measured in numerical differences, very substantially, if measured in the percentage of advance from Monday's 29 1-4 one-hundredths of a cent to today's 31 1-4. Monday's extreme weakness found perhaps partial explanation in the cable reports of the German Chancellor's announcement of his purpose to reject as unacceptable the Allies' quid pro quo in their proposed reduction of the burden of reparations. Experience of the past few years makes the outside world take the resultant situation less gravely than the Germans seem to take it; which, perhaps, explains the mark's recovery today.

Other European exchange rates also advanced; but the changes seemed to be only one oscillation of the purposeless swing of prices which is always apt to last for some time after a really important movement of values has been completed. Exactly the same principle has lately been governing the purposeless fluctuation of grain and cotton prices.

Even now, one occasionally hears an interesting estimate, though not often one so courageous as the Russian Commissary's forecast of the Russian grain crop, cabled today from Moscow. The Russian harvest of 1922, as foreshadowed by this eminent authority, will be about one-half the average before the war. Considering that Russia used to raise 700,000,000 to 800,000,000 bushels, that her people have neither seed to plant from the crop of 1921, nor railways to carry the crop, and considering also that the 1921 crop is estimated at 528,000,000 bushels, one can only be reminded of the mountains of piled-up wheat which the Germans expected to find when they went into Southern Russia in 1918.

The curious irregularity, with which the increase in railway earnings during February was distributed, is shown by the fact that, of twenty-four of the more important roads which have thus far made their statements, the gross receipts of exactly one-half were larger than in February 1921, and of the other half, smaller. A compilation telegraphed from Washington, and covering sixty-one railways, makes their aggregate increase in gross earnings $3,052,000, or only 2 2-4 per cent. This is less than one-third of the total number of roads included in the commission's final showing and the percentage of increase may be changed by subsequent individual statements.

AMERICAN FACTORS.

American Factors, Ltd., earned a net profit, before Federal taxes, of $1,428,631, during 1921, according to the annual report made public yesterday. Gross earnings amounted to $1,779,233, as compared with $3,477,842 in 1920. Expenses excluding income taxes were $350,602 in 1921 as compared with $658,316 for the preceding year net earnings, while much below the 1920 figure were larger than in 1918 or 1919. The balance sheet shows current assets of $9,514,399 as compared with current liabilities of $3,058,782, a ratio of more than three to one.

PERSONAL MENTION.

George Armsby, one of the partners of Blair & Co., and a vice-president of the California Packing Corporation, is visiting the Los Angeles offices of the firm.

GOODYEARS CALLED.

Local bond houses have received notice from the trustees that $750,000 of the principal amount of the first mortgage twenty-year bonds of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company will be called May 1. A list of the numbers of the bonds called is now available at the offices of Hunter, Dulin & Co. and Bond & Goodwin & Tucker.

CERTIFICATES CALLED.

Cahn McCabe & Co. announce that they have available at their office a listing giving the numbers of the Bethlehem Steel Company fifteen-year 7 per cent marine equipment trust certificates, due 1935, called for redemption as of April 1, 1922, at 102½. A total of $642,000 par value of certificates were called at this drawing.

TICKER TICKS.

An involuntary petition in bankruptcy was filed yesterday in New York against the Mid-C-Mexico Company, S. A., a Mexican oil corporation. Claims of three creditors were listed amounting to $621,723.

Kansas City Reserve Bank says further improvement in conditions throughout its district has come within the last thirty days, with the farmers reducing their debts and increasing deposits.

Secretary Mellon asks Ford officially to explain the claim that $29,000,000 of war profits have been turned over to the government to be used as it sees fit.

Pennsylvania Railroad shows net operating income for February of $6,394,729, an increase of $8,226,977.

Sales of department and apparel stores in the New York Federal reserve district in February indicate a nearer normal volume of transactions than in many other trade fields. Sales in sixty-four stores show $23,650,000, a decline of only 4 per cent from a year ago, but a number of individual transactions are 6 per cent larger.

Average price twenty industrials $6.60, off .45; twenty rails, 78.79, off .40.

LIBERTIES GO TO NEW HIGH MARK.

Refunding Operations in Large Volume Are Being Projected.

BY J. C. ERNST,
Bond Department Bank of Italy.

During the last week record high prices for Victory 4 3-4 per cent and 4 1-4 per cent Liberty issues were registered, and as prices have advanced the tendency on the part of possessors has naturally been to hold for still higher levels. Trade depression, recession in commodity prices, and lessened capital requirements for new stocks and materials, have added to the floating supply of funds seeking gilt edge investments. The only retarding influence in the resultant price advance of government securities has been the willingness of those who bought at lower levels to sell, take their profit, and reinvest in securities of a higher yield.

Refunding operations of the government during the coming year will be in considerable volume and frequent opportunities will undoubtedly be offered to invest in various new government loans. The recent operation by which Victory 4 3-4 per cent notes were refunded into four-year 4 3-4 per cent notes met with such success that the procedure may be repeated. During the next year and a half $6,500,000,000 of debt must be met; $700,000,000 of War Savings Certificates mature this year, and outstanding Treasury Certificates of the amount of $2,200,000,000 must be redeemed. Of the Victory issue maturing next year there are $3,500,000,000 to be refunded into new issues.

There is a feature of the Victory issue that is not generally understood. Subject to four months notice, the Victory notes, either in their entirety or in part, may be redeemed at par on December 15. Victory Bonds were issued in series, each bearing the different letter of its series which will be noted preceding the serial number. It is a probability that the government may serve notice on August 15 that Victory Bonds bearing certain serial letters will be called in at par on December 15 of this year, thus avoiding the payment of a premium for them thereafter. For this reason those cognizant of this provision are reluctant to retain their Victory Bonds at the present high premium prices, in view of the fact that their bonds may be of the letter series called for payment, which would give them the status merely of a four months' note.

Considering this possibility and presuming that the government credit is such as to negotiate new financing a year from now on a 4 per cent basis to supplant the Victory issue, the conversion of Victory Bonds at present market prices into long-term, tax-exempt municipal bonds yielding from 4.50 to 4.90 per cent has many advocates.

There's Safety Here

THE bonds of the Western States Gas & Electric Co. qualify as safe investments. Judge them on the basis of consistent earning power backing them. This feature assures the safety of your principal and the certainty of your income.

For the nine years 1913-1921 the average annual net earnings of this Company were approximately two times the average annual interest charges on its total interest-bearing debt.

But this is no indication that the Company's business stands still. It shows consistent increases year after year. For example, its net earnings have for the past nine years increased as follows:

7% 7% 9% 6% 8% 9% 8% 8% 9%

In such a record you see good management, sound banking and a steadily increasing demand for the products of the Company.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, March 28.—Dullness was the most noteworthy feature of today's stock market. The turnover was the smallest of any full session since the middle of the month.

Price movements were in keeping with these apathetic conditions. Changes or fluctuations of more than 1 point were almost entirely restricted to low priced or speculative issues under professional control.

Developments bearing upon market values offered little incentive to the long or short account. Further price advances in steel issues were taken as a matter of course, and an extension of the New England industrial disturbances was without perceptible influence.

Minor and secondary steels, equipments and motors, as represented by Gulf States, Crucible, Vanadium, Virginia Iron, Lima Locomotive common and preferred, American Locomotive, Baldwin Locomotive, Pullman, General Electric and Electric Storge Battery, made gross gains of 1 to 4 points.

Sears Roebuck supplemented yesterday's substantial gain and leathers, coppers and gas and express company issues were prominent in the extended movement of the final hour. High-grade rails were sluggish, despite more excellent February earnings. Mexican Petroleum made a net gain of almost two points.

The money market reflected the listless course of investment stock, a 4 1-4 per cent rate ruling throughout for call loans. Predictions of an early cut in the local Federal reserve rediscount rate were not shared by informed bankers.

Cables quoted the German Chancellor to the effect that his government would not be able to meet the latest demand of the reparations commission were without adverse effect upon foreign exchanges. Sterling rallied from the low quotations and allied bills were steady. Even the German mark recovered slightly from its minimum of the previous day.

SELLING ATTACK ON UNITED AMERICAN.

United American was the object of a selling attack at the Los Angeles Stock Exchange yesterday and dipped to a low at 25½ cents. The stock rallied later and closed at 27½, a net loss of 1½ cents from the previous close. Oatman United declined 1½ cents to 49 and a general weakness was evident throughout the entire mining list.

The stock of the Union Oil Associates was traded in for the first time on the local board yesterday, fifty shares changing hands at 163. The same price was received for the few shares of Union Oil that were sold. United Oil was stronger and, despite a decline in the afternoon session, closed at 87½ cents, a net gain of 1½. Southern California Edison gained steadily during the day and closed 1-4 up at 87½

Following are the closing prices and sales as posted yesterday in the Stock Exchange Building:

People
lived in Mexia

The purpose in telling this little incident is to drive home this fact:

TO YOU:

YOUR situation may be within a few days, EXACTLY THE SAME AS THEIRS. With this difference that they had no warning of their opportunity, while you have had repeated warning of yours.

Your opportunity lies also in Mexia. From the very oil sands that are yielding fortunes to the Nussbaums and the Desenbergs—you, too, may draw earnings that can mean independence—yes affluence for you.

Foster's MEXIAN brings Mexia to you. It makes you part owner in three leases, totaling 515 acres, right in the great Mexia field. More than that, it gives you title to one barrel out of each 5000 barrels MEXIAN receives from these three leases, from three more in Breckenridge, and still another three leases in Bunger. You get payment every 30 days for a definite share in all the oil from all the wells to be drilled on 695 choice acres—a possible 75 wells—in three fortune-making fields!

Those people from Long Beach purchased several MEXIAN units. They recognized that opportunity and came to them again, and they seized it at once.

MEXIAN units amounting to $800. A moderate sized investment, and yet—

Mexian's first ..... 919.80 per year
Mexian's first ..... 2299.50 per year
Mexian's first ..... 4599.00 per year

Fees have been deducted, oil is flowing 9 wells considered, although only 75 wells.

Buy as was presented to those folks who sized it! Will you act as quickly? Then read in the announcement that the story of another Lost Opportunity

Only units remain to be sold at present either at our offices or upon receipt of check or money order.

GREAT LIBERAL PARTY REVIVED.

Mexican Leaders Clear Way to End Trouble.

Calderon and ex-President Head of Movement.

Say Recognition Easy With Planned Reforms.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

MEXICO CITY, March 28.—Reforms in the Mexican constitution designed to eliminate all obstacles to recognition of the Mexican government by foreign powers are proposed in the platform of the Great Liberal party, which has just been revived after years of inactivity.

One of the paragraphs of the constitution which the party would reform is Article 27, which provides for the nationalization of petroleum deposits, and which the Mexican Supreme Court pronounced nonretroactive in a decision rendered in September last. Other reforms proposed in the constitution refer to labor, religious freedom and education.

WILL REMOVE HURDLES.

"These fundamental changes will remove automatically all possible obstacles to an immediate recognition of the Mexican government by all foreign powers, and will eliminate all pretexts for further revolution," asserted Antonio G. Canalizo, for many years a financial agent of the Mexican government in the United States and Europe, who has taken active part in reviving the old party once influential in Mexico. "With these modifications the Mexican constitution will be superior in every respect to the constitution of 1857," Senor Canalizo added.

A national convention of the party has been called for next May.

Associated with Senator Fernando Iglesias Calderon, head of the party, are former President Eulalio Gutierres and Alfonso Madero, brother of the late President Madero; besides Senor Canalizo. Senator Calderon, formerly was Mexican financial agent in Washington and London, and for many years prominent in politics.

RUSSIANS WOULD SELL GOODS HERE.

ILLINOIS ASSOCIATION GETS LETTER OFFERING WIDE VARIETY OF MATERIALS.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

CHICAGO, March 28.—A handwritten letter, scratched with pen and ink on cheap news print paper and plastered with 5000 rubles worth of postage stamps, arrived at the headquarters of the Illinois Manufacturers' Association from Ural, Russia, today, with the first offer to export goods known to have been received here from that section of Russia. The letter enumerated a sizable list of manufactured goods and raw materials which the National Commissariat of Foreign Trade had for sale.

Metals listed included iron, copper, gold and platinum. Ores included manganese, malachite, talc, jasper and precious stones, and a list of chemical goods contained caustic soda, caustic magnesia and silver fir oil. Licorice, woodenware, leather, horse hair, feathers and other animal products are enumerated, and the list of furs names twenty-four varieties from reindeer to polecat.

Some of the more unusual offerings mentioned were Ural stone handwork, mineral collections, jfumen carpets, polishes, precious stones and asbestos fabrics. The letter was mailed from Ekaterinburg, where the former Czar and his family are said to have been executed.

REFUSED PERMISSION TO LAND; NOW SUING.

FORMER AMERICAN SAMOAN OFFICIALS DEFENDANTS IN RIPLEY SUIT.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

MARTINEZ, March 28.—A suit for $40,500 damages against Capt. Waldo Evans, former naval governor of American Samoa, and Lieut. W. A. McDonald, one of his subordinates, was filed here today by Samuel S. Ripley, who charged that they refused to let him land at Pago Pago last year.

Ripley, who gives his residence as Richmond, Cal., but said he was the attorney in fact for his parents, wealthy landowners of Samoa, alleged that a Congressional investigation followed his complaint to Washington of the administration of American Samoa by Capt. Evans.

He was twice denied permission to land, he asserted, once on his outbound trip from San Francisco to Sydney, Australia, in August, and again on September 6, when his steamer touched at Pago Pago returning to the United States. Capt. Evans is at present stationed at the Great Lakes Naval Training Station near Chicago.

EMPLOYMENT SURVEY IS MADE BY LEGION.

BEST CONDITIONS PREVAIL IN STATES BETWEEN MISSISSIPPI AND ROCKIES.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

INDIANAPOLIS, March 28. — The country's employment situation was surveyed today in a statement issued by G. W. Powell, assistant director of the American Legion's campaign to relieve unemployment, who said the best conditions prevail in States between the Mississippi River and the Rocky Mountains.

"The farmers there are planting their crops and getting ready for a busy season," said the statement. "In the eastern sections of the Middle West, the large industrial centers show that work is slack.

"In New England and the Middle Atlantic states, the employment situation is extremely serious. In the Southern States, conditions do not seem as bad as in the purely industrial districts, although there are a great many thousand still unemployed there. In the extreme western section of the country there are still thousands of veterans unemployed."

CONVICTION UPHELD BY APPEALS COURT.

AUTOIST WHO RAN INTO OTHERS' CARS IS HELD BLAMEABLE.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, March 28.—A conviction for manslaughter growing out of an automobile collision, said by court officials to be one of the first of such cases to reach the higher courts, was affirmed today by the District Court of Appeal. It was that of A. V. Seiler, who was sentenced to an indeterminate period of from one to ten years in San Quentin prison for the death of Henry R. Doty, who was killed April 22, 1921, in a collision of three automobiles at the so-called "death curve," near the cemeteries, in San Mateo county.

The Appellate Court held that as Seiler lived in the neighborhood where the dangerous nature of this curve was common knowledge, he could not escape blame for running into the other two cars.

REDS ATTACK JAPS; THIRTY ARE KILLED.

SERIOUS SITUATION DEVELOPED WITH DARIEN CONFERENCE DEADLOCKED.

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

VLADIVOSTOK, March 28. — With the Darien conference again deadlocked, a serious situation is arising in the maritime province, the Reds demanding the right to pursue the white army into the railway zone established by the Japanese. Already one brush between the Reds and Japanese has been reported at Grodekovo, where the Japanese maneuvering force was attacked by a Chita detachment of 300.

The Japanese replied, killing thirty and suffering three wounded. The fight lasted an hour.

Foreign Minister Janson of Chita sent a note to the Japanese commander stating that as the Japanese are assisting the whites the military agreement respecting the neutral zone has been violated and abrogated, and therefore the Reds propose marching upon Vladivostok. The Japanese are referring the matter to Tokio, not desiring to assume the responsibility of precipitating war.

Col. Uyeda has left for Tokio. Meanwhile the Japanese command notified Chita that the Red advance will be resisted pending the Tokio negotiations. The Chita note says that whereas the commercial agreement will be signed soon at Darien, it is expected the Japanese will not object to the Red campaign into the zone.

FOR SALE—
NEW SAN FERNANDO VALLEY SUBDIVISION.
2½ ACRES OR 5 ACRES.
Owing to the unusual demand for small ranches we have re-subdivided a portion of our San Fernando Acres, thus enabling those who are interested in poultry and fruit ranges to buy as small a piece of land as 2½ acres on liberal terms. The location is the most charming in the Valley of Wonders," high and healthful and connected directly with the great aqueduct water system supplying your needs for both domestic and irrigation at reasonable rates. Its orchards and groves were untouched by frost. Schools, trading places, and electric car service only a few blocks away. Five transportation lines pass our main office. Call LAND DEPT. for further particulars. JANSS INVESTMENT CO., 404 Metropolitan Bldg. Phone 10845.

FOR SALE—I have 5 acres of fine sandy loam soil, about 18 miles north of Wilmington, between Main and Harbor blvd. in the district directly back of the harbor, which is very rapidly increasing in value; water for both domestic and irrigation purposes, only $735 per acre, including water stock; only $735 down, balance in 5 annual payments. Interest only 6 per cent. This is by far the lowest priced land in this district, and is ideal for a suburban home farm; all oil rights included. I will be glad to show you the property at any time. THE CITY AND ENVIRONS.

Commercial Board Luncheon.

The Commercial Board luncheon will be held today at noon in the ballroom of the Alexandria. E. C. D. Price will speak on "Facing Faces," and demonstrate character analysis and M. A. Leach of the Leach Biltwell Motor Company, will speak on "Reciprocity." Ralph Hansen of the Westlake Paper Corporation will be in charge.

Ambiguous Statement Clarified.

Casual reading of an account in yesterday's Times regarding investigation by the State Railroad Commission on the business methods of the Service Motors Express Company, might give the impression that L. T. Fletcher and Elmer Trimble, joint owners of the concern had diverted to their own use money paid by consignees of goods to the carriers for C.O.D. consignments.

The testimony at the hearing had to do merely with the charges of six persons that C.O.D. returns from commodities carried by the Service Motors Express Company had been delayed for from one to five months.

SHIFT IN ATTORNEYS CAUSE FOR DELAY; TRIAL IN MAY.

By stipulation in U. S. District Judge Trippet's court, yesterday, the case of the government against Herbert Wilson and Herbert R. Cox, charged with holding up a mail wagon on the night of March 3, 1921, while on its way from the Los Angeles postoffice to the Santa Fe depot, resulting in the thieves getting $377,000 in cash, bonds and negotiable securities, went over to April 3, when it will be set for trial some time during the month of May."

The delay in the opening of the trial set for yesterday was occasioned by a shift in the attorneys representing Cox. Paul W. Schenck retired from the job and Frank W. Allender accepted employment as Cox's legal representative. Mr. Allender asked for time to prepare his side of the case and the time was granted.

It was hinted that on April 3 a motion would be made for a reduction of the bail of Wilson, which is now $100,000, but Asst. U. S. Atty. Herron said the government would oppose any such motion.

MUST SERVE TERM.

Man Who Killed Wife Loses by State Court Ruling.

August M. Estes, Long Beach motorman, who was convicted before Judge Willis of second-degree murder after he had shot down and killed his wife at Fifth street and Broadway, on Oct. 16, 1920, will have to serve from ten years to life in San Quentin.

Following the conviction of Estes here, the District Court of Appeal reversed the conviction, but yesterday the Supreme Court of the State upheld the original decision. Estes advanced an insanity plea.

Records show that the streetcar man killed his wife, and then shot himself, after the two had quarreled. He stated while being treated at the Receiving Hospital that his wife left him with five children to care for. The children, whose ages ranged from 18 months to 9 years, were in the home of a friend the night of the shooting.

USES ICEBOX AS BEDROOM.

Long Beach Butcher Furious When Police Arrive.

Last Auditorium Disaster Claims Settled.

Board Offers Business Lots at Reduced Prices.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

LONG BEACH, March 28.—Icebox bedrooms are the latest in Long Beach. One of them came to the notice of Special Officers Brown and Taylor while they were making their early morning rounds on East First street today. They found the door to a meat market next to the Long Beach National Bank open and decided to investigate, thinking that daring burglars might be attempting to tunnel into the financial institution next door.

The police flashlights soon revealed a man's head sticking out of a big refrigerator in the market. The head disappeared. The officers cocked their guns and advanced. The head suddenly showed again and as quickly withdrew. The officers looked around for other heads, found none and hesitated a moment. Again the head, again the advance, again the disappearance.

"A COOL BEDROOM."

"Come out of there," they commanded and the head and its owner emerged from the refrigerator.

"What's the matter?" demanded the suspect. "Can't a man sleep in peace without being annoyed by the police?"

He was plainly disturbed.

"I work in the market in the daytime and sleep in this refrigerator, which we are not using just now, at night," he explained.

"A cold bedroom, isn't it?" ventured one of the officers.

"CUT NO ICE."

"That should cut no ice with you," came the answer as the pajama-clad cleaver wielder clambered back into the ice container and resumed his slumbers.

For $1000 the last of the pending damage claims against the city of Long Beach resulting from the municipal auditorium disaster of May 24, 1913, when thirty-five persons were killed and scores injured, will be settled at once. This outcome of the suits brought by Drummond J. McCunn and Gertrude M. McCunn for $10,000 each, was reported to the Council today by L. Hoodenpyl, City Attorney, who was authorized to proceed with the settlement.

Mrs. McCunn and her four children were on the auditorium approach when it gave way and were precipitated to the sand beneath. The two children, who were parties to the action, were stunned, bruised, wounded and injured and sustained nervous shocks. The report finds that they have recovered from all these injuries, but are still nervous. They will receive $500 each.

BONUS FOR OIL LAND.

Further evidence of the value in which Long Beach oil lands are held by producing companies was revealed today when the Calmex Oil Company, a local concern, agreed to give the Board of Education $5000 cash bonus for the two and one-half acres of school land at Willow and Walnut, together with 25 per cent of the oil, and also agreed to give $5000 in addition out of the first oil produced. Embodied in the contract was an agreement to start operations for drilling within thirty days after the contract had been signed and the title approved.

Special Officer J. L. Davis and Chief of Police Ben W. McLendon and his staff will receive from the Council letters of appreciation for their recent achievements. Motions to this effect were unanimously carried at today's meeting. Chief McLendon and his force will be commended for their good work in cleaning up bootlegging resorts on Signal Hill. Davis will be praised for his bravery and cool-headedness in foiling two burglars whom he caught at work in an East Ocean Boulevard home.

FIX ELECTION DATE.

April 18 was definitely fixed by the Council today as the date for the bond election. The City Attorney was instructed to bring in an ordinance to that effect. The Council had first received from Isidore B. Dockweiler an extension to April 30 of the option for the purchase of the harbor lands for $3,000,000. This option contained the corrected description as approved by the city engineering department. Errors in the first option caused the change in the plan to hold the election on April 4.

A new low figure in real estate prices in the Pine-avenue business section was indicated today when a minimum price of $150,000 was set on the Pine-avenue school property by the Board of Education. This is a drop of $112,500 from the first price asked by the board in its effort to sell the sixteen twenty-five-foot lots at that location.

WOMAN IS ARRAIGNED IN AUTO THEFT CASE.

PRISONER SURRENDERED TO GIVE BROTHER-IN-LAW CHANCE FOR FREEDOM.

Anna Fulton, alias Blanche Miller, who surrendered to officers at Stockton so that her brother-in-law, B. O. Affeld, might have a chance of release from San Quentin prison, was arraigned yesterday before Justice Follette on a charge of stealing an automobile. Her surrender is said to have been followed by statements which indicate that a large gang of automobile thieves was operating in Southern California and in near-by States. She, with Affeld, is accused of stealing an automobile, valued at $1250, from Frances Bouriand, 121½ West Thirty-second street, on September 7, last.

Bail in the case was fixed at $3000 and the defendant was committed to the County Jail until that amount is furnished. Hearing was set for Friday. The Beacker brothers, who the defendant says are the heads of a gigantic ring of auto thieves, are scheduled to appear today before Justice Follette for hearing.

GREAT DANGER TO HEALTH

Thousands Suffer Maladies Due to Neglect of Teeth.

The health of your teeth is closely akin to the health of your body. If you neglect the health of your teeth you can't keep away from the doctor. Gums become infected with dreaded pyorrhea. Your teeth become abscessed, decay and are lost. Impaired teeth, diseased gums, are unhealthy—uncleanly. Visit a good dentist regularly twice a year. Start using protective Pyo-Rem Dental Cream—a sure prophylactic and germicide. Harmless, gritless, pleasant. Keeps teeth clean—white.

Buttermilk Cream Best For Beauty

Delightful New Vanishing Cream Containing True Buttermilk Makes Many a Woman Look Years Younger.

There is no secret about it nor is there any doubt about the result—it's just common ordinary Buttermilk in the form of a wonderful cream gently massaged with the finger tips around the corners of the eyes and mouth.

No matter whether you are troubled with wrinkles, hard little lines around the mouth and eyes, coarse, sallow, faded looking skin, or simply roughness and redness caused by wind and sun, you will find that all these trials quickly disappear with the use of this old-fashioned beauty recipe brought up to date.

To prove this to your complete satisfaction obtain a small quantity of Howard's Buttermilk Cream at any good drug or toilet counter on the money back if dissatisfied plan. The directions are simple and it costs so little that any girl or woman can afford it. Should you have any difficulty in obtaining this wonderful Cream locally, we will send a full sized package of both Cream and Soap for $1.00. In any case don't hesitate to send 10c (silver or stamps) for generous trial package and convince yourself of their merits. Howard Bros. Company, 24 Main St., San Francisco, Cal. "STEPS ON IT," SPRINGS TRAP.

WHITE-HAIRED and bent with age, W. W. McFaw, 77 years old, of 122 Virginia avenue, Los Angeles, walked into the court of Justice J. B. Cox in Santa Ana yesterday, leaning on a cane, and, after pleading guilty to a charge of speeding, paid a fine of $10.

Mr. McFaw was timed through a trap on the San Diego Boulevard near El Toro by County Motorcycle Officer H. S. Werner at a rate of speed said to be in excess of forty miles an hour. When asked how he came to be driving so fast, the old man replied, with a twinkle in his eye, that he still liked to "step on it."

LOW RATE LOANS HIT BY EXPERT

Railroad Commissioner Says Actuary Reported Against "Texas" Plan.

An actual report adverse to the operation of so-called 3 per cent loan companies, made by Prof. William Leslie to Railroad Commissioner Rowell prior to the investigation of the "Texas plan" companies started by Corporation Commissioner Daugherty, was made public yesterday by Mr. Rowell.

Prof. Leslie's report to Mr. Rowell was based on three hypothetical questions relating to fundamental mathematical rules involved in the operation of the low-interest companies. His report to Mr. Daugherty, which has not been completed, will deal exclusively with an actuarial analysis of specific loan contracts under which companies were operating or were prepared to operate before ordered by Commissioner Daugherty to suspend business.

Mr. Rowell explained that he asked Prof. Leslie to investigate the 3 per cent loan plan approximately two months before Atty.-Gen. Webb instructed Mr. Daugherty that the Corporation Commissioner should exercise jurisdiction over the 3 per cent companies.

VICE CRUSADE SHY OF FUNDS.

Two Hundred Thousand is Needed, Chief Says.

Charges Former Supporters With Deserting Him.

Insists, However, He Will Yet Purify City.

"No one can dictate to me in this proposition!"

Delivering another sensational broadside of accusations, Chief of Police Everington last night charged that his former supporters have turned upon and deserted him because he refused "to take orders" for the conduct of his "clean-up" campaign for Los Angeles.

"I am going through with my plans whether they want me to or not. I am going to finance the 'clean-up' even if I have to go to the people seven times a week and raise the money that way," the Chief declared in making public for the first time the news that organizations and elements that first pledged their support, no longer stood by him in his campaign.

These supporters, the Chief said, "include some of the biggest men in town."

NEEDS MONEY.

Chief Everington also said he needed $200,000 to carry out his plans for the purification of the city and the police department. The sum placed at his disposal (and now withdrawn, he intimated,) was not in excess of $10,000, he added.

These statements were made by Chief Everington immediately after the Police Commission finished its long session at which the dismissals from the department of Capt. W. L. Spellman and Lieut. A. W. Gifford, ordered by Chief Everington several days ago, were approved by the commission, and April 11 was set as the date for the hearings on their appeals from the Chief's order.

Mayor Cryer sat with the commission, when the matter was taken up.

CHIEF DETAINED.

Although the action on the cases of Capt. Spellman and Lieut. Gifford, and that of Capt. A. W. Murray was taken in the morning, Chief Everington was not ready to leave the City Hall until early last night, being detained by the other business that came up before the Police Commission.

"The support that was originally pledged me by the persons who said they wanted to see the town cleaned up and conditions improved was withdrawn some days ago. I made no mention of any "clean-up" programs until this support was withdrawn. I suppose the people who promised to stand behind me financially decided I am too radical," Chief Everington said last night.

"I never said that Los Angeles was 'wide open.' I did say that conditions were such that they must be corrected and that the city must be cleaned up. The proposition is this: Without financial support I cannot go ahead and clean up. It cost San Francisco $300,000 to accomplish that city's desires along this line. The money came from a fund of $3,000,000 subscribed by the city's substantial citizens.

"I don't believe in reform waves which fizzle and die out. If I cannot get proper support, I will go directly to the people and raise the money.

LULL IN CRUSADE.

"There will be no spectacular reform stunts from now on for a month. If, in that time some organizations and individuals come forward and finance this clean-up as it ought to be financed, well and good. I shall wait a month and see. If this financial support is not forthcoming, then I will go directly to the people," Chief Everington said.

In the month the Chief intends to wait for manifestations of financial support, the cases of the dismissed police officials are expected to be heard and decided by the Police Commission; and Chief Everington's stand made more clear by the action of his associates in the conduct of the police department.

GREAT SHERLOCK HOLMES STORY.

"Hound of Baskervilles" to Start in "The Times" Next Sunday.

What many critics have declared to be the greatest detective story ever written, "The Hound of The Baskervilles," one of the thrilling adventures of Sherlock Holmes, from the pen of Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, will begin in The Times Magazine Sunday, continuing in the daily and Sunday issues to follow.

Beyond its gripping interest to the general reader, whether the works of Conan Doyle are new to him or not, the tale is remarkable for its flawless construction—a valuable example to young writers, and old ones, too. It is one of the few pieces of contemporary fiction that one can read again and again, and feel the thrill of suspense the last time as sure as he did the first, so guilefully does the narrator lead one on. Don't miss the first chapters!

Habits

HABITS, once formed, seem hard to change. This may explain why so many of our customers have traded with us since they were boys.

But it is possible that our merchandise has something to do with it.

Mullen and Bluett clothes are so uniformly high in quality of fabrics; so comfortable; so well handled that it requires a distinct effort of will for our customers to seek elsewhere for what might not be as good.

If this be a habit make the most of it.

DUMPING SEWAGE IS ENJOINED.

Judge J. Perry Wood Stops City from Pouring Refuse Into Ballona Creek.

Declaring that the city of Los Angeles, by turning its sewage into Ballona Creek is creating "an intolerable nuisance," Superior Court Judge J. Perry Wood yesterday enjoined the city from turning its wastes into the creek.

Applications for injunctions had been filed by Culver City, Venice and private landowners on the Playa del Rey lagoon, and the trial of the cases had proceeded before Judge Wood for two weeks, ending with arguments last Friday afternoon.

The court in its decision points out the alarming situation in which the city of Los Angeles finds itself today with sewage spouting from the present outfall sewer due to the fact that the burden upon it, resulting from the tremendous growth of the city, has overtaxed the main outfall. To relieve the situation, the city cut the outfall feeder at Thirty-seventh and Arlington streets, permitting the sewage to flow into Ballona Creek.

POSITION UNTENABLE.

In its defense, the city, Judge Wood said in his decision, declared that it had nowhere else to put its sewage except into Ballona Creek. The court says that this contention is "utterly untenable."

Judge Wood's decision shows ways and means that the city could adopt to meet the present emergency without creating a nuisance along Ballona Creek. The court declares that activated sludge plants would render the sewage "odorless, harmless and fit for use upon land or to be turned into natural or constructed open-water courses."

The city's engineers planned to chlorinate the sewage before it entered the creek, but the court declares that expert evidence introduced at the trial shows that chlorine will not remove from the sewage its objectional features.

COURT'S DECISION.

Judge Wood in his decision says:

"The position that the city has nowhere else to put its sewage is utterly untenable. Sewage is not like the waves of the sea, which cannot be swept back by the broom of either king or court. Sewage can be diminished in quantity, and ways of disposing of it, other than by turning it onto one's neighbor, can be found. Some evidence indicates that the water pressure in some parts of the city is unnecessarily high. Experience shows, according to the testimony of the engineer for the State Board of Health, that sewage increases with high-water pressure and decreases with low.

"A storage reservoir of sufficient capacity to hold the excess which flows into Ballona Creek in the day time, and from which the sewage could be pumped or drained into the outfall during the night time, would entirely care for the present situation, if the sewage did not increase. With expedition, under force account, such reservoir could readily be constructed in sixty days. The State Board of Health has recommended to the city that industrial waste water be diverted into storm drains or natural watercourses, that further residential connections with the sewers be denied, and that in lieu thereof, cesspools be permitted as an emergency measure.

PRACTICAL REMEDY.

These last two remedies, while unpleasant and aggravating, are under the evidence clearly practicable, and, with the construction of storage to handle the peak, would care for the city's sewage until a new outfall sewer is constructed, or until activated sludge tanks can be constructed, and the sewage thereby rendered odorless, harmless and fit for use upon land or to be turned into natural or constructed open watercourses. The evidence shows that approximately three years will be required to vote the necessary bonds for and to construct an outfall sewer.

"Tanks and apparatus to care for the present excess sewage by the activated sludge process could be constructed and installed within six months. The adoption of the temporary expedients mentioned, and the construction of activated sludge plants sufficient to care for the sewage for three years, and the installation of an outfall sewer, or, in lieu thereof, the construction of additional activated sludge units, presents, therefore, a plan whereby the city's sewage problem may be solved without the necessity of dumping that sewage where the city has no right to put it, or

WHAT DID YOU SEE?

YALE NOW HAS RADIOPHONE.

Passengers to Lounge in Luxury and Hear Music on Shore.

Advices from San Francisco announce that the popular coastwise steamship Yale was equipped there yesterday with receiving and amplifying instruments, which, connected with her wireless apparatus, will permit her passengers, while sailing between San Francisco and Los Angeles, to listen in to the concerts, speeches, press and stock reports which are broadcast each afternoon and evening from the sending stations of these two cities.

The Yale is the first passenger steamship on the Pacific, and it is believed to be the first passenger ship in any service, to provide for its passengers this highly interesting form of entertainment. With a range of several hundred miles, the powerful instruments installed in the observation salon of the Yale, will permit passengers resting in the spacious lounge, to enjoy the programs broadcast from shore.

MAROONED RESIDENTS SIGH RELIEF

Mt. Washington Auto Bus Line Authorized by Board of Public Utilities.

The long-marooned residents of Mt. Washington in the northeast section of the city and rivaling Mt. Lowe and Mt. Wilson and other first-class mountains, heaved a sigh of relief when the Board of Public Utilities yesterday formally notified Lieut. Maurice Veronda that he might operate a motor-bus line connecting their particular mountain peak with the less altitudinous parts of the city. The folks who live on Mt. Washington and enjoy the cool mountain air are very fond of their mountain homes, after they reach there, but it has long been a case of utilizing alpenstocks. For, although up the side of Mt. Washington is laid a perfectly strong and able incline railway, it has not been operated for the past two years because the company which owns it was unable to make the car fares pay the operating cost. Now all is well. Lieut. Veronda, who is in charge of the military department of the boys' school on the mountain, will run his bus line to and fro from the mountain peak. The Mt. Washington children can attend the schools in the valley and their fathers go to their offices and return home the same evening.

PLEA MADE FOR BETTER HOMES IDEA

Two Hundred Wholesale and Retail Furniture Men Hear Address

Expounding the doctrine of "Better American Homes," Robert L. Jordan, managing director of the American Homes Bureau of Chicago, addressed 200 wholesale and retail furniture dealers of this city last night in Barker Brothers' auditorium.

Mr. Jordan is making a tour of all the important cities in America, to scatter the germ of an idea which is calculated, he says, to raise the social standard of the American people by creating in their minds and hearts the desire for better furniture.

In illustrating some of his ideas last night he pointed out that the women of this country spend more money for lip sticks and cosmetics each year than they spend for furniture, and that the nation's candy bill is much higher than its furniture bill, while the annual costs of cigars and chewing tobacco, is in excess of the yearly furniture bill, he asserts.

"Children should be taught the love of home, appreciation of good home furnishings, good taste, in color, position, style and arrangement," said Mr. Jordan.

"The men who have made this Better Homes movement possible believe that, as a nation, we have not lost our love of home but that as a nation we have grown careless regarding the home, and that by placing the home before the public continually and in its most attractive inspirational light, the influences which have weaned our public away from the home idea can be overcome."

HERBERT RAWLINSON IS ACCUSED OF ASSAULT.

Film Star Sued for Two Hundred Thousand Dollars by the Girl's Mother.

Fresh from a personal appearance tour with his latest picture, "The Scrapper," during which he defended motion-picture actors, the motion-picture industry, and Hollywood, Herbert Hawlinson, Universal Film Company star, was charged with an assault upon Dorothy Clark, 16 years of age, in a $200,000 damage action filed in the office of the County Clerk, yesterday.

The purported assault, the complaint asserts, took place in an apartment-house on Forty-eighth street in New York City, Oct. 15, 1920. The complaint which was filed through Mrs. Ethel E. Clark, the girl's mother, was placed on record by J. K. Stickney, a San Diego attorney.

In a short statement given out just before he returned to San Diego, Mr. Stickney said:

"I was instructed to file this suit by Mrs. Clark. She wrote to me from New York City, where she is now living with her daughter. Mrs. Clark stated in her letters to me that her daughter had been wronged by this man when she was only 15 years of age. She declared that she believed that he should be made to pay for his actions and therefore wished the suit filed at once."

Mr. Stickney declared that he did not know why the suit had not been filed before, but intimated that Mr. Rawlinson had been contributing to the support of Mrs. Clark and her daughter for some time. He refused to give out Mrs. Clark's New York address, but stated that he was in touch with her and would keep her informed of events here.

The San Diego attorney also announced that the motion-picture actor knew some days ago that the suit probably would be filed within a few days.

"IMPOSSIBLE!" HE SAYS.

When Mr. Rawlinson was informed in his rooms at the Los Angeles Athletic Club last night by Times reporters that the huge damage action had been filed against him, he said:

"The situation is impossible!"

"Yes, I knew the Clarks here in Los Angeles and also in New York City," he added. "I last saw Dorothy Clark and her mother in New York about a year ago.

"I haven't the least idea why Mrs. Clark should cause this suit to be filed. I never misconducted myself in any manner with Miss Clark. Why, she was only a baby the last time I saw her!

"The whole affair is just a huge plot to blackmail me. They must think that I am made of gold. I never had $200,000 in my life and never expect to have any such sum."

Greatly shocked by news that the suit had been filed, Mr. Rawlinson, after a vain hunt for J. F. Clark, his attorney, explained at length his entire connections with the Clark family.

"I first met Mrs. Clark and her daughter Dorothy," declared the film actor, "on the lot at Universal City. I believe that it was in 1916 or 1917, I am not sure which. The little girl was taking dancing parts as an extra. They were very poor and I felt sorry for them.

"For some reason little Dorothy seem to take a fancy to me, I guess because I always spoke a pleasant word to her. The Clarks were living here in an apartment house and once in a while I would drop by their place and say 'hello.' Often I would leave $5 or $10 to purchase things to eat. I never gave them any large sums.

"About a year ago, or, maybe, a year and a half, I was in New York City and again ran across the Clarks. I do not remember just where they were living at the time. I called a number of times. Miss Clark was playing a small part in some New York theater. Again I left them small sums of money, because I learned that they were having a hard struggle.

"I have heard from Mrs. Clark several times since my return to the West from New York, but I had no hint that this suit was to be filed until The Times reporters informed me tonight.

"This thing, I am afraid will ruin me. Less than two weeks ago I returned to the city from a personal tour of all the western cities from Denver to the Coast. I appeared with my latest picture, 'The Scrapper.' I made a little talk for the picture business and tried to explain to the public what the real picture people are like. And now, this!"

Herbert Rawlinson, who is a star with the Universal Film Company, has been in the motion-picture business for years. He is one of the best-known male stars in the profession. At present he is working on a new picture on the Universal lot.

Several weeks ago Mr. Rawlinson filed suit against his wife, known on the stage as Roberta Arnold, charging desertion. His wife is in the East appearing in a stage production and it is believed that her love for the stage caused the separation. Some time before his suit was filed here, his wife started a divorce action in the East, but the suit was dropped just before the new one was filed in the California courts.

"REDWING" SOLE NAME.

"Is this all the name you have?" asked Justice Hinshaw yesterday of Redwing, an Indian, who appeared as complaining witness against James S. Wiley, accused of passing a check for $2350 without sufficient funds in the bank.

"That's all, your honor," replied Redwing, as he finished the flourish to his name.

Wiley, a local business man, was accused of passing the check in payment of a note. He was arraigned before Justice Hinshaw, who fixed bail at $5000

POGO .. SPEEDERS .. IN .. DERBY.

Classic Helps Lift Lenten Lid at Ambassador.

Two experts in outdoor sport gaining popularity in Los Angeles.

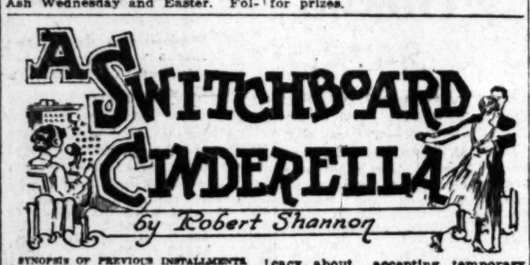
POGO arrived in Los Angeles last night.

The indoor and outdoor sport which has captured England and is invading the United States reached the Ambassador in time to help the guests in the Cocoanut Grove celebrate the annual Carnival de mi-Careme — which is French for mid-Lent shindig.

Yesterday was halfway between Ash Wednesday and Easter. Following the French tradition, all Lenten bans were lifted yesterday at the Ambassador.

The Ambassador Pogo Derby classic, the first jumping stilt race to be held in California, formally opened the carnival.

The pogo racers entered were: Kitty Rinehart, Betty Page, Phyllis Lane, Evelyn Erickson and Dolly Stoddard. Following this race, guests entered the free-for-all field for prizes.



SYNOPSIS OF PREVIOUS INSTALLMENTS.—Kittie Swasher, switchboard operator at the Belrood, New York, receives a strange request from the occupant of suite 1013 to come and see her. Kittie accepts the invitation and meets Miss Maud Smith of Ogallala, Neb., who is very much upset because as the result of an advertisement in a matrimonial paper she is to meet a young man, Miles Sprogget, in New York and be married. Arrived in Gotham she balks.

In her last-minute panic she permits Kittie to impersonate her. Miles arrives, is introduced. Kittie shows speed and they go to Swanheimer's Golden Jazz room. Kittie gets into an altercation with another dancer. Miles rescues her. Tickets ordered by Kittie from a broker arrive. Miles reaches for his wallet to pay for them only to find that the wallet is gone and he is without money.

The proprietor turned to his minion. "Get the cop." When a scrap was on, Swanheimer trusted to his staff to settle all issues, but in the matter of money he had an abiding faith in the blue-coated men of the law.

Miss Smith, intimidated, sat speechless. Not so with Kittie.

"Just a minute, mister," she said, with a hardness that matched and even exceeded Swanheimer's. "This gentleman here's an oil man, so don't get rough, see? We don't need any cop—"

But this situation affected Swanheimer in his vulnerable spot. There was money at stake.

"I got a system for these cases," he said coarsely. "You make good or you go to the station—all of you. I've had my eye on you all evenin', orderin' $25 worth of roses for the table. Don't try to stall me, sister."

Beneath his coat of sunburn, Sprogget seemed to pale. He rose deliberately to his feet.

"I'm personally responsible. I'm registered at the Waldorf, and my drafts are on deposit with the clerk there."

The proprietor waves a heavy hand excitedly.

"That's the same kind of line all the four-flushers pull," he sneered loudly. "You broke the law when you ordered a meal you can't pay for. Now you dig up, or you and the dames get pinched."

The waiter, who had lingered a moment, started for the door, but he was stopped by a hand on his arm.

"Just a minute—just a minute," a smooth voice said, very gently. "There's going to be no trouble about his check."

Sprogget looked in surprise on the speaker. There was something elusively familiar in the smallish young chap who had intervened. Swanheimer, too, seemed startled, and then a smile of relief spread itself on his gross face.

"Vy, Mr. Fredericks, if the party is a friend of yours—"

"Fade away, Swannie," said the stranger, waving his hand. "Exit out, vamoose!"

When he had gone the young man drew a wallet from his pocket and extended it to Sprogget.

"In one side you'll find my card," he said. "In the other side are the bank notes. Help yourself like it was your own."

Then Sprogget recognized him. He was the same dapper young Tartar who had battled so gallantly in Kittie's defense—the same who had sunk beneath one mighty pile-driving smash from the Westerner's fist.

Chapter VII.
TOMMIE.

If Miles Sprogget felt any delicacy about accepting temporary assistance from the debonair stranger, the feeling was dissipated by the altogether princely flourish with which the offer was made.

"I understand, my friend, how this can happen. It's a gay world and a funny world, and you never know what's going to come next. You're a gentleman—I'm a gentleman—and there are darn few other gentlemen in Swanheimer's; we must stand together. It's a pleasure to help you out. The same thing might have happened to me."

He pressed the billfold into Sprogget's hand.

"This is certainly mighty kind of you," the Westerner said. "I will accept your kindness under the condition, of course, that I return the loan immediately—as soon as I can go back to my hotel."

The question was brushed aside with a graceful twist of a well-manicured hand.

"At your own convenience, my friend; no hurry. Don't let your evening be spoiled or interrupted by the rankle of finance."

Sprogget had extracted a card from the case.

"Under the extraordinary circumstances," he remarked, "I think I shall introduce our very generous friend, Mr. Thomas Fredericks of the Tecumseh Club." He indicated Kittie first. "This is Miss Maud Smith of Ogalalla, Neb., and her friend, Miss Kittie Swasher."

Mr. Fredericks acknowledged the introductions with a bow of such elegance that Kittie felt called upon to extend her hand and flash a dazzling smile.

"Happy to meet you, Mr. Fredericks," she said, enlivened. "Meet my friend, Miss Swasher, Mr. Fredericks."

Maud, too, shook hands with the blithesome chap. For her he had a bow and a smile, not, perhaps, so ebullient as for Kittie, who was picking at Sprogget's arm.

"Ask him to sit down, Miles," she whispered. Sprogget nodded.

"I'm sure, Mr. Fredericks, we'd be glad to have you join our party if you are not otherwise engaged," he said.

"Sure; let's make it a foursome," Kittie interjected. Fredericks beamed.

"Suffocated with pleasure. I'm a lone wolf this evening. It's a little bit early anyway, for the pack I run with."

It was Kittie who signaled the waiter and bade him place a chair for the guest, while Sprogget paid off the speculator's man and acquired three prime seats for "Romeo and Juliet."

"I am your debtor for a hundred and fifty dollars," he told Fredericks, as he returned the wallet and seated himself. "I've taken out that much. And I suppose I ought to introduce myself—Miles Sprogget, of Pawhuska, Oklahoma, staying for the present at the Waldorf."

Fredericks grasped the Oklahoman's hand warmly.

"Glad to met you—socially," he smiled.

"We met back there"—he jerked his head toward the dance floor—"and I was considerably—that is to say—impressed."

"So was I," Sprogget added. "And I'm sorry it happened."

"Forget it, old scout. I hit you first, which was my error. I didn't know you were a friend of the little lady. When I came to, it was all over—that's all. No hard feelings on my part."

"Nor mine," said Sprogget.

Maud Smith glanced from one man to the other, and then to Kittie. "Why, what was it? she asked.

"Did you two gents have a run in? Kittie asked. "This ain't the gent, is it Miles, that was battlin' all around me?"

Sprogget assured her that it was, and explained to Maud that they had had a momentary misunderstanding. Kittie glowed appreciatively on her champion.

"Slip her there!" she cried, extending her hand across the table. "You busted right through the crowd and fought 'em all away from me like a buzz saw," she explained to Maud—"fought 'em off and laid a dozen cold before Miles got to me."

"Always ready to assist a lady," said Fredericks, relinquishing Kittie's hand with a pleasant pressure. "Didn't know Mr. Sprogget was a friend when he came charging through the scrimmage."

"Come up here often?" he asked Sprogget.

Sprogget denied it. "I'm from Oklahoma," he added.

"It's rather a celebration," Maud Smith told the stranger. "Mr. Sprogget's to be a bridegroom tomorrow."

Fredericks congratulated him. That Kittie was the scheduled bride apparently never occurred to him, for he smiled understandingly at Maud.

"Great little institution—matrimony. Always intended to tie up myself when I found the right little girl. Somehow, though, I have different ideas than those which appeal to most young women contemplating the holy bonds."

"Indeed?" said Maud, interested.

"Yes; I have my own ideas of happiness. Give me the bright lights and the syncopated accompaniment of a good jazz band. I guess I'm what you call a naturalborn stepper. I'd rather be a native son on Broadway than sign away my life as a fireside companion. I got started wrong, I guess, and I've always mixed night up with day."

Kittie gave him a friendly nod. "You ain't so far wrong at that, brother," she said. "You only got one life to live."

"I can't see it for a steady diet," Sprogget remarked. "Give me a new country and a rough country, where there's a lot of hard work to be done. That's my own particular weakness. I like to feel the wind come blowing in from across the flats."

An Open Letter to Rupert Hughes

Playwright, Author and Good Fellow

Dear Mr. Hughes:

Many a time I have glanced across at you when the Dutch Treat Club was in gastronomical session on Tuesday at Keen's Chop House in New York.

I can see the boys now—Monty Flagg, Julian Street, Max Foster, Sam Merwin, F. P. A. and the rest of the Merry Andrews, all poised for the big finale to Colonel Cobb's story—you know the one that was his favorite.

And now I come out here to Los Angeles and here you are. I am glad you decided to double in celluloid. It gave me "The Old Nest" to see and for this I thank you. It is corking! When I saw all those kids gathered around the table, I hoped mother was serving Newmark's Coffee.

Have you ever tried Newmark's? I am so enthusiastic about it that I bring it into my conversation as frequently as the Californian does his climate.

If you haven't tried Newmark's, the next time you have lunch in the Goldwyn Restaurant with Mr. Lasky or Mr. Goldwyn, ask them about Newmark's. If it is not served in the restaurant, everyone on the Goldwyn lot is missing something.

Try Newmark's— I am sure you will enjoy it.

Very sincerely,

Frankly Yours

ther and Mother of Man in Case Arrive Here.

In the evening of the first day the trial of Arthur C. Burch, with the murder of J. Kennedy last August 5, and Mrs. W. A. Burch, father mother of the imprisoned arrived in Los Angeles last They immediately went to County Jail, where Burch is This is the first visit her and son have had since was arrested.

Mr. Burch attended the trial of his son. The jury at time disagreed. Last week Burch left Evanston with her and determined, she said, to every session possible of the

The trial of the young man be- yesterday in earnest. At 2 after one postponement in morning, thirty talesmen were In just twenty minutes the was exhausted. Capital ishment was the cause. The demand of the State was to whether the prospective believed in the infliction of death penalty. As fast as they stood that they were opposed, jurors were excused.

DGE WARNS TALESMEN.

Every precaution will be taken during this trial, it was shown today, to prevent jurors and prospective jurors from hearing anything regarding the case from outside sources. Those sitting in the box at the time court adjourned were warned repeatedly by Judge Reeve against permitting anyone to talk to them, and were ordered to report the matter if any interference attempted it.

Much had appeared in court earlier in the day, but because of the inability of Paul W. Schenck and Richard Kittrelle, his counsel, to be present, the case was continued until 2 o'clock. Both men were present at that time.

Clerk Rugby Rose called the first twelve names. The men and women took their places in the jury box. Dep. Dist.-Atty. Keyes asked the first question. It was relative to the death penalty. Were you opposed to inflicting capital punishment upon a convicted man," they were asked. William Ridout, the first man called, stated that he was not. Then four men in the first row stated that they were. Miss Zoe Rutherford, fifth individual called, said that she was not opposed to it. L. E. Nichols, the seventh venireman, was not opposed to it and Frank Foster, talesman No. 10, stated that he could conscientiously vote for hanging.

Mrs. B. P. Malsi, Everett W. Green, W. B. McCulley, Mrs. Frank S. Langdon, Mrs. Ida J. Hall, M. Rexinger, William H. Hall and C. A. Short were all excused.

Mrs. O. Tyler, C. F. Miller, Myrtle McGinley, Mrs. Mary Grady, Matt Conway, Walter Talmot and Mabel F. Rice were excused. Some of these were excused. On the third call Lilah Miller, Mrs. U. G. Miller and Mrs. Ann L. Forsythe took their seats.

ELEVEN SEATED.

The capital punishment question excused several of those in the box and S. C. Arthur, Mrs. Ripley and Mrs. Bertha Helm were included in the fourth call. A. E. Peat, Fred Betts, Scott E. Bennett were the last men, and they exhausted the list. Judge Reeve sent a hurry call to other departments, but could find no other jurors.

Eleven men and women now sit in the jury box, subject to further questioning. They have agreed to vote for the death penalty if necessary. They are Mr. Bardwine, Miss Hereford, Mrs. Miller, Mr. Betts, Mrs. Foster, Mr. Conway, Mr. Wilson, Mr. Ridout, Mrs. Rice, Mr. Nichols and Mr. Bennett.

When the session yesterday morning began Burch was brought into court. Madalynne C. Obenchain, co-defendant, appeared with her attorney, and asked for a conference of her case to Judge Reeve's court. The trial will begin at 1. Judge Reeve granted the request.

The usual bevy of flappers that rushed forward to grab Burch by the hand at the close of each session failed to function yesterday. Bailiff Cline, the prisoner's escort, and Burch's present, his social secretary as well, stopped them before they could. Although Madalynne was denied her "afternoon teas" at the close of the sessions, it became known yesterday that Burch's social activities will be somewhat curtailed during this, his second week.

mploy Lawyer o Fight Seco Rock Crushers.

A committee was appointed and pledged to retain an attorney to fight in the courts for preservation of the Arroyo Seco at a meeting of the Arroyo Seco Association held Monday night at the home of Charles F. Lummis, 300 Avenue 43. Another committee was named to take up the rock-crushing nuisances with the Regional Planning Conference at Long Beach Saturday. Because of the Long Beach gathering the meeting of the Arroyo Seco Association next Saturday in Sycamore Grove will be postponed until 1 o'clock the following Saturday.

Resolutions were adopted thanking the members of the City Council who voted a protest against destruction of the Arroyo.

The meeting was attended by representatives of the Highland Park Chamber of Commerce, Highland Park Ebell Club, Montecito Improvement Association, Garvanza Improvement Association and Lincoln Heights Improvement Association.

DEFAULTS BALM SUIT.

Upon the default of Charles Fairchild was entered yesterday in the suit of Laura May Reap, beauty operator, for $10,267 damages for lost love, it became known that Mr. Fairchild will not contest the suit. Mr. Fairchild is charged by the plaintiff, who declares he promised on many occasions to marry her.

MADE IN GERMANY.

Dr. Otto Wiedfelt, the new German Ambassador at Washington, is one of the leading manufacturers of his country and one of the directors of the Krupp industries. Wiedfelt better—at least we Otto—had he been a statesman instead of a captain of industry.

BLACK DIAMONDS.

A single coal mine in Illinois recently turned out over 8000 tons, or 180 carloads, of coal in eight hours. There are a lot of mines in America and no limitation as to the supply. Such a thing as a coal strike or a coal famine to affect the whole country should be absolutely impossible.

EASING THE END.

Upwards of thirty criminals who are awaiting execution at Sing Sing were permitted to witness a Hollywood film comedy in its first showing the other night. Their passing is to be made as pleasant and peaceful as possible. They will not mind the chair so much after seeing our comedians in action.

THE APACHE KID.

A Chicago lad of 16 stole and sold six bicycles in one day; robbed a store of a suit of clothes and then winged a policeman who essayed to arrest him. At that, he yawned and said it was a rather dull day. One of the reformers declares that the bulk of the crimes nowadays are committed by comparative children. In one of the large cities the arrests in a month were at the rate of seven minors to one grown-up. Naturally the fault largely lies in the circumstance that the parents of today seldom know where the children are. The parent wears his responsibility as easily as an old shirt.

LAND OF PROMISE.

The Obregon administration in Mexico has been reported as not caring very much whether it is officially recognized by Uncle Sam or not. As it is, Mexico is gaining strength against any day of reckoning. With education and capital Mexico is quite capable of living alone. She possesses greater natural resources than almost any other country on the map. The government is trying to extend education to all classes. There are gold and silver in the mountains. Mexico, single-handed, might yet amaze the world. With a perfect understanding and complete friendly co-operation with Uncle Sam progress would be prompt and marvelous.

THE SPEED MERCHANT.

There is a highly developed movement to force the nomination of Henry Ford for President upon the next Democratic convention. Lots of folks look upon this as something more in jest than earnest. Yet it is a possible achievement. If Henry should seriously seek the nomination he would be able to amass a publicity organization that would be highly effective. The fight that some of the politicians and Wall street interests are making against his Muscle Shoals project is also giving him a lot of advertising as the friend of the farmer and the masses. There is more of a "kick" in this Ford movement than there is in some of his engines. The man running against him would have to do better than forty miles an hour.

PARTING THE SEXES.

Separate high schools for boy and girl students are being urged at Spokane. The judge of the county court is leader of the movement and insists that its adoption is necessary to relieve the court and society of the many cases of juvenile delinquency that are constantly arising and seem to be increasing at an alarming rate. The joy riding and dancing of the mixed schools is declared to be responsible for a harrowing program of misadventure. On the other hand, if the young people are not to be permitted together under the espionage of trained teachers, what may be said for them at any time? Friends of co-education insist that it is the greatest factor in developing and inspiring our youth and that it tends rather to cleaner and better living. A high school for boys only might be a rough house, all right. Undoubtedly the girls sweeten and soften it a lot. The cost of running a double school system would also be an almost prohibitory argument against the idea.

STOLEN SWEETS.

Looks as if shoplifting might become our national crime. The magistrate in a New York court had more than a dozen well-dressed women before him at a single session and all charged with pilfering from stores and shops. The judge took occasion to deliver a general lecture on the subject. He said that twenty or thirty years ago the woman who appeared on the street in a sealskin was either a woman of great wealth or infamy. Today the shop girl earning $15 to $20 a week is arrayed in more costly fashion than was the wife of the millionaire of a generation ago. Dressing beyond one's means is a vice into which all classes have fallen. The judge insisted that parents should learn the source of every article in the daughter's apparel. Furs and rich dresses are not being given away by benevolent employers or admiring strangers. The modern girl is apt to put all her money on her back and then not have very much to show for it. There seems to be a decorative competition in which many damsel feels compelled to enter. It is not a good thing for the future of the race.

INTERNATIONAL DIVORCES.

Former Senator Hollis of New Hampshire has caused the clanking of the chains of wedlock all over the country by securing a divorce in Sofia, Bulgaria, which, according to the Bulgarian law, relieves him alike of a cumbersome marriage tie and of the necessity of paying alimony to his discarded spouse.

If they can do such things in the Balkans, what is to become of Reno? Also, what protection will an American wife have against being robbed of her meal ticket by a Bulgarian judge? It looks very much as though international divorces are going to complicate the procedure known as international law.

According to Senator Hollis's attorney, a divorce secured in Bulgaria will be valid in New Jersey. He holds that a man has the international right to transfer his affections and his worldly goods in a foreign country, and that the transfer will hold good anywhere in the world.

Only citizens or those who have announced their intention to become citizens can apply to the Bulgarian courts for the severance of galling marriage ties. But it appears that one can make application for citizenship after residing for three months in Bulgarian territory; and that, as soon as the application is filed, one can begin divorce proceedings. The actual time consumed, including the trip to Bulgaria and return, is less than half the time necessary to establish a residence and secure a divorce in Nevada. The cost of living in the Bulgarian capital, considering the present rate of Bulgarian exchange, is considerably less than that in Reno or other so-called divorce centers in this country.

One would naturally assume that a Bulgarian court would not have the right to dissolve a tie knotted by the sovereign State of New Jersey. That looks very much like an interference with domestic relations in the United States. It is worse than an entangling alliance. If marriage is not a domestic relation, pray, what is it?

Bulgaria was, until a few years ago, a province of the Turkish Empire; and the customs of the Orient are there observed, rather than those of western peoples. Divorce in most of the oriental countries, for the husband, is a simple affair. When one takes a wife there he agrees to keep her in seclusion and support her; and when he tires of his bargain only a few rupees are necessary to secure a release. Alimony has not yet found a place in oriental tongues.

E. T. Moore of New York, attorney for Senator Hollis, has this to say about international law and marriage:

> A divorce decree terminates all rights arising out of the marriage contract. The dower rights and other rights of a wife exist only during the marriage state. The separation is superseded by the divorce decree, and any obligation under the separation decree for the husband to support his wife because of the marriage is dissolved.
> In other words, international law gives to each country the right to determine the requirements to be complied with before it will grant a decree, and the right to decide whether that decree has been granted legally or illegally.

While an opinion coming from this source is naturally regarded with suspicion, for Mr. Moore is an attorney trying to make out a case for his client, there is no disguising the fact that the different divorce laws of eastern and western countries are likely to lead to international tangles. Our courts assume the right to cut marriage ties made in Bulgaria between two citizens of that country. By what right can we deny a similar jurisdiction in Bulgaria over the marriages contracted in the United States?

Since the issue has once been raised, it is very likely that an international agreement relating to marriage and divorce is the only solution. But while the negotiations are taking place, the number of Americans seeking citizenship in Bulgaria is likely to be very materially increased.

THINNING CRIME.

The mills of justice in Detroit have been speeded up and as a result there has been a perceptible slump in crime. There are no delays in the treatment of cases and even the smartest lawyers are unable to gain much time on behalf of their clients. If a man is arrested for burglary in Detroit today by tomorrow he may be on the way to the penitentiary. The hearing is almost simultaneous with the arrest and the other steps follow fast. There is no particular reason in hunting for bail when the trial is to take place at once. Under the new system a trial is almost certain to be over within a week after an arrest. The court dockets are cleared up better than they ever were before in the history of the city and it is given out that there has been an average reduction of 35 per cent in crime in the face of an increased ratio of felonies in other large cities. The point is that the thugs are steering clear of the city. Action is too quick for them. The big fellows always rely upon delay and straw bail to free them. If they are cut off from these accessories they feel lost. Recently a bandit with a record arrived in the city of Detroit on Saturday and started to hold up a victim that very night. He was arrested, held without bail and tried on Monday morning. That night he was safely lodged in the State prison with a twenty-year sentence hanging around his neck. The crooks are keeping away from Detroit. It would seem that some of this program might be available in Los Angeles.

NO RHEUMATISM.

A departed spiritualist is declared to have sent a palpitating message to his friends on earth to the effect that there is no rheumatism in heaven.

That, of course, is a comfort in its way, but some of us would like further assurance. On earth there is a consoling tradition to the effect that those who suffer from rheumatism are immune from infectious diseases. If they have rheumatism Fate seems to think they have all they can stand. But the spiritualist is embarrassingly silent upon other human complaints. Since he has selected rheumatism as the lone absentee among all the ills that flesh is heir to for the subject of so thrilling a message it leaves us anxious about the rest. Until he mentioned the rheumatism we will frankly confess to a childlike faith that all such ills, any and every kind of ill, were banished from the heavenly shores.

That is the trouble with so many of these departed spirits. Their information is so very limited. And they generally discuss such very earthly things. Possibly to meet the limitations of our earthly intelligence, of course; but we can't help wishing they would risk trying us out with something unusual. Even a few of the altitudinous earthly writers are occasionally willing to make their appeal to the "intelligence of the select few," among which we like to think we are numbered. But so far the departed spirits have declined to take a chance on us. Their souls may be in heaven, but their consciousness seems very much on earth.

PREHISTORIC MAN SLANDERED.

It is proved that man—true man—existed on this earth many, many thousand years ago. How many no one can certainly say, but certainly longer than the period accepted as a strict dogma by Bible-Christians within living memory (and still affirmed by some of them.) It is not proved, but it is highly probable that there is genetic connection between man as we know him and the earlier inferior types of which evidence remains. If a critic were to maintain that man as we know him rose suddenly from some other type not yet found (for the evidence is very fragmentary and slight,) he would not be contradicting ascertained fact; on the contrary, he has on his side the anomaly of fine skulls found in apparently very early strata; all that department is quite unfixed. That man as we know him was a vile thing for countless generations and gradually—very gradually—rose to practice human virtues and intelligence is not proved at all. There is not an atom of proof. Even the vague analogy from existing savages fails. Some savages are of one character, some of another; all as old in descent as ourselves. The excessive evil affirmed of true man when first he could be so called is sheer unsupported affirmation proceeding not from evidence—for we have none—but from a mood, a desire that things should be so.—[Hilaire Belloc in Yale Review.

RIPPLING RHYMES.

GOOD FOR DUCKS.

Long the rain had been descending and the town was like a lake, and the walls of people, blending, made the famous welkin quake. And when neighbors got together they pursued the common game, and they all denounced the weather as a bald and beastly shame. But today I met a gaffer who has comfort of his own; he's a sort of chronic laugher who is never heard to groan. "Yes," he said, "the weather's sappy, and the tireless torrents pour, but the little ducks are happy as they never were before. And I think we should not quarrel with the weather, though it's wet, for the ducks are highly moral and deserve the good they get. With your groans and hully-cheeings you disturb the public peace; yet I doubt if human beings count for more than ducks and geese. Ducks are fond of moistened water and they like to swim and dive and on droughty days they totter, scarcely more than half alive. They are glad when rain is drumming on the woods, and creeks are wet, but they take whatever's coming and they quack no vain regret. When the sun again is shining and your life seems slick as grease, you will hear no loud repining from the grand old ducks and geese. There is weather for the gander, there is weather for the hen, and man should control his dander if the rain starts in again."

THE FLAPPER PARAMOUNT.

BY ALMA WHITAKER.

I rather suspect Mr. Gordon Selfridge must move in very conservative society in England. Upon arriving in New York the gentleman was amazed, staggered, shocked at the prevalence of the American flapper. And he says they have nothing like it in England.

But the gentleman is mistaken. They have them in England. And he was quite a factor in developing them. For Selfridge is the fellow that started an American department store in London and taught the trade over there all the tricks of daily newspaper advertising, special sales, service, saucy window dressing, free fashion books and impressed upon British womanhood the vast and vital importance of being fashionable, even unto the shop girl and factory girl.

Before the advent of Selfridge in London the English girl was clothed, but not fashionable. Indeed, as I well remember, the first essential was always that our clothes should be "serviceable," "wear well" and, above all, it was considered not at all nice for any female under 20 or so to wear fallalls, extraneous decoration, jewelry of any kind or show the slightest disposition to keep up with the styles. That was exclusively for our mamas. Even young princesses had to wear middle dresses. Even our party frocks were replete with gentility.

But, after Selfridge, the department stores inaugurated "styles for young ladies," spread pictures of cutey youthful females all over the daily papers and illustrated weeklies and effectually blasted that "plain and sensible" tradition with which our mamas had inculcated us. And everyone knows the psychology of clothes, fashionable clothes, jaunty clothes. One just has to act up to them.

How Mr. Selfridge managed to miss seeing the evolution of the ebullient flapper in England is difficult to imagine. She appears in all the latest plays, the latest books. There is a gem of a specimen in Clemence Dane's play, "A Bill of Divorcement," which ran for eight months in London and is now playing in New York. There is another in Galsworthy's war novel, "Noel." Arnold Bennett and W. L. George and Bernard Shaw and Havelock Ellis have all dealt with her in their own way. And Lady Diana Manners, daughter of the Duke of Rutland, who is now a young married lady and playing in the films, was a notable and remarkable young flapper fifteen years ago.

My English letters teem with restrained concern for the future of the flappers in my own extensive family. My Uncle Jack has six of 'em in one household. His sorrows began ten years ago when the oldest was 16. And Selfridge had just come to town. The films about finished him. He has long since given up the struggle. But when I went over just before the war the fight was still on. Frightful controversies about the girls powdering their noses—daily orders that one or the other of them should go and wash her face instanter. Parental arguments on the subject of styles were acute and persistent. Likewise on the subject of maidenly deportment. But about that time the flapper began to appear in play and novel. Cosmo Hamilton blossomed with a dizzy series of flapper dialogues. And the girls won. Since then my once fine dominating British uncle, who is resigned but not converted, has lived to rear six dashing young flappers ranging from 16 to 26 years of age today, who lead their conservative parents a dickens of a dance.

And this is only one family of dozens that I personally know about. Never a letter from any branch of the family that does not dwell anxiously upon the flapper question. They sent me one out here to California a little over a year ago—a lovely and most independent young person who simply insisted upon the family raising her fare. She told me directly she arrived that the scarcity of marriageable men in England is "simply sickening" and she expected to find a worth-while American husband. And she did—in about six months. Highly capable. And she had left two sisters at home just like her—showed me their letters—replete with the sophistication of a woman of 30.

When I was a flapper the term signified an unfledged birdling flapping its wings preparatory to a trial flight. They made us keep our hair down and our skirts up until our elders considered the time opportune for us to make our social debut. We usually wore our first long skirts on that enthralling occasion and put our hair up with a strict regard for "girlish simplicity." But soon after that——

"Oh, auntie is growing younger,
What are we going to do?
She has let down her hair and let up her skirts,
A flapper of 42."

Naturally the flapper was not going to be outclassed in her own field, especially when mama and grandma entered the competition, too, and if flappers were fashionable—and the department stores and the films decidedly pointed that way—why, she could outflap them every time.

But even we old-style flappers had our yearnings. We weren't allowed to express it in clothes—but we would have if we had dared. Consequently we were more hypocritical, we mentally behaved a good deal like the flapper of today, felt peculiarly sophisticated, and if the thought is as culpable as the deed, the modern flapper has nothing on us. Don't forget it was fifteen years ago that Elinor Glyn wrote her "Letters of Elizabeth"—and most of us could have given Elizabeth pointers. Elinor, by the way, is one of the severest critics of the modern flapper, but she certainly helped invent her. When I recall what smug, hypocritical, little girls we were I am amazed that we have developed into such peculiarly desirable women. The only difference between us and the modern flapper is that our elders knew precious little about us and took our clothes as circumstantial evidence of our superior virtue, whereas the modern chit has gained the right of "self-expression"—which, by the way, many of our leading male novelists, including Galsworthy, have strongly advocated for, lo, these many years.

And that is one reason why we old-style flappers are taking our rightful dues now. When we look down our noses and say that "girls never behaved and dressed like that in our days," it isn't so much an indictment of the modern girl as rankling jealousy. So, even while we frown, we look over the styles and do our best to make up for lost time. Some of us know in our hearts that it is too late, but we are jolly well going to have our sartorial fling, anyway. We grimly recall the time when we had mama's dresses made over for us into thoroughly "serviceable" frocks, sternly plain, with all the beads and bugles left off. One simply can't go through life without beads and bugles. We also recall how they made us show our legs up to the age of 17 or so as a sign of extreme innocence and simplicity and cheated us into believing that long skirts, trains and frightful pompadours were the outward and visible sign of emancipation from the suppression of youth. Why, bless you, the modern flapper has actually won us our real emancipation. She led—we have dared to follow, and recaptured so much of a youth-time we were shamefully denied. When I was a flapper, suppressed and nagged, I yearned to be grown-up, to reach the days of young-lady privileges—only to find the shackles of youth were replaced by the shackles of voluminous clothing and elder decorum. I never had a chance to enjoy both sartorial and social freedom until petticoats vanished and skirts went up and corsets loosened out and hats fitted down on heads—not, in fact, until the blessed flapper became fashionable and dared to blaze the trail for mama and auntie—God bless her.

I agree that the flapper is a most disconcerting young person, but I don't believe she is any wickeder than we old-style flappers, and she is a good deal more frank, reasonable, honest than we ever dared to be. I love her, anyway—and so incidentally do the men.

BOHEMIA AND BOHEMIANS.

BY ANTONY ANDERSON.

The real artist of today, whatever he may have been in the past, is too fond of the luxuries of life to come down to the fine frugalities of the Bohemian. Moreover, he is often so successful financially that neither his wife nor his mother-in-law would permit him for a moment to live in "a hut in some lone wilderness," however loudly he might sigh for it. And, take it from me, who have known many artists, he seldom does sigh. No, he finds his steam-heated flat a pleasanter place than a tent, his motor car far more comfortable for locomotion than shank's mare, and he would much rather gaze at stage stars than the heavenly bodies. For the artist lives and moves in the very vanguard of civilization. How can it be otherwise, since he puts all the finishing fancy touches to it?

There's no Bohemia in Los Angeles, not even the coast of one. Almost every artist that has risen to paint in our community for the past fifteen years has come under my ken and pen, and I solemnly assure you that I haven't discovered the brand of Bohemia on a single one of them.

None painted in a velvet jacket. None disdained clean collars. None preferred bare boards to tablecloths. None slept out of doors when his bedroom was paid for.

In short, they had all the likes and dislikes that inhere in civilized men. They cultivated good manners, they sought good society, they ate good food, they built or rented the best houses and studios that their means would permit. They were sober and industrious. Their industry would have shamed a navvy. They painted all day long and every day, not stopping even for church. They pinched and scraped and saved when they had to, even as you and I, but not because they enjoyed poverty and considered it "Bohemian." They always got out of it as quickly as they could and never went back again if they could possibly help it. Once on the crest of the wave, they generally stayed there, too. Even so the baker, the broker and the banker.

In fact, few men make such excellent men of business as the artists bent upon "getting on in the world." They have wonderfully trained minds, to begin with, and when those minds are turned on money, why, then, Midas can't hold a candle to painters and writers. They become as efficient as honor graduates of business colleges, as systematic as cash registers, as farsighted as captains of industry. Believe me, they don't carouse in a mythical Bohemia, but live clean and sane lives in Los Angeles or New York or Chicago, holding high and honorable positions in their respective communities. Many of them are our most "solid citizens."

There's no Bohemia, you will now admit, but there are Bohemians, some of whom are the very salt of the earth.

Everington Declares Aid is Slipping.

Financial Resources Are Fading Away.

He'll Keep up Drive if He Has to Beg.

...e request made by Leo ...orth, representing Capt. ..., that the Police Commis... for one week its action ... application of Capt. Mur... reinstatement. Mr. Young... said that Capt. Murray's ... was practically forced upon ... Chief Everington and that ... one week in which to ... the advisability of with... the application.

NO OBJECTION.

...Everington made no ob... to this request and the ... was put over for one week. ...lowed that Capt. Murray ... to be allowed to withdraw ...plication and, thus, leave ...ter with the alternative of ... him back on the depart... or dismissing him under the ...cumstances that marked ...ionals of Capt. Spellman ... Gifford.

...suggestion to the commis... on this point was that the ... be delayed until after the ... and Gifford cases are ... If these men are not found to be guilty as charged by me, then there is no reason why Capt. Murray should be retired from the department, if he wants to serve," Chief Everington said. He added that his attitude toward Murray, as well as Spellman and Gifford, is not unfriendly.

"All I ever wanted to do was to impress the police department with the fact that I mean business. I don't see how I can clean-up the town unless the men realize that I mean what I say when I give orders. They have received these orders from every chief, and when they attempted to carry them out they were removed or were called off. The situation with Spellman and Gifford resolves itself to this. They were given orders to clean-up. Sufficient time was given them to demonstrate what they could do. Nothing substantional was done, and after the town was not cleaned out they were dismissed."

INQUIRY EXTENSIVE.

That the hearings on the Spellman and Gifford cases are going to develop into a thorough investigation of the conditions under these men and their efforts to remedy them was indicated yesterday when, on motion of Police Commissioner De Coo, the commission waived its rule against allowing attorneys to represent the accused before the commission, and also promised attorneys for the two men that more specific charges than the ones of inefficiency, incompetency and neglect of duty, contained in the Chief's order for their dismissals, will be supplied by the Chief. This was done in order that the two police officials may have every opportunity to meet these charges.

Police Commissioner De LaMonte indicated yesterday that he would demand proof of the charges against the accused officers before he would vote to sustain the Chief's action.

Police Commissioner De La Monte's statement follows:

"Chief Everington is not the only one who desires to see the city cleaned up. Others have expressed this desire and have worked in the past to that end. It seems to me that there should be no question on that score. The only one for us to determine is whether or not these officers have been guilty of any act of omission or commission that could be termed neglect of duty in failure to assist in the suppression of commercialized vice.

"I am for fair play for every member of the police department regardless of rank. The charge against these men will have to be proven definitely and beyond any doubt."

MAYOR PRESIDES.

Mayor Cryer presided at the meeting of the Board of Police Commissioners yesterday, and the hearing room was filled with police officers and men said to be identified with the so-called Spring-street gambling element. It was supposed the latter had come to size up" Chief Everington, who was present at the commissioner's table.

The board received Chief Everington's formal notification that he had dismissed on the 25th inst. Capt. W. L. Spellman and Lieut. A. W. Gifford for alleged inefficiency and neglect of duty, and as usual in such cases, the board approved the Chief's action. The appeals of the two officers were read. Attorney Byron C. Hanna of the firm of Fredericks & Hanna arose and announced that he represented the two officers, and that Lieut. Gifford was ready to go to trial at once. Mr. Hanna asked for a continuance for Capt. Spellman as, Mr. Hanna said, the dismissed officer's wife was ill.

HEARING IS DATED.

The board set April 11, two weeks from yesterday, as the date at which the hearings on the appeals of both of the officers will be heard.

Chief Everington transmitted to the board Capt. A. W. Murray's application for retirement, but before action could be taken sending this letter to the Police Pension Board, Attorney Leo Youngworth said that he represented Capt. Murray, and asked that no action be taken on the retirement application for one week. The continuance was granted. It is understood at the City Hall that Capt. Murray feels that he was forced to apply for retirement from the department by Chief Everington. It was believed that the application for a continuance and the retention by Capt. Murray of Attorney Youngworth indicate that Capt. Murray may fight retirement before the Commission or the Police Pension Board on the ground that the filing of the application was an involuntary act on his part.

MAY FORCE ISSUE.

Capt. Murray may, on advice of legal counsel, withdraw his application for retirement, which would then place Chief Everington in a position where he would be forced to permit Capt. Murray to remain in the department, or the Chief could remove him and take a chance with the Police Board that it would approve his action, after Capt. Murray's appeal case had been heard.

The commission yesterday approved of Sergt. William Hackett's application for restoration to the civil service eligible list. The application now goes to the Civil Service Board, the approval of which is necessary before Sergt. Hackett will be eligible to reappointment to the Police Department. The board also yesterday approved of the dismissal by the Chief of Patrolman Oliver N. Sanford and Charles D. Casie.

After the commission's meeting Attorney Hanna issued a statement, presenting for the first time the official position of Capt. Spellman and Lieut. Gifford. The statement, in part, follows:

The impression has been created that the removal of these officers is one of the factors of the battle between the Chief of Police and the underworld. This impression is false and does a great injustice to these officers. There is no citizen of Los Angeles today more interested in seeing the underworld suppressed than these men, and in spite of the fact that they feel that they have been unjustly removed by the Chief of Police, they are thoroughly loyal to him, as they would be to any person engaged in the laudable task of suppressing gambling and commercialized vice in the city of Los Angeles.

Both of these officers have served the people of this city for a period of approximately seventeen years. During that time, with commendable devotion to duty, they have enlisted themselves energetically and without stint in the task of enforcing the law and protecting the citizens of this community from violation thereof. Their past endeavors and their records merit a better reward than to be classed, even by the slightest innuendo, at this late date with the cohorts of the underworld.

SEWER PLAN STARTED.

Mayor to File Request for State Board Permit.

The City Council today is expected to adopt a resolution authorizing Mayor Cryer to file a formal application with the State Board of Health for the necessary permit to construct a new thirty-mile outfall sewer from the city to the sea. The resolution will authorize the Mayor to gather the necessary data regarding the sewage disposal needs of the city for incorporation in the application. The Council has announced its intention of placing before the voters at the August State-county primaries a bond issue for $12,500,000 to build the sewer.

What every mother should know—

THE one subject nearest a mother's heart is the welfare of her children. It is during childhood that their health is most important.

Weak, under-nourished children seldom develop into vigorous, healthy men and women. Malnutrition produces anemic constitutions, liable to many diseases. Food is the most important factor in the development of children.

An interesting fact to every mother in America is this: Grape-Nuts, served with milk or cream, is a complete food.

Grape-Nuts is the wholesome, delicious cereal made of whole wheat flour and malted barley. It is rich in nutritive mineral salts that supply strength and nourishment to the growing body tissues. Your children will thrive on it.

Begin today to make Grape-Nuts, with milk or cream, the regular breakfast dish—not only for the children, but for you and the others as well.

Your grocer sells Grape-Nuts, the same delicious Grape-Nuts that is served in the leading hotels and restaurants of America.

The cost of Grape-Nuts is little—because of the large number of dishes you can serve from one package.

WHITECAPS ARE ON WARPATH.

Another San Bernardino Man is Threatened.

Sheriff Orders a Sweeping Investigation.

Aged Woman is Beaten, Drugged and Robbed.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN BERNARDINO, March 28. Added interest was injected into the kidnaping of Jess Mansfield last Saturday by night riders when N. H. Thibodeaux, better known as "Kid Bailey" today received a letter warning him that he is next in line for similar treatment.

Thibodeaux is a friend of Mansfield and about a year ago was shot by a man named Ashton as he was leaving a tent theater, the latter alleging too much familiarity between his wife and his victim. He recovered from the injury. No prosecution resulted.

"TAKE WARNING."

The note received by Thibodeaux today was written on plain paper and was mailed in this city. It says:

"To Kid Bailey: Take warning. You are next. We have heard your big talk. You will not be able to walk when we are through with you. The Whitecaps are coming."

The letter was turned over to Sheriff W. A. Shay, who is engaged in making a careful investigation of the entire affair, though no arrests have been made and an air of mystery surrounds the entire situation. It is possible the letter may be an important link in unraveling the mystery.

Thibodeaux says that he has received other warnings in the past, but that this is the first time the Whitecaps have been referred to.

The home of Mrs. E. J. Kimball at 775 Fifth street was entered after midnight last night by a burglar who overpowered her, drugged her into unconsciousness and left her lying on her bed as he ransacked the home for valuables. Three hours later she regained consciousness and, dragging herself to a window, called neighbors, who notified the police.

Her condition tonight as a result of the attack is serious. Nothing of great value was secured by the bandit.

The character of the drug used is a mystery to physicians attending the woman, who is 56 years of age. It was neither ether nor chloroform. The robber used a drug-soaked handkerchief. Mrs. Kimball heard the man entering the window of an adjoining room, and believed it was a grandson who often came to her home to sleep.

Her husband stays at his place of business and she was alone in the house. She asked if it was her grandson. He replied that it was not and warned her to open her door. A battle ensued, she being overcome by the intruder, who quickly drugged her into silence.

Clean Child's Bowels with "California Fig Syrup"

Even a sick child loves the "fruity" taste of "California Fig Syrup." If the little tongue is coated, or if your child is listless, cross, feverish, full of cold, or has colic, give a teaspoonful to cleanse the liver and bowels. In a few hours you can see for yourself how thoroughly it works all the constipation poison, sour bile and waste out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again.

Millions of mothers keep "California Fig Syrup" handy. They know a teaspoonful today saves a sick child tomorrow. Ask your druggist for genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on bottle. Mother! You must say "California" or you may get an imitation fig syrup.—[Advertisement.

ACCIDENT IS MERE INCIDENT.

Ventura Girl Escapes from Accident Which Thrills Spectators.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

VENTURA, March 28. — Bertha Rosamond, 6-year-old daughter of Frank Rosamond, local merchant, stepped backward in front of a big touring car driven by C. G. Burtnett.

The accident happened on Main street, with scores of witnesses. Because she was still screaming after the car had passed over her, it was realized she was not killed outright.

She was rushed to the Big Sisters Hospital and there it was found the sum total of her injuries consisted of a small bruise on one hand.

Her mother, who witnessed the accident, was overcome and was taken to a physician's office for medical attention while the child was carried to the hospital.

FIGHT RISING TIDE.

La Jolla Society Miss Victim of Harrowing Experience.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN DIEGO, March 28.—Her foot tightly wedged between rocks in a narrow passageway of one of the caves at La Jolla, Miss Jane Glover, a Cincinnati girl who is spending the winter with relatives at the seashore community, was finally rescued after being held a prisoner for nearly an hour in the face of a rising tide.

The thrilling experience of Miss Glover, who is today in her apartments recovering from shock, was an unscheduled event in the program of the Cinderella Club, an organization of wealthy bachelors at La Jolla, who had organized a torchlight expedition through the caves. There were seven others in the exploring party but Miss Glover was the last to pass through the cavern. Just as she was about to emerge from the passage she slipped and was caught fast—a prisoner, facing a rising tide. When her escort, Willis H. Sheldon, found himself unable to extricate his guest, he called to the other members of the party but they had passed beyond the sound of his voice.

Shelton remained with Miss Glover and finally managed to loosen the rocks that held the girl's foot.

STAGE DESERT HUNT.

Redlands Enthusiasts Travel Miles In Search of Flowers.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

REDLANDS, March 28.—Probably not the most dangerous or exciting hunt ever staged but one of the most interesting according to the members of the party, was the expedition last week of Mrs. H. A. Bates, Miss Edith Bates, and Mr. and Mrs. William Cochrane, which took them over mountain and desert. They were hunting for wild flowers—and found them.

They went from here to Palm Springs and out over the Colorado desert, then to El Centro, then across Mountain Springs grade and by way of Camp to San Diego, along the coast road to San Juan and then inland and through Santa Ana canyon to Redlands.

On the desert they found the spring flowers out but they will be at their best a month from now. There are white primroses, sand verbenas and other beauties. In the mountains they found shooting stars, white lilies, pink and purple beans and beautiful poppies. The tree poppies near Del Mar were grand.

PROMINENT MASON VISITS REDLANDS.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

REDLANDS, March 28.—W. B. Patton, 33rd degree Mason, Past Grand Master of the Masons of Minnesota, active worker and leader in every branch of Masonry in that State, has been spending some time in Redlands. During the time he was grand master of Minnesota he was one of four Americans elected as honorary member of a British lodge known as King Solomon's Temple, whose seat is at York, England. The other men elected were the Grand Master of Maryland and Ex-Presidents Taft and Roosevelt. The lodge is purely a research organization and confers no degrees.

CHAMBER FAVORS CITY WATER WORKS.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

VENTURA, March 28.—The Ventura Chamber of Commerce has gone on record favoring a municipally owned water-works system. The City Council will be asked to have the town canvassed for expression of sentiment on the subject.

If the sentiment is favorable, as the Chamber of Commerce, believes it is, there will be no cessation of effort until Ventura owns her own water system. W. W. Tolman has been named secretary to succeed Sanford Butts, resigned.

HISS WHEN HART FILM CENSORED.

"Travesty on the Christian Religion," Objection.

Theater Manager Threatens War on Censors.

Art Museum May be Donated to Pasadena.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

PASADENA, March 28.—Cinema patrons hissed the local censorship board when announcement was made on the screen of the Pasadena Theater that Bill Hart's picture, "Travelin' On," had been prohibited and withdrawn by the local censors. C. L. Langley of Turner, Dahken & Langley, lessees of the theater, stated his belief that the public is opposed to censorship in Pasadena, and intimated that a campaign to repeal the act would shortly be instituted.

Mrs. Beatrice George, chairman of the local censorship board, denounced the Hart film as a "travesty on the Christian religion," and charged that it held up to ridicule a Protestant clergyman, and was overfull of profanity and drinking. She spent a whole day, she says, making deletions in the picture, and permitted it to be shown as censored until the theater could get another picture.

Cases are pending against two of Turner, Dahken & Langley's theater managers for violation of the local censorship orders.

EDUCATOR NAMED.

F. L. Thurston, head of the commercial department at Pasadena High School, has been appointed executive secretary of the southern branch of the California Teachers' Association. He will devote all of his time to educational investigations and research for that body. His headquarters will be in Los Angeles.

He goes to the new post on a leave of absence from the local high school, but it is expected he will remain permanently with the teachers' body. John A. Anderson will succeed him at the local high school.

Mrs. Anna W. Hakes of this city is 103 years old. She observed her 102nd birthday last Sunday. She resides at the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Treat, 94 North El Molino avenue. She was born in Preston, Ct., March 24, 1820. Mrs. Hakes was visited Sunday by many relatives, including grandchildren and great grandchildren. Among the grand-daughters were Mrs. Clay P. Morgan of Pomona, and Mrs. Gordan Palmer of Los Angeles, both wives of ministers.

Mrs. Hakes is able to recall many interesting events in her life. She has been an active member of the Baptist church during all her life. She donated a chapel in Japan called the Hakes Memorial Chapel to the Baptist missionaries there.

An art museum costing $400,000 will be donated to the city of Pasadena if the city acquires the Carmelita property by the voting of bonds at the special election April 11, it was stated today by Capt. C. S. Conner of the greater Pasadena committee.

He declined to reveal the identity of the donor, but insisted, in the face of the imputation that the gift art museum was merely a bait held out to the public to vote the bonds, that the offer was genuine.

"MUST AID EUROPE."

"For the stabilizing of European credit and currency some of the gold held in the United States should be sent to Europe," said George M. Reynolds, chairman of the Continental and Commercial Bank, Chicago, in an address here tonight before the Firelight Club.

Mr. Reynolds said that the United States now has 40 per cent of the world's gold, and that this amount is steadily being added to, a condition that is not good for the United States or the rest of the world. He said he did not favor cancelling European war debts to the United States, but thought this country should help to stabilize European credit. He said everybody in the United States must work hard, and that general prosperity will slowly return.

HAY MEN WILL MEET.

Alfalfa Growers' Association Proposed at Brawley

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

BRAWLEY, March 28. — Further steps toward organization of an Imperial Valley Alfalfa Growers' Association will be taken at a meeting of alfalfa men in Brawley. This was announced today by A. Gregory of Redlands, and H. W. Otis of Big Pine, widely known growers and association men who are here in the interest of such organization.

The plans include warehouse facilities for the hay men so that storage during unfavorable price periods will be available with loans likewise obtainable to finance the grower during the holding of his crop. Prevention of a periodical glut of the hay market with attendant loss to the grower is the principal purpose of the proposed organization, it was explained.

TO PASS SENTENCE.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PORTERVILLE, March 28.—Sentence will be pronounced tomorrow morning by Judge W. B. Wallace upon Frank A. Salisbury, former Visalia theater manager, convicted last week of contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

Salisbury petitioned the court for probation on Monday. The report of the probation officer will be heard prior to the passing of sentence.

WATER CASE IS DELAYED.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

VISALIA, March 28.—Illness of Mrs. Stephens, wife of Superior Judge Albert Lee Stephens of Los Angeles, who has been hearing the retrial of the Tulare-Lindsay-Strathmore water case, here, delayed reopening of the trial the first of the week. Judge Stephens wired that he hoped to be in Visalia tomorrow.

Girl is Bound and Assaulted by Two Fiends

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

ONTARIO, March 28.—Seized by two men who were hiding in a closet when she returned to the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Hall, 116 South Sultana avenue, Edith Hall, age 17, was bound, blindfolded and assaulted late this afternoon.

When Miss Hall entered the house she discovered that thieves had apparently been there before her and was in the act of picking some scattered clothing from a bedroom floor when the two men burst from a near-by closet, threw a shirt over her head, bound her hands behind her and, throwing her on the bed, assaulted her. The only glimpse the girl had of the two men was their reflection in a mirror as they rushed at her. She says that they conversed in Spanish and she took them to be Mexicans. The men attempted to gag her but she clenched her teeth and foiled them in that.

Following the assault the men left the house and, although it is in a thickly populated neighborhood, no one saw them either come or go. After a long struggle Miss Hall succeeded in removing the blindfold and, with her hands still tied behind her, ran to the home of a neighbor who immediately telephoned the police, who are seeking the fiends tonight.

Miss Hall's parents were away from home at the time of the attack and her younger brothers and sisters were at school. It is believed that the men originally entered the house for the purpose of robbing it and were surprised in the act by the return of the girl.

BOND MARKET IS MUCH IMPROVED.

SALE AT ONTARIO SHOWS BETTER FINANCIAL CONDITION.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

ONTARIO, March 28.—That the bond market has made a decided recovery during the last four months was indicated today following the sale of the last block of $30,000 of the $275,000 6 per cent issue of the Chaffey Union High School District bonds to the California Bank. The bonds brought a premium of $6281, as compared with $3650.10 for a block of the same amount and same issue sold November 14, a little more than four months ago. The sale was made by the County Board of Supervisors.

An issue of $120,000 of the Ontario Elementary School District bonds sold on January 23 for a premium of $16,110, the issue being at 5½ per cent. The premium on a block of $30,000 would have been only $2500. The figures indicate that there has been no decline in the amount of premium.

Motley H. Flint, vice-president of the Los Angeles Trust & Savings Bank, is to be the speaker April 4 at Chaffey auditorium when a "civic conference" will be held under the auspices of the Ontario Chamber of Commerce, it was announced this afternoon. The conference is to be held in connection with a chamber reorganization campaign being conducted here under the direction of the American City Bureau.

PLUNGE TO OPEN.

Alhambra Announces Beginning of Summer Season.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

ALHAMBRA, March 28.—Alhambra's municipal park plunge will open for the season next Saturday, according to Arthur B. Bonner, supervisor. With the opening of the pool, classes in life saving will be started by Mr. Bonner, who is official examiner and instructor for the National Red Cross Life Saving Corps.

The classes will be formed of boys from the entire surrounding section, including Pasadena and Los Angeles.

The plunge here is generally conceded to be one of the best inland plunges in Southern California. It was built last year, being formally opened on the Fourth of July. From that time until the end of the season, October 1, the total attendance was almost 32,000 persons.

During the same time, thirty-six boys were awarded medals and certificates for efficiency as life savers. One life was saved before the end of the year by one of the youthful graduates.

According to City Manager Grant M. Lorraine, the attendance at the plunge this year is expected to be at least three times as great as last year's.

CITY AUTHORITIES PLAN SEWER FARM.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

GLENDALE, March 28.—Mr. P. L. Darling, president of the Burbank Improvement Association, an authority for the statement that the City Trustees of Burbank have an option on the forty acres owned by Gilmore & Huff, located at Lake and Alameda streets and within the city limits of Burbank. It is understood that the Trustees are planning a sewage farm to be located on this acreage.

There is a wash through the property, a tributary of the Los Angeles River, at a point within 1500 feet of the pumps which pump the water of the river into Silver Lake.

REACHES THE LIMIT.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

ONTARIO, March 28.—That she did not object to working and buying all the household goods for her home, but that when her husband shook her, pulled her hair and otherwise handled her roughly she left him, was set forth in the divorce suit filed today by Henrietta Healey of this city against Edward James Healey. The Healeys were married in San Antonio, Tex., in October, 1918, and separated March 3 of this year. Mrs Healey is represented in her action by Attorney Isaac Jones.

Why Not Have Streets That Will Stand It?

Nothing in your town has harder work than your streets.

They are completely exposed to all the whims of the seasons—and to traffic.

Concrete Street pavement cannot blister. Rain only makes it stronger. It can be built to any kind of traffic indefinitely, practically without repairs.

Concrete makes easy driving. Concrete is driving safe. It is rigid, unyielding, skid-proof. Concrete Streets are as good one time of the year as another. Concrete pavement has the maximum of quality built into it.

These are some of the reasons for the rapidly growing popularity of Concrete Streets.

BOARD SELECTS NEW JAIL SITE.

Broadway Frontage Favored for Structure.

Present Location Unsuitable, Say Supervisors.

County to Condemn Land if Prices Are Boosted.

While the county's right of way men were seeking prices on the square of ground bounded by Broadway, Temple and Buena Vista streets, upon which to build the new City and County Jail, their plan leaked out. If the owners of the properties included in this square raise their prices, the county will bring suit to condemn the land. The estimated cost is from $300,000 to $400,000.

Economic conditions induced the Board of Supervisors several weeks ago to relinquish the expressed intention of building the $2,500,000 jail building on the present location and adjoining land on Temple street recently acquired by the county.

Every county department is demanding more room. By building the jail at Broadway and Temple, the old jail and the Hall of Justice can be utilized. Another factor was the probability of streets being extended and widened in the vicinity of the old jail location.

FRONT ON BROADWAY.

The proposed new location has a frontage on Broadway of 340 feet and 226 feet on Temple street. It is occupied by the hotels Aberdeen and Alhambra, residences and stores. The old jail and Hall of Justice stand on land covering 194 feet on Temple street and 246 feet on Buena Vista street. There will be no alteration of the new jail from the present plans. Eventually the Hall of Justice will be torn down. But during the time that the new jail is being constructed the present Sheriff's offices will house the administration offices of the old jail, the Sheriff's offices being moved into the Zahn Building adjoining the Hall of Records.

There will be installed in the basement of the Hall of Justice shower baths, dressing-rooms and a big storeroom for prisoners' clothing. The county will furnish underclothing for prisoners which is not the custom now. A laundry will be installed for which machinery will be bought by the county. A delousing plant will be put in and prisoners will take a bath whether they want it or not. Their clothing will be fumigated.

The offices now used by the administration force in the old jail will be eliminated and the space used for 200 additional prisoners. Cages with iron bars will be erected and hanging bunks installed. There will be plenty of air and light. The old jail has 200 more prisoners than it can care for properly. It will require three years to build the new jail.

In making the change from Buena Vista street to Broadway and Temple streets, the Supervisors state they are building for the future. The new jail will be one of the finest buildings of its kind in the United States. The members of the Architects' Association, individually and jointly, have prepared the plans for a beautiful structure. It will not have the appearance of the usual cold and forbiding jail, prisoners wanly gazing out between the iron bars. Buena Vista street will be widened. Eventually, when the proposed civic center is complete, the new jail will occupy one corner, a handsome building with every convenience for the welfare of prisoners. It will have so many luxuries, as a Supervisor said, that people will clamor to get in instead of crying to get out.

KIDDIES TO BE STAR DANCERS.

Little Folk Get Chance to Show Talent at Coming Children's Exposition.

Kiddie Kosloffs and potential Pavlowas will be given ample opportunities for displaying their talents at the forthcoming Children's Exposition. Each day at 3 p.m. the dance floor will be consecrated to juvenile dancing exhibitions in which hundreds of Los Angeles school children will participate both as soloists and en masse.

It was announced by Robert E. Wells, director-general of the event which will be held at Exposition Park, April 8 to 16 inclusive, that all exercises will be suspended on Good Friday until 3 p.m. The Easter festival will not start until well after luncheon time, so that every kiddie participating will have plenty of opportunity to attend church or Sunday-school in the morning.

Each day sees the entry list of exhibits piling up a greater total Friday positively will be the last day at which entry blanks may be filed.

An appeal has been issued to the public for the use of motor cars Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week to help the kiddies convey their exhibits from the public schools to the exhibition tents at Exposition Park. Motorists who are willing to devote an hour or two to this work are asked to call up 14887, the executive headquarters, and leave word at what time their cars will be available.

Five-masted Kobenhavn (Broadside View;) Close Up of Bow. Note the figurehead, representing a Viking clad in chain mail and with national shield in his hand.

LEVIATHAN OF BARKS IN HARBOR.

Danish Vessel Makes First Voyage from Europe in Record Time.

On her maiden voyage from Europe the Danish five-masted bark Kobenhavn, largest vessel of her type afloat, arrived at Los Angeles Harbor yesterday to discharge 770 tons of cargo for this port. The big sailing ship is in command of Baron Niels Juel Brockdorf of the Danish royal navy and carries among her officers and the eighteen cadets a total of six members of the Danish nobility.

All activities along the water front and on the vessels at anchor in the outer harbor ceased temporarily when the big ship, her tall masts towering above all the other shipping of the harbor, rounded the breakwater and made for the main channel. The stately vessel afforded a wonderful sight to the old-timers of the sea and her double topsail and topgallant yards and lofty royals evoked expressions of admiration all the way up the channel to the east basin.

The Kobenhavn is of 5000 deadweight tons and was built by Ramage & Ferguson at Leith, Eng., last year. Her hull is of steel, as are her masts, and she has a length of 432 feet, with a beam of forty-nine feet. Her mean draught is twenty-nine and one-half feet.

Her immense spread of 50,000 square feet of canvas requires in its handling thirty-three miles of standing and running rigging and 1200 blocks. The craft is equipped with 640-horsepower Diesel engines, capable of developing a speed of eight knots. During the voyage from the Panama Canal, under sail, the Kobenhavn averaged a speed of seventeen knots, which is faster time than is made by the average steamer.

Considerable anxiety for the safety of the Kobenhavn was expressed in Pacific shipping circles in January when the vessel remained unspoken for several weeks after leaving Balboa for Los Angeles Harbor. It developed later, however, that the Kobenhavn had gotten into the doldrums of the Pacific off Central America and was forced to beat her way 1,000 miles off to sea to pick up a wind that would bring her to the coast. Her course lay so far north that she put into San Francisco before coming to this port. The vessel's auxiliary power became useless during the cruise across the Atlantic from Copenhagen to the Canal through the breaking of a tail shaft. She was 141 days on the voyage from Copenhagen to San Francisco.

WELL-KNOWN COMMANDER.

Commander Brockdorf, who stands six feet three inches, is one of the best known ship captains in Europe and is a descendant of a long line of Danish noblemen who have followed the sea for centuries. For several years he was in supreme command of the submarine division of the Danish navy and is regarded as one of the world's authorities on submarine warfare.

"The Kobenhavn was built for the Danish East Asiatic Company. The cadets on board were received from all classes of the Danish people and they are on board to train as future officers of the Danish merchant marine. Regular classes in academic study, as well as in seamanship are held every day under the direction of two highly trained instructors. The cadets stand regular watches, take their turns as seamen and fill various positions on the ship," Commander Brockdorf said.

In addition to Commander Brockdorf, members of the Danish nobility on board the Kobenhavn are First Officer Jens Mortensen and Cadets Viggo Christiansen, Aaje Simonsen, Svend Laugsand and Carl Kjellrod, all Danish counts.

After discharging 500 tons of chalk and 270 tons of coke at this port the Kobenhavn will sail for Honolulu, and thence to Dalny and Vladivostok for a full cargo of soya beans for delivery to Copenhagen. Commander Brockdorf stated yesterday that he expected to be ready to sail Friday afternoon or Saturday morning.

COUNCIL COMMUNITY SERVICE PLANS TEA.

With the members of the Mary Trowbridge Foundation department of the Council of Community Service as hostesses, a silver tea will be given tomorrow in room 215, Coulter Building. This social gathering is one of a series being held by the various groups affiliated with the council. The occasions will serve as a medium for a review of the accomplishments during the year and the planning of activities to meet the needs of the current year. Departments which have met prior to this Thursday afternoon gathering include the Thrift Shop workers, who, under the chairmanship of Mrs. D. Joseph Coyne, are planning enlarged activities during the year. Members of the Monte Vista lodge committee held their meeting last Thursday afternoon, and the milk and maintenance fund committee met the prior Thursday.

Glenn Martin to be Speaker at Aero Club.

Glenn L. Martin, pioneer flyer and builder of the famous Martin bombing planes which sent to the bottom German battleships during practice off Newport News a year ago, will address the Aero Club of Southern California at 8 p.m. today in the Chamber of Commerce Building. The meeting will be open to the public.

Mr. Martin did his first flying at Santa Ana many years ago and has since built millions of dollars worth of planes in his factory at Cleveland. He will give some of his personal experiences during a dozen years in aviation.

In addition to Mr. Martin's talk there will be motion pictures of aeronautical topics which were sent to the coast by the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce of New York and the Aero Club of America. A tremendous turnout is expected as there will be, in addition to the above features, several interesting announcements concerning future aerial activities in Southern California. The newly elected officers and directors of the club are planning the biggest program ever undertaken by an aeronautical organization in Southern California and every one interested in aeronautics whether a club member or not, is invited to attend. There will be no admission charge.

GET STILL, LIQUOR.

Police and Federal Men in Raid; No Arrests Made.

Police and Federal agents yesterday made a raid at 8460 South San Pedro street and found a fifty-gallon still, fifteen barrels of mash and ten one-gallon kegs of liquor. They also found an electrical device for aging whisky. No one was in the house at the time. Patrolman L. Aibright and C. E. Williams had been watching the place for several days.

"FAIR PLAY IN RIVER PROJECT"

Keynote Sounded by U.S.C. President in Address.

Public Beneficiaries in End, Educator's View.

Federal Control May be Answer, He Says.

Fair play for all parties concerned in the Colorado River control project was the keynote of the address delivered at noon yesterday by President von KleinSmid of the University of Southern California before members of the People's Power League in the cafe of the Broadway Department Store.

"Federal control may the answer for the Colorado River project," said Dr. von KleinSmid," but I can remember bills that are still unsettled which were introduced in Congress when I was a boy." We may also see the matter settled through State control, but even if the Colorado River power is harnessed by private corporations the general public will be benefitted in the final analysis.

"The rights of seven States are to be considered. We can place them in two groups, the upper consisting of Wyoming, Utah and Colorado, and the lower, comprising Arizona, Nevada, New Mexico and California. The first consideration is the water for domestic purposes and then the flood control and the hydroelectric development.

"Imperial Valley is entitled to her full share of the water, but the project must be so handled that even the Imperial Valley will not be flooded.

This project concerns 1,500,000 people we are to have in this city in 1930 and the almost 2,000,000 a few years later.

"William Mulholland was wise when he suggested that we agree to vacate all our claims on the Colorado and its tributaries and then send our lawyers on a vacation while we settle all controversies among ourselves. We must see to it that the Imperial Valley has fair play. Colorado cannot expect to take all of the water, because if some of those who recently attended the commission sessions have their way the upper States will take all the water and leave us to depend on a supply which may be had through evaporation. The scientists may arrange to drift the clouds over the mountains down into Imperial Valley and give us a larger rainfall, but that is all for the future.

"Those of us who are acquainted with California and Arizona know how much need there is for water to irrigate those arid plains, though we do not possess any six or ten million acres as even that is a stretch of imagination for a Los Angeleno. Grandpa Fall told us to hold our controversies and then the Government will take it over. The greatest good to the greatest number can certainly be provided by arranging for water to be supplied to the upper States for domestic purposes, and then, by providing for flood control and hydroelectric power development, to the lower four with everybody in all seven States being benefitted by the great power project.

Three on Trial for Burglaries Win Probation

After admitting the theft of a saxophone valued at $170, from his brother-in-law, Jack Cassell, who said he stole the instrument because he had not eaten for two days, was granted probation yesterday by Judge Shenk. The defendant stated that he went to the home of Edward Neill, 1041 South Oxford avenue, to bring about a reconciliation with his wife, and found no one at home. He said he was hungry, took the saxophone and sold it for $60.

The defendant was given probation of three years on condition that he find employment, support his wife and live up to other conditions imposed by Probation Officer May.

H. L. Heck, who pleaded guilty to second-degree burglary of the home of Frank A. Cox, 815 East Fourth street, Long Beach, on November 14, last, was also given probation of three years. He is said to have stolen a box of cigars and a few pennies.

When evidence was given Judge Shenk that Howard R. Hess, who pleaded guilty to raising a check for $25 given him by P. Ehrlich, to $225, had never been arrested before, the court gave him another chance through probation of five years. Stern restrictions were imposed.

Willie Salazar, who admitted burglary of the Murphy Memorial Hospital at Whittier on February 1, last, was sent to Preston School of Industry to stay until he becomes of age.

O'Connell and Ikeda Wind Up Mat Training.

Eddie O'Connell and Kinjo Ikeda hung finis on their training in preparation for their clash tomorrow evening at the Los Angeles Athletic Club.

Ikeda burned up the roads down around San Pedro early in the morning and after a rest in the afternoon took to the mat in the evening. For more than two hours he mussed up his partners and after having worn them all out went through a lot of fancy steps and skipped rope. This is Mr. Ikeda's idea of training for a mat bout.

The Japanese wrestling expert is in excellent condition. He has had plenty of time to fully recover from his attack of flu, which caused the initial postponement of his bout with Walter Miller.

In picking Eddie O'Connell to substitute for Walter Miller, Charley Keppen selected one of the craftiest and speediest wrestlers in the game. Eddie is plucky as well, for in most of his matches in the last few years he has been forced to give away considerable poundage in order to get bouts. In meeting Ikeda, however, he will be only slightly outweighed. Ikeda is a natural middleweight.

PLAN ANNUAL RETREAT

Knights of Columbus to Prepare for Communion.

The annual spiritual retreat of the Knights of Columbus will begin this evening at St. Vibiana's Cathedral. Rt. Rev. Joseph S. Glass, C.M.D.D., bishop of Salt Lake City, will preach the sermons. The singing will be furnished by the members of the Knights of Columbus Choral Society. The retreat is intended for all the Catholic men of the city and is given by way of preparation for the annual communion of the Knights of Columbus, which will take place at the 8:30 a.m. mass at the cathedral Sunday. It is anticipated that fully 1800 men will participate in the communion. After the mass, breakfast will be served at the Alexandria and there will be a program of speeches by distinguished representatives of the clergy and the laity.

SLAVS' BLACK-HAND CASE IS POSTPONED.

In U. S. District Judge Trippet's court yesterday the case of Jack Randow and Frank Sergo, local Slavonians, charged with writing black-hand letters to F. W. Braun of Pasadena, was postponed at the request of the defendants until April 3, when the trial date will be set. One of the defendants is in the County Jail and the other at liberty under bond.

ADVERTISING OF STATE PRAISED.

Publicity Chief for New York Publishers Speaks.

Five Hundred Members of Club Hear Address.

Attention to California Scenery Suggested.

The most effective advertising of recent years has been that of Southern California, said S. R. Latshaw, advertising director of the Butterick Publishing Company of New York, yesterday in addressing the Advertising Club of Los Angeles at its luncheon in the ball room of the Alexandria.

Nearly 500 members of the club listened to Mr. Latshaw's talk on the principles of his profession. He declared that the belief expressed by many persons in the business world that advertising was a tax on trade was an error.

"Advertising will increase the potential market," he stated. "It is not a tax per se per expense, but a builder of commerce," and he gave, as an example of what advertising will do, the history of a gas company operating in Madison, Wis.

He said the Wisconsin capital had been served without profit for years and the company faced possible competition of both city and State plants. The city contemplated construction of a plant to furnish street lights and the State planned to light and heat the Capitol and other State buildings. An advertising campaign was begun and the gas company spent more in that line than the largest department store in the city. There was no change in rates, except reductions made to both city and State, and yet at the end of the year a profit of $100,000 was reported due to increased consumption of gas as a result of the company's advertising campaign to educate consumers in the use of its products.

FRUIT ADS PRAISED.

Mr. Latshaw declared the acme of educational advertising had been reached in the publicity given Californit fruit in stating the various ways in which oranges, walnuts raisins, grapes and other fruits could be used.

"We of the East stood amazed at the results obtained," he declared, and we willingly grant you Californians the palm."

While discussing the Southland's methods he urged that somewhat less stress be laid on climate and more on scenery, because, he explained:

"The tourist who comes here after being sold climate, expects continued sunshine. When he experiences even one day of rain he feels that he has been gyped. While if you sell him partly on scenery he goes home a booster for Southern California."

PLEA FOR SCHOOL BONDS.

Bruce A. Findlay, assistant to the Superintendent of Schools, also spoke. He outlined the school's campaign for a bond issue of $17,000,000 to be expended in building new buildings and enlarging the facilities, which he described as being woefully overcrowded at present. Jane Everington Scully, soprano, sang several selections. She was introduced by President Butterworth of the club, as a relative of Chief of Police Everington, and the president urged that all members of the club give the Chief their active support in his crusade to clean up the city.

Don Francisco, chairman of the committee directing Unity Week, which opened yesterday, outlined the purpose of the week. He declared closer co-operation among all organizations formed for mutual benefit was sought over the West and the program for the week will consist of exchange of speakers, whereby each organization will be informed of what the others are doing.

Masked Bandits Rob Drug Store; Strike Woman.

Four masked bandits, armed with automatic pistols yesterday held up and robbed the E. F. Johnson drug store, 1490 West Jefferson street, and struck an unidentified woman customer who hesitated to obey their commands.

Three of the bandits entered the store and levelled their weapons at the proprietor, the woman, and Dr. T. Schuricka, 1238 West Thirty-fifth street. The fourth member of the gang sat at the wheel of a waiting automobile.

The woman, who later refused to give her name and address to Detective Sergeants Mack and Riggs of University Division, was standing at the telephone. One of the bandits ordered her to hang up the receiver. When she hesitated he struck her in the face. The hold-up men obtained approximately $75 from the cash register and speeded away.

City Urged to License Fishing in Reservoirs.

The Board of Public Service Commissioners has long held to the policy of prohibiting fishing in city reservoirs or hunting game on the surrounding land, but City Prosecutor Widney believes that if the plan adopted by San Diego, of strictly guarding these reservoirs with watchmen, is placed in operation here, fishing and hunting could be permitted, under license, without injuring the water, and that the watchmen would be able to prevent the nuisances now complained of at these city reservations.

At San Diego, the city issues permits to hunters and fishermen, and charges a fee for them and from these fees, watchmen are paid to strictly guard the reservoirs and surrounding land. Fishermen found to be polluting the water, immediately suffer the cancellation of their permits.

Justice of the Peace H. A. Decker of San Fernando agrees with City Prosecutor Widney, and in a letter received yesterday by the City Prosecutor, declares that an ordinance should be enacted making it unlawful to camp within a certain distance of reservoirs, or to deposit rubbish or garbage near them and to prohibit wading in the water.

LEGION WARNS OF FAKE AGENT.

Solicitor for Magazine is Not a Member of Victory Post.

Officials of Victory Post, No. 54, American Legion, issued a statement yesterday warning residents of the city that uniformed men, representing themselves as members of "Victory Post, No. 1, American Legion," are misrepresenting facts to seek subscriptions for a magazine.

The uniformed men, according to many complaints received at Victory Post, No. 54, have been circulating through the residential district and collecting $3 from sympathetic subscribers, though no receipts for the money are returned. According to the officials of Victory Post, No. 54, no such Legion post as Victory Post, No. 1 exists.

Two Caught in Ante-Volstead Day Are Fined.

Archie Thompson, a taxicab driver of Venice, and George Atwood, a cafe proprietor at that place, were fined $500 each by U. S. District Judge Trippet yesterday.

The act to which they pleaded guilty was committed in October, 1920, before the Volstead law went into effect, and the case has been pending since that date.

The pair were captured at San Juan Capistrano with a load of whisky they had brought across the line from Mexico.

It was stated in Atwood's behalf that his wife had died from grief growing out of his arrest, and that on her dying bed she had asked her husband to marry her nurse.

CLUB TO CELEBRATE.

The Gamut Club will celebrate its eighteenth anniversary on the evening of April 5. There will be a banquet and a program in charge of Joseph Dupuy. The Gamut Club originally was an organization for musicians only but latterly has represented all of the arts.

"Tiz" Gladdens Sore, Tired Feet

"TIZ" makes sore, burning tired feet fairly dance with delight. Away go the aches and pains, the corns, callouses, blisters and bunions.

"TIZ" draws out the acids and poisons that puff up your feet. No matter how hard you work, how long you dance, how far you walk, or how long you remain on your feet, "TIZ" brings restful foot comfort. "TIZ" is wonderful for tired, aching, swollen, smarting feet. Your feet just tingle for joy; shoes never hurt or seem tight.

Get a box of "TIZ" now from any druggist or department store. Find foot torture forever — wear smaller shoes, keep your feet fresh, sweet and happy.—[Advertisement.

DANDERINE

Stops Hair Coming Out
Thickens, Beautifies.

25-cents buys a bottle of "Danderine" at any drug store. After one application of this delightful tonic you cannot find a particle of dandruff or a falling hair. Besides, every hair shows new life, vigor, brightness, more color and abundance.—[Advertisement.

Coughs and Colds

Catarrh, Croup, Sore Throat Banished by Hyomei

The germs of catarrh do not exist in the same atmosphere with antiseptic Hyomei (pronounce it High-o-me.)

Breathe Hyomei and relief from catarrh, coughs, sore throat or cold will come in two minutes.

Breathe Hyomei and that stomach straining hawking in the morning will quickly disappear.

Breathe Hyomei and kill the catarrh germs; heal the inflamed membrane, stop the discharge of mucus and prevent crust from forming in the nose.

Breathe Hyomei for a few minutes each day and rid yourself of contemptible catarrh.

Breathe Hyomei—give it faithful trial and then, if you are not satisfied, you can have your money back.

Hyomei is sold by The Owl Drug Co. and druggists everywhere.—[Advertisement.

LASKY SIGNS AUTHOR.

PETER B. KYNE'S STORIES TO STAR JACK HOLT.

By Grace Kingsley.

Count that day lost whose low descending sun doesn't see some well-known author tied up hard and fast to one or another of our best-known picture companies.

Now it's none other than Jesse Lasky who announces that Peter B. Kyne has been added to the literary Who's Who of Famous Players-Lasky. A number of Kyne's stories are to be produced, including "The Land Just Over Yonder," "Humanizing Mr. Winsby" and one of the "Cappy Ricks" stories.

The star of these pictures will be Jack Holt, and the first picture which will be made will be "Humanizing Mr. Winsby," which is to be produced under the title of "The Lost Kingdom," the scenario for which Albert Shelby La Vina is writing, in collaboration with the author.

Joseph Henabery will direct all the Kyne stories, and work on the first one will be commenced within a few days.

Various Kyne stories have been filmed heretofore, but this is his first screen excursion under a regular contract.

Sid Franklin Back.

Director Sidney Franklin has returned from New York and is busily engaged at United Studios in preparing for Constance Talmadge's next starring production, "East is West," the film rights of which were purchased by Joseph Schenck. The production will be under way in about three weeks at United Studios.

Jane Novak's Hard Luck.

Jane Novak is complaining these days that she doesn't know when one season leaves off and another begins because life for her is just one darn snow or rainstorm after another.

Upon her return from location at Truckee with the Chester Bennett Productions, the star and her company, making "Snowshoe Trail," stopped at United Studios only long enough to reload their property trucks and then went off to Keane's Camp for additional exteriors.

Universal's Laugh-Getters.

If the world doesn't find anything to laugh about, it isn't going to be Carl Laemmle's fault. The president of Universal has three comedy companies working hard for him.

Craig Hutchinson and Allen Curtis are alternating in direction of Roy Atwell and Ethel Ritchie, costars in domestic-situation companies. Separate casts are alternated weekly, making two units in production. William H. Watson's megaphone is behind the action of Neely Edward's pictures.

Ethel Gray Terry in It.

Ethel Gray Terry has been cast by Universal to play the role of Madame Corona, in "Under Two Flags," Priscilla Dean's present starring vehicle, which Tod Browning is directing.

The cast to date includes James Kirkwood, John Davidson, Stuart Holmes, Sydney Franklin, W. H. Bainbridge and Robert Mack.

Louis Burston Leaves.

For the first time in two years, Louis Burston will renew acquaintance with his old home folks in Brooklyn, for he will leave shortly for New York with a print of "Forget Me Not," the special production which co-stars Gareth Hughes and Beasie Love. The picture is to have a special showing in New York.

Gladys Walton Comes Home.

Gladys Walton has returned to the fold at Universal City from an extensive six weeks of personal appearance tours with five pounds more on her slim person, with a devouring passion for work and six trunks of new clothes. She is at once to begin work on a new picture called "The Trouper," which Harry Harris will direct.

Jack Perrin will play in support of the star, while other members of the cast are Thomas Holding, Mary Philbin, Kathleen O'Connor, Roscoe Karns, Tom D. Guise, Florence Lee and Mary True.

Tony Moreno Dances.

As if being a first-class athlete weren't enough, now Antonio Moreno has been forced to take ballet lessons in order to play his role of ballet master in Rupert Hughes's "Bitterness of Sweets," in which he is being co-featured with Colleen Moore at Goldwyn studio.

Val Paul with R-C.

Val Paul is dusting off his megaphone and clearing his voice with throat lozenges these days, in preparation for resuming directorial work, following a season of acting.

He has just been engaged by Robertson-Cole to direct Harry Carey in his forthcoming picture, work on which is to commence early next week.

For several years, Paul acted as star and director with Universal, during which time he megaphoned Harry Carey, so that the connection as director and star with Robertson-Cole will merely be a continuation of their former relations.

"We made several pictures together, and know the worst of each other," Harry Carey laughingly explained.

Want Bill Hart Back.

Traveling on horseback from Casper, Wyo., to Hollywood, with a petition to William S. Hart, already signed by 3000 westerners, asking the star to continue making western pictures, "Prarie Jack" Edwards, cowpuncher, has progressed as far as Salt Lake City, according to telegraphic dispatches received in Los Angeles today.

Edwards stopped over night in Salt Lake and the next day proceeded on his long journey. He hopes to arrive in Hollywood before May and by that time he expects to have more than 10,000 signatures of western people.

The cowboy carries with him an indorsement from Boyd Townsend, president of the Wyoming Frotier Association. For three weeks he battled against blizzards in Western Wyoming and Utah, struggling through snowdrifts sometimes ten feet deep. The horse he started with went lame after covering a few hundred miles, and he had to change his mount at Morgan, Utah. He said that the sight of pavement outside of Ogden was the best piece of scenery his eyes had found since he began his journey.

Heavyweight Cast.

A weighty cast is that of "Is Matrimony a Failure," which comes to Grauman's next week. Let Walter Hiers, the weightiest of the heavyweights, tell about it:

"There's Otis Harlan with his 225 pounds, Sylvia Ashton with her 210, and your humble servant with 240. That makes 675 pounds. Might throw in the overstuffed sofa and call it a thousand. The sofas and chairs in the picture are heavier than usual because all the springs are reinforced."

Dagmar Godowsky Flits.

Frank Mayo's happy home is all broken up. No, not permanently. But his wife, Dagmar Godowsky, has gone to San Francisco, to meet her father, the famous pianist, Leopold Godowsky, who is to give a concert there. Father and daughter will return home in the course of a fortnight.

Mrs. Drew on Circuit.

Mrs. Sidney Drew, who made a certain fame in pictures after she had well established herself on the vaudeville and legitimate stage, is back to her first love and is playing the Orpheum now in "Predestination," a new playlet. She and her company are due here shortly.

Believes in Realism.

It was the end of a strenuous day recently for several hundred extras engaged in playing soldiers in a Larry Semon comedy.

An elated assistant came up to the comedy star and said: "Mr. Semon, we have secured some wonderful and realistic fight scenes."

"Hurrah!" exclaimed Larry. "Go and take my congratulations to your men."

"I'm sorry, sir, there are none left—all are in the hospital."

"STRIFE" IN PASADENA.

Mob Scene in Galsworthy Play Realistic.

One of the most realistic mob scenes that has been seen on the stage for a long while ends the second act of Galsworthy's "Strife," at the Pasadena Community Playhouse. It is as tense as the strikes that are shown on the screen.

In the five years of their existence the community players have never done anything more finished than this labor and capital play by the British playwright. Robert Loofbourrow as Anothony, leader of the capitalists, and Wendell Wilson, the labor agitator, play their parts with grim verisimilitude. Women of the large cast distinguishing themselves are Mrs. Arthur Farwell, Colyde Dalzell and Anna Stokes Wheatley.

This is the first time that "Strife" has been given on the Pacific Coast. Gilmor Brown has produced it in a highly realistic manner. As the play does not take sides, it is being attended by all classes and conditions. "Strife" will be repeated every night and Saturday matinee, this week.

ORGANIST PLEASES.

Eddie Horton at Kinema Strikes Note of Appeal.

The initial appearance of Eddie Horton in music circles of this city, with his connection at the Kinema Theater, has caused considerable enthusiasm among film patrons who have attended the early showing of Wesley "Freckles" Barry in "School Days," now showing.

People love music, instinctively—good music—more than any other goes back through the ages, centuries before motion pictures were even dreamed of, and further than that, music is the universal language.

Eddie Horton, masterful and brilliant organist, has proved his exceptional talent and his renditions have marked him as an artist of the first water. At each appearance, Horton has been greeted enthusiastically, and his name is fast becoming a byword when music is the topic for conversation.

MISSION CHANGES TODAY.

To the many theater-goers who enjoyed that comedy-drama hit of the speaking stage, John Golden's presentation of "Turn To The Right," by Winchell Smith and John E. Hazzard, and to the thousands who have failed to see it, the announcement that this universally popular play will be shown at the Mission Theater today has proved joyful news. "Turn To The Right" has been brought to the screen by Rex Ingram, who last evening witnessed a final projection of the feature, and expressed his approval of the special care with which the laboratories in the East have treated the Los Angeles print. Ingram stayed through the musical rehearsals and was delighted with the selections made for the score.

MARITAL MIX-UPS IN BURBANK REVUE PLOT.

To say the least, the situation of a lonely wife under the impression that her husband has been lost for many years, getting ready to marry another and finding on the eve of her marriage that her supposedly dead spouse has returned, is somewhat exasperating.

This is the nature of the plot of "Turned Up," the latest musical comedy presentation of the Hi Jinks Revues company at the Burbank Theater, with those two funny characters Abie and Mickie holding down the main fun roles. Henry Sherr as the newly-engaged husband and Jack Christie as the departed one provide the majority of laughter, with Dolly Sterling as the unfortunate wife between the devil and the deep sea.

Jean Daby and Inez Johnson are an appealing pair of juveniles, adding a goodly measure of joy and youthful enthusiasm to their parts and delivering their specialties with equal pep. George Clark and Olga Brooks, as a Hawaiian princess, make up the rest of the cast.

MANDY IS WELCOMED AT DALTON'S HOME.

There will be a gala reception if Mandy should ever make up her mind to come to town again, for judging from the reception given the latest production of the Dalton's Broadway musical comedy company, "Mandy Comes to Town" is a riot of fun and colorful entertainment.

Billie Moody plays the featured role and this clever comedienne can be relied upon to deliver us from all glooms and grouch. She is supported by Fritz Fields, who plays a lovable uncle with "magnetic" ideas. Others in the cast are Nat Wentworth, Bill Rader, Violet Teal, Kenneth Kemper, Anna Conway, Grace Jennings, Ted Howland and the Kemball Four.

The plot has to do with the intrigue of Uncle Henry and a Follies girl, who makes it her business to impress the gay old boy that unless he comes across with a substantial check his chances for a continuation of a happy existence with Aunt Mandy (Billie Moody) are very slim.

TOO MATINEES OF THE FOLLIES.

The engagement of the Greenwich Village Follies at the Philharmonic auditorium will conclude with Saturday's matinee. There will be matinee performances today and tomorrow. An earlier booking for the Philharmonic Orchestra prohibits the "Follies" playing a performance Saturday night.

Inspired by commotions of New York's artistic quarter, this gay and exotic creation is one of the most genuinely amusing of all the revues that have thus far visited Los Angeles. The "Follies" avoids all the pitfalls that overcome the conventional girl-and-music show. Ever it flouts tradition and precedent, in its scheme and construction, as well as in its more material phases.

TO COMMERCIAL BOARD.

M. A. Leach, president of the Leach-Biltwell Motor Car Company, will speak on "Reciprocity Features" at a meeting of the Commercial Board at noon today in the ballroom of the Alexandria. E. C. D. Price of the Wyman-Price classes, character analyst, will address the organization on "Facing Faces."

REVIEWS.

HAMPDEN IN MACBETH.

SOUL TRAGEDY IS LIMNED BY SHAKESPEAREAN ACTOR.

By Edwin Schallert.

Witches may conjure forth the ghosts of dead kings and princes and lords, but it takes the poet and the actor to lift the shadows that shroud forgotten realms and their dark intrigues, and give to them the brief illusion of reality. That perhaps is one of the reasons why Shakespeare's "Macbeth" is so potent tragedy on the stage. It is fraught with the fears and superstitions of an elder age. It causes to pass before you unsubstantial shapes. But, all the while, it lives—because in it the voice of the poet speaks through the actor, and that voice is filled with the human and the real, despite that which is unhuman and unreal.

Walter Hampden brought his emotionally vibrant interpretation of a guilty soul-tortured murderer and usurper before the public here last night at the Mason. The audience gave him tokens of their esteem and appreciation. He filled their senses and mayhap their hearts with the force of his feeling. For he strives with strength and sentiment to convey his sensitiveness to the struggle that goes on in Macbeth's breast.

Is he Macbeth? That is another question. Macbeth was a king, at least in the flesh, if not in the spirit. Hampden was king to an extent in both, but in neither was he fully and completely of the stature and the gait of a king. Too much of the soul tragedy was unbared before his public. The psychology was too deeply of the emotion of self; too little, I believe, of the mind which regards as from the throne of ambition.

Yet for all that the Hampden portrayal is amazingly interesting. The finer shading of accent is not always there in the lines, but the torment, the suffering, the virulent, cutting, venomous sting of remorse is in each gesture and each clutch that is meant to symbolize them.

When Macbeth fights soul-battles Hampden battles with him; when he fights the battles of the sword and scepter, Hampden wars against him. Deeply introspective, finely wrought in the heart, is Hampden's Macbeth, and as such it leaves an impression of its sincerity and its warmth, that at times verges on fire.

The presentation as a whole had not the strength of "Hamlet" the previous evening. It rose at times to heights, and again, it swayed a trifle uncertainly. The sum attained was excellence, however, that pleased the discriminating, and, in general, fascinated all. One or two episodes like the murder of Lady Macduff and her son, however, wavered to an unsteady close.

Mary Hall had a larger opportunity in the role of Lady Macbeth, but failed somewhat of attaining the conviction her Queen Mother in "Hamlet" would have led one to expect. The Sleep-Walking Scene was her most impressive, retaining its pervading subtle spell. She has character as an actress, even though this seems not at all times sure.

Ernest Rowan, William Sauter, Edwin Cushman, Le Roi Operti, Allen Thomas, P. J. Kelly, among others, should be credited with capable work.

This afternoon will be given "Romeo and Juliet," and tonight, "The Taming of the Shrew."

WILL KING RETURNING.

Will King, popular comedian, well known in Los Angeles, is to return to this city with his clever musical show which has been running continuously in San Francisco for the past three years. Mr. King will bring his show intact to the Auditorium. He will open his summer season May 8 for twenty-four weeks, giving three performances every day except Sunday, and four performances Saturday. Up-to-date musical revues with an entire change of program each week will be offered with the latest short-reel pictures and news topics preceding the comedies. The company supporting Mr. King numbers more than fifty including comedians, singers and dancers, and a beauty chorus of thirty girls.

FIREMAN IS INJURED.

Falls From Ladder; Blaze Destroys Frame Garage.

In a fire at 1233 West Ninth street, which destroyed a small frame garage early last night, Lieut. William H. Bennett of Truck No. 7, was painfully hurt. Bennett fell about fifteen feet from a ladder. He was taken to the Receiving Hospital and treated for abrasions of the head, and a badly-sprained left shoulder.

The fire loss was estimated by the police at about $1000. The garage was the property of E. F. Cofter & Co., and was rented to W. R. Fowler. No automobiles were in the building at the time it was reported. Slight damage was done to buildings near by.

Fire in the Globe Hat and Cap Works on the third floor of the Henne Building at 122 West Third street early last night, caused a loss estimated by the police at about $3000. Quick work on the part of the firemen confined the flames to the hat and cap works, consisting of three large offices in the rear of the building on the third floor.

District Federation in Session at Beach.

Women Favor Peace and Good Citizenship.

Child Welfare Also Aim of Organizations.

BY MYRA NYE.

World peace, good citizenship and child welfare were the keynotes set for the three days' convention of the Los Angeles District Federation of Women's Clubs yesterday, at the opening session in the Santa Monica Bay Woman's clubhouse.

The seaside city extended a remarkable welcome of kindly cooperation to these thousand or more clubwomen, who came from all over the district, which includes Los Angeles, Ventura, Inyo, Santa Barbara and San Luis Obispo counties. This harmony of womanhood and motherhood was struck in the report of fifty individual clubs in the greetings of State officers and county presidents and in the two principal addresses of the day.

Mrs. William Fitzgerald of San Francisco, State president, spoke last evening.

"There is only one warfare in which women are interested," she said. "That is a warfare against greed, against political chicanery, against graft, against those who would commercialize the beauty and talent of childhood.

"In this woman's movement in which we are now engaged we are making history. What will be the record when the moving hand has written and has moved on? All our departmental work of education, of child welfare, of citizenship, of clubhouse building is of no avail if we have not at this crucial time written indelibly the woman's desire for world peace."

FOR STATE BOARD.

Mrs. Fitzgerald spoke for the State executive board, representing the 55,000 women of the State, in commending the President and Senate for the step toward world peace in the initiation and the ratification of the four-power treaty.

"There are two sides to the soldiers' bonus bill," she said, "and the women may be divided in their idea of how to help the returned soldier, but the woman's sympathies are with the disabled veteran."

Mrs. Robert J. Burdette, speaking on "The Setting of the Square Table in Washington," told in a delightfully intimate way as she had witnessed it, of the Washington conference in Memorial Hall, which belongs to the Daughters of the American Revolution. She told how women had a part in the deliberations and how women were vitally interested in all that went on.

She outlined action for organized womanhood in working for world peace through the legislative departments of their clubs, through resolutions and by keeping in close touch with their Representatives in Congress.

Presidents of more than half a hundred clubs reported during the day and it was from these two minute talks the more intimate cooperative side of the woman's movement in club work was revealed.

Mrs. A. G. Rice, president of the Woman's Club of Compton told of the widow and her four children whom the club had clothed for a year and of the cookie jar kept constantly filled for the motherless boys and girls of the community. Irwindale Miscellany Club of Covina has made among many other things fifty pounds of carpet rags and woven them for rugs in the Children's Orthopedic Hospital. The Culver City club has doubled its membership. The Twentieth Century Club of Eagle Rock is planning another Easter surprise service and provides dances for the young people of the community every week.

Mrs. Clara Woodruff, of Gardena Club, said that her district believes that all good things in community life come through the kitchen. The club is therefore planning another civic dinner with a thousand people attending. She added that they had "helped out their husbands by adding a lean-to to the clubhouse and at their dinners they invite their husbands and their husbands' friends."

These were only a few of the details of the reports, ranging all the way from providing fried chicken and disabled veterans to building $250,000 clubhouses, from the serving on juries in great numbers to the frosting of cakes for afternoon teas. The Echo Park Mothers Club of Los Angeles which has the custom of presenting each new born child of a member with a silver spoon announced through the president, Mrs. Otto Waterman, that many spoons had already been purchased for next year. The Gleason Parliamentary Club told of playing "football with motions before the house."

Bust most significant of all the reports as regards the motherhood of clubwomen was that of Dr. Maud Wilde, president of the Business Woman's Civic Club of Los Angeles, reporting for Dr. Annie Chapin, district chairman of child welfare, who said that 28,000 mothers and babies had been definitely helped through the activities of this department of the district.

Mrs. Bret H. Brigham of Simi, president of the Ventura County Federation, reported one unique club, the Thursday Club of Somis, which actually has husbands as members because "they are too lonely to be left at home." Mrs. Jess Hession of Independence, president of the Inyo County Federation, told of the history of the county which has been compiled and published by the club women. Reporting concerning the pageant which is to be given by the club women at the dedication of the new Courthouse at Independence April 10, next, depicting dramatically the history of the products and industries of the county, she said: "So popular is it in the preparation that every club woman in the county wanted the principal roles and it has been settled by the women drawing lots for the parts they are to enact."

For the first time in the history of club conventions an entire club has removed from one town to another and entertained at dinner. The South Side Ebell of Los Angeles, with Mrs. George Salm, president, and Mrs. Agnes Downey serving as toastmistress, entertained in honor of the State and district officers last night. Yellow marigolds and white Marguerites, the club colors, were used on the blue glass tables in the dining-room at the Miramar. There were a hundred present, members of the club and honor guests.

DISTINGUISHED GUESTS.

Distinguished guests who addressed the club last evening included: S. L. Berkley, Mayor of Santa Monica; Mr. H. M. Gorham, president of the Chamber of Commerce and Mrs. D. G. Stephens, president emeritus of the Hostess Club. Mrs. Frank J. Wagner, president of Santa Monica club, presided.

The program this morning includes the first reading of the resolutions by Mrs. Arthur C. Wier, vice-president of the Friday Morning Club; an address, "The American Foundation of Peace," by Rev. Willsie Martin of Hollywood, and an out-of-door song festival with world peace as its motif, directed by Gloria Mayne, district chairman of music. Community singing, in which choruses from eighteen clubs will take part, will be directed by Hugo Kirchofer. A Santa Monica High School chorus and band, led respectively by Miss Alice Rogers and Arthur Gripp, will appear also on the program as will the Municipal Band, led by Alfudo Tommasino. It is estimated that 2000 will share in this festival of song.

The chief social function of the entire convention is the banquet this evening at Sunset Inn with Mrs. Urquhart presiding and Mrs. Seward A. Simons speaking on "The Will to Peace."

THE LAST WORD.

BY ALMA WHITAKER

I see that Richard Peete, husband of the famous lady now serving a sentence in the penitentiary, is bemoaning to a reporter in Denver that he cannot take care of the child, Betty, and earn a living as well.

A good many thousands of mammas are managing to perform the double job very successfully. And some times they have several Bettys to take care of. And quite often the papas are in the penitentiary, too. But, of course, it isn't apt to improve their appearance or their nerves.

But the Lord has His own good reasons for making women such capable fools.

Mrs. Evelyn Giffard is rather a unique person. She is wealthy, young, good looking, stylish. But she devotes both her time and her money to very practical charity. Her latest endeavor is to provide a first-class lunch for more than seventy-five mothers and their children every day—women who are vainly seeking, through the State employment bureau, jobs in which they can keep their children with them. And they are mostly hungry, desperately hungry. So Mrs. Giffard not only secures quarters near the bureau where she can serve this lunch, not only provides the food, but also devotes her own time every day to making coffee and sandwiches and serving these women and children in person.

But these things are not so remarkable as the fact that she doesn't consider it a matter for publicity, doesn't pathetically crave "recognition," doesn't plague the newspapers for special "write-ups," but is actually prepared to do her charities in secret. God bless her.

Just for fun I kept tab of the number of times I have seen the following story in print recently, with slight variations:

Charley had written home a glowing letter telling of his engagement. Shortly afterward he received this reply:

"Dear Son: Your mother and I are writing to congratulate you upon the splendid news. Marriage is a fine thing for a young man. For twenty-five years your mother has been everything to me. I hope that you will have an equally happy married life. Your loving father.

"P. S. Your mother has just gone for a stamp. Don't be a fool. Keep siggie."

This makes the seventh publication thereof in this city.

Women have no sense of humor, otherwise that postscript would have been written by mother.

And it would have been further evidence of the depravity of women.

I see a San Francisco society dame has opened a dressmaking establishment in her private home in order that "the price of fashionable dresses may be reduced and women of modest means may obtain the most luxurious gowns at one-half the present prices."

Presumably it is a philanthropic venture, minus profit, with well-paid assistants and no overhead rent expenses.

Hurrah, of course, hurrah! What nobler benefactions could wealthy society women undertake? Especially as the male of the species who write novels and films—even unto Rudyard Kipling himself—have insisted that smart dressing is the best means of restoring hubby's waning affections. Always providing he doesn't get the bills afterward. Although they don't necessarily mention that—it would blast the sentiment of the romance.

But if this sort of thing becomes general, there is no hope for us. The only thing that now saves us from being all wicked siren charmers is the price of the charm. And don't forget the more they are charmed, the greater the condemnation the men lavish upon us.

How dare we encourage them in their dubious tastes? And it is most immodest of us to wish to charm them anyway. Of course, if we don't charm them we are apt to become contemptible "old maids," but if we do our morals are in grave doubt and they do so want us to be moral.

I see that Gainsborough's "Blue Boy" has arrived safely at last—the one Mr. Huntington paid the Duke of Westminster such a huge sum for.

In my pristine youth I once went to a fancy-dress ball as that "Blue Boy" and won the first prize for accuracy and artistic conception.

The first prize was a butter dish and knife—sterling silver.

But nobody thought of offering $750,000 for me. I suppose I wasn't antique enough.

The best offer that was ever made for me was three cows and a cartload of bricks. That was by a Zulu Chief in South Africa for whom my father had performed a service and that was his complimentary way of signifying his gratitude. He didn't really want a little white girl wife, but he wished to compliment papa by pretending he did. And the best Zulu wives were fetching only two cows at that time, so it was really a magnificent offer.

A gentleman of 65 married a lady of 80, who incidentally possessed $420,000. In the first flush of her romance she made a will in his favor. But a few brief years later he sued the lady for separate maintenance. A biased court decided against him. Then the lady changed her will. Now the gentleman is suing to have this last will invalidated, to prohibit her from making any other wills, to make that first romantic will stand.

His plea is that she is now mentally unbalanced, incompetent, etc. But, of course, when she married him and radiantly made that first will, she was healthy, intelligent, and in her right mind. Of course.

It just shows what a few brief years of matrimony can do for a woman.

SOCIETY.

BY VIRGINIA WOODS.

At Smart Dinner-Dance.

Edwin R. Campbell of Orange Grove avenue, Pasadena, was a genial host last evening at a smart dinner-dance at the Midwick Country Club. It marked one of the most handsomely appointed functions of the winter. There were 100 guests from Los Angeles and Pasadena. Tables were adorned with gay masses of early spring flowers.

Gives Picnic Party.

Mrs. West Hughes is hostess today at a picnic party and buffet luncheon at La Canada, arranged as a courtesy to Mrs. William H. Spoors and Miss Flora Mathews of Scranton, Pa., who are visiting their sister, Mrs. George P. Griffith, and for Mrs. Edward Sargent of Cincinnati, a girlhood friend of Mrs. Hughes. There are a dozen guests.

Mrs. Hicks Goes North.

Mrs. Frank Hicks left last evening for San Francisco, where she will join her young daughter, Miss Alice Hicks, who is in school at Menlo Park. They will return here for the Easter vacation.

Gives Dinner-Dance.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Jewett Schweppe were hosts last evening at a dinner-dancing party at Cocoanut Grove.

Mr. Salisbury is Host.

Alfred Salisbury, Jr., was host at a charmingly-arranged dinner party at the Beverly Hills Hotel, his twenty guests being the same whom Mr. and Mrs. J. Benton Van Nuys entertained at a house party that was snowbound nearly two weeks at Arrowhead Lake last month. One of the features of the evening's entertainment was the showing of a film taken of the snowbound party.

Mr. and Mrs. McAdoo are Hosts.

Mr. and Mrs. William Gibbs McAdoo were hosts at a delightful dinner and concert party at the Hotel Huntington at which their guests were Sir Daniel and Lady McMillain, Messrs. and Mmes. David May, J. M. Welter, E. W. Smith, Charles S. Boyton, Mrs. David Hyman, Mrs. E. S. Pike, and Mrs. S. L. Prentice.

Mr. and Mrs. Tower Entertain.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlemagne Tower of Philadelphia, who are spending the winter at Coronado, gave a delightful luncheon there on Saturday to compliment a group of friends who have so lavishly entertained them. They are the parents of Roderick Tower of this city, who married Miss Flora Payne Whitney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney of New York.

In Del Monte.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Schoder are enjoying an outing at Del Monte.

Mrs. Clark to Entertain.

In honor of Mrs. Cosmo Morgan, Mrs. Joseph Kitchcart Clark is to entertain at luncheon tomorrow. Mr. and Mrs. Morgan are to leave for the East on April 8, and a little later will sail for an extended European trip. In the meantime many functions are planned for them.

To Marry in Pasadena.

Miss Louise Thomas, who resides with her sister, Mrs. Peter McNaughton of 301 South Kingsley Drive, is to be married tomorrow morning to O. E. Darnall of San Diego. The ceremony will take place at 11 o'clock in the sun room at the Vista del Arroyo Hotel in Pasadena. The bride will wear a cream filet lace frock over charmeuse with which she will wear a big hat of orchid colored braid, and a corsage bouquet of orchid and white sweet peas and English violets. Breakfast will be served in the patio afterwards.

For Mr. and Mrs. Boggs.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell H. Boggs of Pittsburg, Pa., were honor guests at an elaborate dinner party given last evening by Mr. and Mrs. Francis E. Bacon at the Athletic Club. A bridge of yellow flowers extending the entire length of the table made a charming floral decoration. There were plates for Messrs. and Mmes. W. F. Young, W. J. Toomey, C. E. Foster, A. Scott, E. R. Kruse, Maj. and Mrs. J. B. Chaffey, Dr. and Mrs. C. R. Luton, Louis Barrere and James Foster.

Mrs. Price is Hostess.

Mrs. E. V. Price of Chicago, who spends her winters in Los Angeles, was hostess at a delightful bridge and dinner party at the Ambassador. The card tables were set in the palm room, while dinner was served in Cocoanut Grove. In the company were Mmes. W. I. Hollingsworth, Erasmus Wilson, Hugh W. Harrison, Oscar Souden, J. T. Fitzgerald, Harvey L. Deardorff, E. B. Carr, C. H. Moss, Alfred Salisbury, Vercoe, J. H. Miles, S. M. Goddard and O. H. Churchill. Pink roses adorned the dinner table.

For Bride-Elect.

Mrs. Jame Jordan entertained at a very enjoyable luncheon at the home of her mother, Mrs. Beecher McMahon of South Van Ness avenue, the affair being in honor of Miss Margaret Jensen of Spokane, Wash., whose engagement to Dr. Reiba Smith was recently announced. After luncheon there was a miscellaneous shower. Among the guests were Misses Marie Nichols, Jean Porter, Edith King, Marjorie Culver, Dorothy Schoenan, Mmes. Richard Oakley, Cameron Smith, James McMaster, Robert Davis, Blair McMahon and William Brunnaugh.

On Saturday next Misses Marjorie and Dorothy Schoenan of South Norton avenue are to give a bridge luncheon for the bride-elect, when they are to have a company of sixteen. Mrs. Richard Oakley gave a bridge luncheon in her honor last week at the Los Angeles Country Club, last Friday.

Yacht Held Liquor Fortune.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

FAYVILLE (N. Y.) March 28. The steam yacht Edith, said to be owned by Antonio Cassesex, tobacco importer, was raided off the the coast late last night and liquor valued at $200,000 seized by Sheriff Smith. She had been to the Bahamas.

HORSE THEFT CHARGED

Mexican Held to Answer in Asserted Larceny from Japanese.

Gonomes Martinez reverted to the early days before automobile stealing became so unpopular, according to testimony adduced against him yesterday in Justice Follette's court by Dep. Dist.-Atty. McDaniel. Martinez is accused of stealing a horse from Tom Tauro, a Japanese farmer near Cudahy. Because the defendant only understands Spanish and the complaining witness only Japanese, two interpreters had to be in court.

The defendant denied stealing the horse, but was held to answer for grand larceny.

Fashion Forecast

By Annabel Worthington

No more attractive and practical school dress could be made than this. The belt coming from the sides gives a panel appearance in the front and the contrasting material running down the front from the collar gives the effect of a tie. The style could be very attractively made in plain gingham with checked gingham as contrasting material or in serge with checked silk contrasting material for the collar and cuffs and vest. The pattern cuts in sizes 6, 8, 10 12 and 14 years; size 8 requires 2¼ yards of 36-inch plain material with ½ yard of 32-inch contrasting or checked material.

Variety Forfeits.

In a former article of this series several forms of forfeits were described. Forfeits, it is understood, may constitute a game in themselves, but the more general usage is to impose them as penalties for lapses in other games. Here are some additional forfeits which will be found amusing:

Blind Civility—Two players are blindfolded and led to diagonally opposite corners of the room, then are told to advance toward each other and shake hands. Their attempts to follow instructions will be found very laughable. Orator Puff—In this forfeit, the player is required to make a speech on any subject designated by the leader. The speech must be extravagant in its emphasis and gestures. Palindromes: The player is ordered to spell as many words as he can remember which read alike backward and forward, such as gig, madam, toot, Anna, noon, bib, Eve, did, etc.

Blarney—A player is ordered to make the round of the room and pay a compliment to each player in turn. Camel to the Soudan—The leader announces that the Camel is going to the Soudan, and asks everyone present to send something with him. Then the Camel (the forfeit payer) must go from player to player, each of whom adds a pillow, a book, a picture, etc., to the load. Walking Spanish—The forfeit player is given a cane or an umbrella which he stands upright on the floor, placing both hands on top of it, and resting his head on his hands. In this position he must whirl around three times, and then stand up suddenly and try to walk straight back to his seat—a most amusing performance.

After-Dinner Tricks

No. 144—Hypnotizing an Apple.

An apple, strung on a cord, slides freely down the string held vertically. When commanded the apple will stop suddenly at any point on the string.

The secret lies in the method of piercing the apple, which is previously prepared. The hole does not go straight through, but at an angle, as shown in the diagram. By rolling two small bits of cardboard into tubes and inserting them in the passages, the cord will be kept more securely in its course.

The string is held with a hand at each end. To stop the apple at any point, simply pull the ends of the cord taut, and the tightening string will do the trick. By relaxing pressure, the apple will resume its slide.

WILL EXHIBIT BABIES.

Proud Mothers to Vie for Honors in Merchants' Exposition.

A baby show, a fashion and style review and good music all will be a part of the Merchants' Exposition and Business Show to be given by the dealers of the southwest part of the city April 8 to 15 at Moneta and Santa Barbara avenues. The tent in which the exposition will be held will be open every day and evening, except Sunday.

The affair, which will be the largest of its kind ever held in the southwestern part of the city, will give the merchants of the section an opportunity to meet the public living in the neighborhood where they do business and allow them to boost the "Buy in your own district" movement.

T. A. Carlton will have charge of the exposition.

"TIMES" RADIO CALL KHJ.

Station Assigned Station Soon to Be Operating; Praise for Purpose Comes in Shoales of Missives.

KHJ are the call letters of The Times radio station now being built to completion on the roof of The Times Building. Announcement of the opening date will be made as soon as possible.

The Times was the first newspaper in Southern California to apply for the establishment of a commercial radio station; the first to undertake the broadcasting of music and entertainment, and the first to organize a radio club.

Letters of congratulation and favorable comment regarding the public response of The Times to the nation-wide interest in radio are in every mail and the number of applications received yesterday for membership in The Times Radio Club required the attention of another assistant in the radio department to handle the acknowledgements. Numerous inquiries also poured in and will be answered promptly.

ARRANGING PROGRAM.

Musical quartets, vocal and instrumental soloists and other artists are anxious to participate in the radio program of entertainment to be broadcast by The Times, and, if I can't be in on the first program, call me as soon as possible," was the appeal of the musical artists, who perhaps more than anyone appreciate the wonderful adaptation of radio, whereby the human voice may be carried into space.

The license for The Times radio station, call letters KHJ, was granted by the Secretary of Commerce, the 17th inst.

OPERATION PLANS.

C. R. Kierulff & Co. of this city are to supervise the station with Dean Farran the operator in charge. The wave length of the receiving system is to be 175 meters to 750 meters and the normal sending and receiving wave length 600 meters. The station also is licensed to use additional wave lengths of 300 to 360 meters and the latter is the wave length which will be used for broadcasting latest news, music and other forms of entertainment by the radio telephone.

The type of aerial is an inverted L cage, 130 feet above ground, sixty feet in horizontal measurement and constructed of six wires, size and kind, 7-16 P.B.

Members of The Times Radio Club are urged to keep a complete file of the daily Radio News column of The Times, as it will be the aim of this department to give as complete history as possible of the establishment and development of The Times Radio Station.

CO-OPERATION ASSURED.

The Times Radio Club is organized primarily to boost the radio game in Southern California. It will be the purpose of the club to co-operate in fullest measure with the Southern California Radio Association, which is recognized as one of the leading radio organizations of the United States. This association is responsible for the "Pacific plan" which has made possible the present smooth running methods of handling amateur radio telegraph traffic.

So successful has this Pacific plan been, that it was unanimously decided by representatives of the various broadcasting stations of Los Angeles and vicinity at a recent meeting to place the arrangement of schedules and programs under the supervision of the Southern California Radio Association. It is believed that this decision of the broadcasters will work for the best mutual benefit.

SUSPECT ARRESTED.

Benny Stone, pickpocket suspect, was lounging idly in the Citizens' National Bank, Fifth and Spring streets, yesterday. After observing him for a few minutes Detective Sergeants Hickok, Lucas, James and Trainor, concluded that he was acting as "lookout" for a "mob of dips," and took him to Central Station. The officers request that any persons who may have had their pockets picked in the vicinity of the bank communicate with them.

Wife Says He Would Pinch Other Women

To Rex Nute Roberts marriage was all right except when his wife objected to his injecting a little variety into life, according to a suit for divorce begun yesterday by Hazel Jane Smith Roberts. Mr. Roberts, the complaint states, thought a great deal of his wife and would give her little love pinches now and then to prove it, but he also bestowed the pinches and caresses on others, it is charged.

According to Mrs Roberts's suit, her husband had a faculty of paying attention to other women. When friends called and at their housewarming soon after their marriage, she found him attempting to caress the guests.

The complaint states that the couple were married on Mt. Lowe, August 17, last, and separated in December.

Sentenced Under Drug Law.

Jorgelias Basoco was sentenced to six months' imprisonment yesterday afternoon by Police Judge Richardson on a charge of selling morphine. The narcotic peddler was arrested by State Pharmacy Inspector Boden and Detective Sergeant Tom O'Brien at North Spring and Franklin streets. Measures will be taken to deport him after he serves his sentence, authorities said.

Kellogg's Bran is nature's own relief from constipation!

Must not take chances with constipation when statistics tell you nine-tenths of all sickness can be traced to it! You must get permanent relief; you must drive constipation out of your system!

Use that pills and cathartics, at best can only afford temporary relief while they are irritating to the delicate intestinal tract.

Compare the action of these harsh cathartics with the natural wholesome effect of Kellogg's toasted and krumbled. Science has found no such wonderful sweeper, cleanser and purifier of the bowels as Kellogg's Bran, yet it is simply delicious. Bran's effect is certain and permanent if at least two tablespoonfuls are eaten daily. Chronic cases should eat as much more as is necessary for results. Taken consistently, Kellogg's Bran will drive constipation from the system. Your physician will indorse the use of Kellogg's Bran for constipation!

Eat Kellogg's Bran either as a delicious and nutritious cereal, or sprinkle it over your favorite cereal. Eat it in many other foods which are made more appetizing by its nut-like flavor! Kellogg's Bran pancakes are the best you ever tasted! Use it in raisin bread or muffins, gravies, macaroons pancakes, etc. (Recipes on package.)

The big thing is to get Kellogg's Bran into your system quickly! Get it at your grocer's.

P. S.—Pimples are caused by constipation. Kellogg's Bran will clear them up and also free your breath from intestinal odors.—[Advertisement.]

THE TIRE COMPETITION OF TOMORROW

THERE has been more advance in the art of tire making in the past five years than in almost any other one thing.

That so many of these advances originated with the makers of U. S. Tires is perhaps aside from the point.

The concern of the car-owner himself is how he is going to benefit.

If tire manufacturers make no attempt to outrival each other in quality, where does the tire user get his consideration?

The makers of United States Tires urge upon everybody—manufacturer and dealer alike—a new kind of competition.

Let us compete for more and more public confidence.

Let us compete for higher and higher quality.

Let us compete for still more dependable public service.

This has been the developed U. S. Policy over a period of many years.

Today at present prices U. S. Tires are the biggest money's worth any motorist ever rode upon.

For the production of United States Tires there is erected and operating the greatest group of tire factories in the world.

A leadership that has recorded itself with the public. The outstanding example of what faithful quality and sound economy can do when it is patient enough to prove itself to a whole nation.

Emma Goldman's Regrets Are Told by Traveler.

American Communist Cured by Visit to Slavs.

Emma Goldman, the anarchist who was deported with 200 other "undesirables" by the Federal government, and who is now in Russia, declares that she "would rather be in prison in America than free in Russia," according to M. Alexander Schwartz, who spoke yesterday at the noon luncheon of the City Club on "Russia from the Inside."

Mr. Schwartz said that he went with his wife to Russia as a Socialist, enthusiastic over the governmental experiment there, but after studying at first hand the actual workings of the Bolshevist regime, he has returned to this country, thoroughly cured of any belief in the soundness of the Communist rule. Mr. Schwartz said, in part:

"When I landed in Russia, the first person I wanted to talk to was Emma Goldman. I wanted to find out from her what she thought of soviet Russia. I found her cooking soup. It looked good and I said so. 'Oh,' said Emma, 'that's not soviet soup. That's American soup. I brought over a few cans with me.'

TELLS OF MISERY.

"And then she told me of the miseries of life there, and said she would rather be in prison in the United States than free in Russia."

"What I saw in Russia has made a 100 per cent American out of me," Mr. Schwartz continued. "For speaking frankly of the terrible conditions I saw in Russia, my wife and I were thrown into prison, and my wife died as the result of her experiences, and lies buried there.

"My advise to the nations of the world is to stay out of Russia, and let that country work out its own salvation.

"There is no free speech, free assembly, free discussion, free press or religious liberty in Russia today. The Communist party in Russia is dead, and Lenin is simply trying to save his own soul now by opening the doors a little and permitting barter and exchange, because the people demanded it.

GET FREE BREAD.

"The 500,000 Communists in Russia are retaining their hold on the government, simply because they receive bread from th government, while the 132,000,000 other Russians suffer. If the leading nations of the world should attempt to interfere in Russia, Lenin and Trotzky and the other Communists would raise the cry that the capitalists are trying to crush Russia, and this would arouse the present indifferent mass to Russia's defense, so I say to the nations of the world, stay out of Russia.

"There is no government, no law, no order, the streets in the cities are in a total state of disrepair, and on every side is dissolution and decay. I traveled all over Russia, and I was unable to find a single person who would say a good word for the Communist government. An American one-cent piece is worth 2000 Russian rubles, so you can see what Russian money is worth.

"I know there is propaganda going on here in the United States in favor of soviet Russia. When a man begins to talk against our government, and the glories of Free Russia, I would not imprison him, but I would send him to Russia. In six months he would be back in the United States and would be, I guarantee, a 100 per cent American."

SALT LAKE MINISTER TALKS HERE

Work as Developer of Man's Spiritual Nature Given Emphasis.

The value of work in the development of man's spiritual nature was emphasized at the noon Lenten service at the Morosco Theater yesterday in a sermon by Rev. Mark Rifenbark, rector of St. Paul's Church of Salt Lake City. The speaker illustrated his argument by pointing to the poverty and weakness of those nations which make a fetish of meditation.

"The Sermon on the Mount was the most radical, the most revolutionary sermon ever preached," said Mr. Rifenbark. "In that sermon is this sentence: 'Ye are the salt of the earth, but if the salt has lost its savor wherewith shall it be salted? It is henceforth good for nothing but to be cast out and trodden under the feet of men.' Jesus was speaking to His followers then, and He speaks the same words to his disciples today.

"Christianity has always led the way to higher conceptions of truth, to the further emancipation of society, but all too often the salt of the earth, represented by the church of Christ, has lost its savor, has become complacent, has relied too much on its reputation, its history and its professions of religion and not enough on practical hard work," said Mr. Rifenbark.

"Let us remember that our Lord selected His disciples from among men who were already at work, not from a throng of idlers. The entire ministry of Jesus was spent in work for the world He loved, barring, if you will, those few hours that He took for prayer in order to gain strength for greater endeavors. We shall never reach a high state of spiritual consciousness merely through idle musings and meditations. The test of our religion is, Are we doing the will of God in service to our fellowmen?"

CARELESSNESS IS CHIEF CAUSE.

Six Hundred and Sixty-one Accidents in Week.

One Hundred and Five Persons Injured.

Auto Club Gives Table of Traffic Crashes.

Forty-seven per cent of the 661 automobile accidents which occurred during the week ended last Sunday were due to carelessness or inefficiency of the drivers of the cars, according to the statistics compiled by the Auto Club of Southern California. Seventeen per cent were the result of violations of the right of way; 16 per cent, due to incompetent handling of the vehicles by their drivers; 14 per cent, the result of failure to signal.

For the three months' period, dating back to January 1, accidents totaling 8111 were reported, breaking all previous records for this length of time. Fifty-one persons were killed in traffic in the city within three months, and twenty-three were killed in outlying county districts. These accidents involved 16,118 persons, of which number 1511 were injured. The daily average of traffic accidents totaled ninety-five; the average number of persons involved, 187 daily.

One hundred and five persons were injured in traffic mishaps during the last week. The manner in which injuries were received follows:

Backing, one; children playing in street, six; confused by traffic, six; crossing street between crosswalks, eight; cutting corners, four; defective breaks, three; driving on wrong side of street, four; cutting in ahead, three; failure to signal, six; fell in front of vehicle, one; incompetent handling of vehicle, eleven; intoxicated, seven; pedestrian not looking where going, twenty-five; passing standing street car, one; right of way violated, eleven; speeding, three; vehicle skidded, five.

Seventy-eight per cent of the accidents occurred in residential districts; 12 per cent in congested areas; 10 per cent in the business district. One hundred and ninety-two males were involved in 92 per cent of the accidents; eighteen females, in 8 per cent.

Continuing, the Auto Club report states:

"Plans for cutting down this alarming total are now being shaped by the Auto Club in cooperation with the Los Angeles Safety Council and the City Engineer's office.

"Particular attention is being paid to the residence sections of the city, where by far the greatest number of serious accidents are reported. Motorists are more careless in the residence districts than downtown, where the police are detailed to regulate traffic, it is stated.

"Two of the leading causes of auto smash-ups here are incompetent handling of vehicles and violation of the right of way. The latter is the most prolific. 'It is better to be safe than sorry' at street intersections, point out safety bureau officials, when it comes to a question of who has the right of way in crossing from corner to corner.

"It is expected that the new 'magic circle' form of traffic regulation, in which a circle forty feet in diameter is substituted for the trffic button at corners where traffic is unusually heavy, will go far toward cutting down the number of accidents outside of the congested district."

FORGOT NEIGHBORS, BLINDS.

When Louis E. Tower brought a woman to his house during the absence of his wife, Anna Tower, as she declared in Judge McLucas's court yesterday, he overlooked two important matters —the neighbors and a window shade.

Because he forgot to pull down the shade, the neighbors could see into the room, where, they declared, they observed Mr. Tower and a strange woman.

It was their loyalty to Mrs. Tower that induced them to wait and watch; it was their modesty that compelled them to withdraw, it seems, so that the court only glimpsed through them a part of the drama. The court did want to know the woman's name, but they did not know, but they surmised she must have come from a beach city, where he worked.

Youth apparently did not enter into the drama for the Towers have been married many years. Mrs. Tower was granted a divorce.

JUDGE ADVISES SEWAGE REMEDY

PRESENT CONDITIONS.

Of the present conditions, due to the enormous and phenomenally rapid increase in population and new dwellings in the city, the court says:

"The evidence does show, however, that the city's sewer mains and laterals collect and bring together a quantity of sewage which, at the peak, attains a flow which is 10,000,000 gallons in excess of the capacity of the outfall sewer. For a time the sewage, during the peak of the flow, backed up in the mains and laterals during the day time and flowed away during the night when the sewer usage diminishes. However, this reservoir capacity in the mans and laterals has become exhausted and at the present tme is insufficient to hold the flow by approximately 1,300,000 gallons in twenty-four hours. This means that if the present flow of sewage continues without increase, 1,300,000 gallons of sewage per day must find discharge outside the city's outfall sewer. In the fall of 1921 this sewage found its way through the manholes in the southwestern part of the city, at times flooding the streets above the capacity of the gutters, creating an intolerable condition for several thousand people living in that portion of the city, and the menacing the health of the entire community.

The city is given sixty days to adopt remedial measures to prevent the sewage from being turned into Ballona Creek, and the injunction will not take effect until after this two months' time limit has elapsed.

cases, submitted by Mr. Rowell to Prof. Leslie were substantially as follows:

Is it feasible for a 3 per cent loan company to write 1000 contracts, no more or less?

Is it feasible for a 3 per cent company to write 10,000 contracts a month for an indefinite period?

How many loans must be written to enable contract holders to obtain loans within twenty-four months.

An unfavorable report was given to the first and second questions, and on the third Prof. Leslie reported that 714 contracts would be required to meet each 100 loans and following the figures out to their final analysis, 500,000,000 contracts must be written to protect all contract holders.

Check for Auto Made Good and Girl is Freed.

Attractive Pearl Wolf, 22 years of age, member of a prominent San Francisco family, was released from the City Jail yesterday and a charge of grand larceny was withdrawn when a check she had given in payment for an automobile was made good by relatives.

The girl was arrested several days ago in a downtown hotel by Detective Sergts. Shy and Cline on advices from the Bay City that a check she had given for an automobile had been returned marked insufficient funds. According to the officers, her uncle is Gus Wolf, San Francisco financier, and her stepfather is Dr. Clyde C. Baker, prominent physician. According to Miss Wolf, she thought she had sufficient money in the bank to cover the check. She drove the automobile to Los Angeles.

TO SUCCEED ENVOY.

Matsui Will Take Shidehara's Place at Capital, Say Japanese.

Keishiro Matsui, at present Japanese Ambassador accredited to France, is the most likely candidate for the position of Japanese representative at Washington to succeed Baron Shidehara, who is leaving on account of ill health, according to word received in Los Angeles yesterday by local Japanese. Baron Shidehara soon will leave the United States for Japan, where he will submit to an operation. It is stated in Japan, according to information received here yesterday, that he will retire from public life and that the Ambassador to France will succeed him. Baron Hayashi, Japanese Ambassador to London, will represent his country at the Genoa conference, the report stated.

NAMED REFEREE.

Mrs. Mab Copeland Lineman.

WOMAN TO HEAR FIGHT OVER BABY

Appointment Establishes Precedent in Procedure Here.

A bitter legal fight over the custody of the 2-year-old daughter of David Milton Payne and Marie W. Payne will be threshed out before Mrs. Mab Copeland Lineman, an attorney who was appointed referee by Judge Summerfield yesterday. The court named April 17, in the offices of Mrs. Lineman, 215 Ferguson Building, as the date of the hearing. The appointment of Mrs. Lineman, as referee in a divorce suit establishes a precedent, she being the first woman lawyer so appointed.

Mr. Payne, in his suit for divorce, charges his wife with mental cruelty. He says she would leave her home, refusing to tell him where she was going. A more serious charge is her purported infatuation for another man. She denies these charges and declares that from their marriage day, he knocked her down and beat her. He tried subsequently to smother their babe with a pillow; drove her out of the house and blackened her eye, she asserts further.

She also says her husband took the babe away from the home of her mother and took her to the home of his brother. He denies her charges. Attorney Ray Nimmo represents Mrs. Payne. Attorney James Roche is counsel for Mr. Payne. Judge Summerfield will try the divorce proceedings proper.

Mrs. Lineman was born in Scotland, where she was graduated from the Aberdeen University. She is president of the Woman's Lawyer Club; a director of the Woman's Republican Study Club, and a member of the City Club.

FINDS BUSINESS MUCH IMPROVED

sections of the country," said the speaker.

"As a native son of California, I rejoice with the Southland in the immunity from depression which she has enjoyed, but I am also glad to note that throughout the country the worst is over. Commodity prices have been restored to a very favorable level, the advance in prices applying to live stock and agricultural products, generally. We have marched a long way back toward normalcy, in a brief period.

PROFITS RESTORED.

"The purchasing power of the farmer and live-stock man last fall was perhaps lower than ever before in history, while today a large proportion of agricultural production has been restored to a healthful, profitable condition. Interest rates are falling both in the East and the West, and credit is becoming plentiful for proper needs.

"The business of the corporation has been the financing of banks, of co-operative organizations and of the farmers," said Mr. Meyer. "The applications for loans on the part of banking institutions are on the decline and the co-operative marketing organizations are being financed to no little extent by the banks, officials of which have begun to show greater confidence in the power and willingness of the business world to effect a more normal, wholesome condition.

"The era of inflation passed long ago, the day of deflation is over and I believe we are now in the period of reconstruction."

Mr. Meyer said that throughout the Southwestern and Middlewestern States Southern California is setting the standard for quantity and quality of agricultural products.

POWER OF ATTORNEY DECLARED NECESSARY

Internal Revenue Collector Goodcell was informed from Washington yesterday that attorneys appearing before the U. S. Treasury Department on business connected with the refund of taxes of any character, must have a power of attorney from their clients to insure their good standing.
